U.S. Billet In Downtown Saigon Attacked; 13 Die

Saigon (AP)—Viet Cong terrorists, breaking a pre-Christmas lull, attacked and blasted a U.S. enlisted men's billet with machine guns, grenades and an explosives-laden market truck before dawn Saturday in downtown Siagon.

Estimates of Vietnamese casualties ranged up to 100, including eight dead.

A U.S. military spokesman said two Americans were killed and 67 wounded. A New Zealand artilleryman was killed and four of his mates were wounded.

A series of bomb scares swept over the city after the big blast at the Metropole Hotel billet.

As bad as the attack was, the Viet Cong had planned it to be far worse. A Claymore mine was planted in the street with a time-fuse set to go off when the inevitable crowd would gather at the scene. It failed to go off as scheduled to follow the attack.

A terrorist bomb believed to have been a concussion hand grenade exploded near the top floor of a three-story officers' dormitory about two blocks from the Metropole but no one was injured there.

An officer said that explosion followed the big one by about five minutes. It broke windows and damaged a wall.

A police source said a grenade was thrown at the international officer's billet near a large American headquarters complex about two miles from the Metropole blast, but it did not explode.

Encounter MP

The attackers first confronted a U.S. military policeman stationed at the Metropole billet across the street from a Navy hospital.

The MP was wounded as he emptied his revolver and shotgun at the attackers. He was able to take refuge behind a barricade in front of the billet as he shot it out with the machine-gunning communists.

Windows Broken

Windows in the Navy hospital were broken by the explosion and five patients were slightly injured by flying glass.

Also damaged was the Navy dispensary in the billet building, and one source said it might be five or six weeks before it and its delicate X-ray and other equipment would be fully operating again.

Nearly all windows in the billet and vicinity were shattered.

No personnel were in the dispensary when the blast went off.

Most of the U.S. and New Zealand casualties were hit by flying glass.

A spokesman said, "Fortunately, all of the boys were in their beds at the time, and not moving around. That meant they got a minimum of hits."

It also seemed likely, however, that many GIs hit the floor when the machine-gun fire erupted in the streets below, since this was a clear signal that another bomb attack on an American installation was under way.

12 Children

Innocent Vietnamese civilians suffered the worst casualties. This is often the case. Police said at least 12 of the wounded were children.

Across the street from the billet Vietnamese buses were loading for the day's runs into the provinces when the bomb shattered the soft predawn darkness.

The touring U.S. Senate majority leader, Mike Mansfield, D-Mont., and U.S. Ambassador Henry Cabot Lodge visited the scene soon after dawn. Both were stern-faced as they listened to a hurried briefing. Neither commented. Mansfield was in Viet Nam on a fact-finding mission.

U.S. MPs forcibly barred American and other personnal who tried to enter the blast area, pointing out other explosives had been planted there.

Klansmen Get 10 Years For Criminal Conspiracy

Montgomery, Ala. (AP) — A white jury convicted three Ku Klux Klansmen Friday of criminal conspiracy in the slaying of a civil rights worker and a federal judge sentenced them to 10 years in prison.

President Johnson was quoted as saying "the whole nation can take heart" from the convictions. Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. said they were "rays of light and hope which penetrate the darkness which hovers over a long line of unpunished convictions."

However, King said he believes federal legislation is still needed to insure equal protection of the law to Negroes and civil rights workers.

Hailed

The convictions also were hailed as steps toward full implementation of justice by Atty. Gen. Nicholas Katzenbach, Alabama Atty. Gen. Richmond Flowers, officials of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People and the Congress of Racial Equality, and the husband of the slain civil rights worker.

"In my opinion," District Judge Frank M. Johnson Jr. told the jury, "that was the only verdict you could reach in this case and reach a fair and proper verdict."

A short time later, Johnson imposed the 10-year sentences—the maximum prison terms—upon the three stunned defendants: Collie Leroy Wilkins Jr., 22, of Fairfield, Ala., and Eugene Thomas, 42, and William Orville Eaton, 41, both of Bessemer.

Murder Acquittal

Wilkins, a stocky and crew-cut former mechanic, had been acquitted earlier by a state court jury of murder in the March 25 slaying of Viola Gregg Liuzzo of Detroit.

The three Klansmen were convicted under an 1877 statute of conspiring to violate the civil rights of Mrs. Liuzzo and other participants in a Selma-to-Montgomery march climaxing a violence-marked Negro voting rights drive.

Their attorney, former Birmingham Mayor Arthur J. Hanes, said the verdicts will be appealed.

Appeal bonds of $10,000 each were set by the judge and the Klansmen were led away by a federal marshal to begin serving their sentences. They will be eligible for parole after serving one-third of the 10 years.

Second In 2 Days

It was the second guilty verdict in two days by white juries in trials growing out of Alabama racial incidents. A jury at Anniston convicted a white man of murder Thursday in the slaying of a Negro and set the penalty at 10 years in prison.

The prosecutor, Assistant Atty. Gen. John Doar, said, "The jury did its duty."

Hanes, who had successfully defended Wilkins in his second murder trial, obviously was shaken and surprised at the verdicts.

No Mistaking 'I Love You'

Their voices were a little flat and their syllables were slightly jumbled.

But the words were unmistakable.

"I love you, mother. I love you, father," intoned the three young students from the Nebraska State School for the Deaf as they read from the chart.

Their audience, attending the Rehabilitation Association of Nebraska Fall Conference in Lincoln, listened intently, some with the aid of an interpreter using sign-language, as the students' teacher, Mrs. W. P. Henderson of Omaha, continued the demonstration lesson.

The demonstration, under the direction of officials of the state school, was designed to acquaint rehabilitation workers with some of the problems they will encounter working with deaf children.

One striking difference pointed out by Mrs. Henderson and Milford Cress, primary principal of the state school, is the importance of how much "just a little" hearing aids the deaf child.

For example, Jill Sorensen, Wahoo, one of the three students who gave the demonstration, has a little "God-given" hearing."

"The words and sounds come easier for her because she has a starting point, something to compare with, Cress said.

Hearing Aids

Betty Taylor, Omaha, and Leslie Bridges, Norman, the other two students, are completely deaf. They rely on what they have been taught in primary class by Mrs. Henderson, on lip-reading, and on hearing aids designed for them.

But they're learning, asserts George H. Thompson, superintendent of the state school, which was founded in 1869.

"One thing we must never forget is that their chief problem is communication. It is not too uncommon for a new student to enter school with a vocabulary of five words," Thompson said.

That compares with the usual 5,000-word vocabulary of a kindergarten child who has no hearing defect, he said.

They learn by association, by pictures and by patient tutoring, he said.

Perhaps the most important asset in the deaf child's learning arsenal is his eagerness, Cress said. "In many ways, the deaf child has been cut off from the world. He's anxious to return to that world and he works very hard at doing so."

Judge Sets March 3rd As Date Of Execution

. . . COURTROOM TENSE AS JURY RETURNS VERDICT

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

After nearly fourteen hours of deliberation, a Federal Court jury late Friday afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against bank robber-killer Duane Earl Pope and recommended the death penalty.

In a tense, quiet and packed courtroom Judge Robert Van Pelt ordered the sentence imposed in the electric chair at the Nebraska Penal Complex on March 3, 1966, 90 days after the conclusion of the five-week trial.

Pope, as throughout the trial, sat granite-still and showed no trace of emotion as the verdict was read. His mother wept, his father held his face in his hand.

Pope is the first person sentenced to die in Nebraska since mass murderer Charles Starkweather was convicted in 1958 and electrocuted.

Six Charges

The Kansas farm youth was convicted on six federal charges in connection with the deliberate shooting of four employes, killing three, during the robbery of the Farmers State Bank in Big Springs June 4, a crime he had admitted to since his surrender in Kansas City, Mo., June 11.

Judge Van Pelt finished reading the verdict at 4:48 p.m., then directed the defendant and his attorneys, Robert Crosby and Wallace Rudolph, to come before the bench.

"The sentence will be imposed without unreasonable delay," the white-haired judge told Pope, and then asked if there was any reason it should not be imposed. Pope shook his head from side to side.

"Do you agree that there is nothing further to be said regarding the nature of the punishment?" Van Pelt asked. "Yes sir," Pope replied in a barely audible voice.

Judge Van Pelt then assessed the maximum penalty provided for each of the counts. For counts four, five and six, the capital offenses, the judge used wording from the Nebraska statutes.

Even Voice

Looking at the defendant beneath him, he intoned in an even voice, "The penalty of death will be inflicted upon you by causing to be passed through your body, Duane Earl Pope, a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death, and the application of such current shall be continued until you, Duane Earl Pope, are dead."

The courtroom drama began to unfold at about 3:45 when a call came from the jury room. A milling crowd of newsmen and spectators sensed a verdict had been reached as opposing attorneys and other figures in the case gathered in Judge Van Pelt's chambers.

Pope was brought to the courtroom at 4:35 p.m. He was greeted with a thin smile by his attorneys, the jury and Judge Van Pelt entered minutes later.

"I understand the jury has reached a verdict, is that right Mr. Bowers?" Van Pelt inquired.

Jury foreman K. Don Bowers of Lincoln replied, "That is right, your honor." Seconds later Pope's fate was known.

The jury was handed the case late Wednesday afternoon, after a month-long attempt by defense attorneys to convince jurors that Pope was insane at the time of the robbery shootings. They said the shy young man suffered from an acute schizophrenic reaction which drove him compulsively to commit the bloody act of violence at Big Springs.

The government's case, presented by U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling and Assistant U.S. Atty Frederic Coufal, maintained that Pope plotted the holdup coldly and methodically while in complete control of his faculties. The jury agreed with the prosecution.

Defense Lawyers Vow To Continue Fighting

Terming Duane Pope's death penalty verdict a "serious miscarriage of justice," downcast defense attorneys for the convicted slayer immediately declared they would file a motion for a new trial and would appeal, if necessary, all the way to the Supreme Court.

"Professor (Wallace) Rudolph and I will keep right on fighting for Duane," former Gov. Robert Crosby emphasized.

Crosby, who said he was "tremendously shocked by the verdict," told reporters he didn't think Duane expected the outcome. Pope's "folks are very upset and very distressed," he added.

Rudolph echoed Crosby's sentiment: "I just don't believe it."

'American Justice'

Prosecuting attorney Theodore Richling indicated he was "very much surprised" at the verdict, but stressed repeatedly that "this is the American system of justice."

Richling described the verdict as just and praised the "exceptional high caliber" of the jury.

Meanwhile, a block from the U.S. Post Office and Courthouse where minutes earlier they had delivered their verdict, the jury of 10 men and two women moved quietly about the seventh floor of a downtown Lincoln motel.

They were visibly tired and appeared emotionally drained.

K. D. Bowers, foreman of the jury, appeared very tired when he asked reporters to step into his room for a brief conference.

Softly, with Effort

Another juror, Cecil Metzger of Lincoln, was also present. Both Metzger and Bowers spoke softly and with effort.

Contacted later Friday night, Bowers, said that more than 15 ballots were taken while the jury was out.

"The question of the man's sanity was the most crucial point we had to determine," Bowers said, emphasizing that Pope's mental capacity was most carefully scrutinized during discussions on count three of the federal charge, which involved the use of threat and intimidation with a deadly weapon while perpetrating a robbery.

The issue of Pope's sanity was settled after several ballots on count three, according to Bowers.

"The majority of opinion on those ballots was that he was sane," Bowers said, adding that only one ballot was necessary on each of the three capital offense counts.

The foreman said that the mountainous amount of testimony was weighed carefully by each juror—"the discussion was very good and very thorough."

Bowers, a Lincoln resident of five years and marketing manager of Dorsey Laboratories, said that members of the jury panel had agreed to speak publicly about their experience on an individual basis.

Disbelief

Earl J. Pope, Duane's father, said the family's reaction to the verdict was one of disbelief.

"We know he (Duane) has a very sick mind," said the ruddy-faced farmer. "We are hoping to have justice in the future."

Of his son's reaction to the verdict, the elder Pope admitted, "With his state of mind, I don't think he fully understands."

Mrs. Pope was described late Friday night by the Rev. Charles Wretling, family minister, as "taking it real hard, naturally, it really broke her up."

Rudolph commented after the trial that "Duane is sick enough not to feel about life and death like other people. I don't think that either in the courtroom or hearing the verdict he had a full realization both of what society is doing to him or the nature of his illness."

Discussing an appeal, Crosby pointed out that there are a number of good legal points to argue.

30 Days To Appeal

Defense attorneys have ten days in which to enter a motion for a new trial, 30 days in which to make notice of appeal.

The U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis, the first appeallate bench that would hear Pope's appeal, has a March session scheduied, the month Pope is scheduled to die.

Kjeldgaard: 'Death Penalty Is Justified'

Big Springs, Neb. (UPI) — The lone survivor of the June 4 Farmers State Bank mrder rampage Friday night termed the death sentence of the youthful bandit "the only verdict that could be returned."

Franklin Kjeldgaard, 26, who was released earlier Friday from St. Lukes Hospital in Denver, Colo., commented on the federal court decision against Duane Earl Pope.

Kjeldgaard, who is paralyzed from the waist down by wounds suffered in the bloody robbery said: "I am satisfied with the verdict. It is the American way of justice. It was the only verdict that could be returned under the circumstances.

"This was a real bad thing that happened. It was the type of crime that justified the death penalty. We have suffered a great loss out here and we are satified that justice has been done."

Kjeldgaard was one of four persons who Pope admittedly shot in the back and neck as they lay face down on the bank floor nearly six months ago. The others died.

Franklin, in his telephone interview with UPI, said he returned home Friday afternoon from the hospital in Denver where he has been since the robbery except for a brief appearance in Lincoln at Pope's trial.

Judge Sets March 3rd As Date Of Execution

. . . COURTROOM TENSE AS JURY RETURNS VERDICT

By BOB SCHREPF
Star Staff Writer

After nearly fourteen hours of deliberation, a Federal Court jury late Friday afternoon returned a verdict of guilty against bank robber-killer Duane Earl Pope and recommended the death penalty.

In a tense, quiet and packed courtroom Judge Robert Van Pelt ordered the sentence imposed in the electric chair at the Nebraska Penal Complex on March 3, 1966, 90 days after the conclusion of the five-week trial.

Pope, as throughout the trial, sat granite-still and showed no trace of emotion as the verdict was read. His mother wept, his father held his face in his hand.

Pope is the first person sentenced to die in Nebraska since mass murderer Charles Starkweather was convicted in 1958 and electrocuted.

Six Charges

The Kansas farm youth was convicted on six federal charges in connection with the deliberate shooting of four employes, killing three, during the robbery of the Farmers State Bank in Big Springs June 4, a crime he had admitted to since his surrender in Kansas City, Mo., June 11.

Judge Van Pelt finished reading the verdict at 4:48 p.m., then directed the defendant and his attorneys, Robert Crosby and Wallace Rudolph, to come before the bench.

"The sentence will be imposed without unreasonable delay," the white-haired judge told Pope, and then asked if there was any reason it should not be imposed. Pope shook his head from side to side.

"Do you agree that there is nothing further to be said regarding the nature of the punishment?" Van Pelt asked. "Yes sir," Pope replied in a barely audible voice.

Judge Van Pelt then assessed the maximum penalty provided for each of the counts. For counts four, five and six, the capital offenses, the judge used wording from the Nebraska statutes.

Even Voice

Looking at the defendant beneath him, he intoned in an even voice, "The penalty of death will be inflicted upon you by causing to be passed through your body, Duane Earl Pope, a current of electricity of sufficient intensity to cause death, and the application of such current shall be continued until you, Duane Earl Pope, are dead."

The courtroom drama began to unfold at about 3:45 when a call came from the jury room. A milling crowd of newsmen and spectators sensed a verdict had been reached as opposing attorneys and other figures in the case gathered in Judge Van Pelt's chambers.

Pope was brought to the courtroom at 4:35 p.m. He was greeted with a thin smile by his attorneys, the jury and Judge Van Pelt entered minutes later.

"I understand the jury has reached a verdict, is that right Mr. Bowers?" Van Pelt inquired.

Jury foreman K. Don Bowers of Lincoln replied, "That is right, your honor." Seconds later Pope's fate was known.

The jury was handed the case late Wednesday afternoon, after a month-long attempt by defense attorneys to convince jurors that Pope was insane at the time of the robbery shootings. They said the shy young man suffered from an acute schizophrenic reaction which drove him compulsively to commit the bloody act of violence at Big Springs.

The government's case, presented by U.S. Attorney Theodore Richling and Assistant U.S. Atty. Frederic Coufal, maintained that Pope plotted the holdup coldly and methodically while in complete control of his faculties. The jury agreed with the prosecution.

Defense Lawyers Vow To Continue Fighting

Terming Duane Pope's death penalty verdict a "serious miscarriage of justice," downcast defense attorneys for the convicted slayer immediately declared they would file a motion for a new trial and would appeal, if necessary, all the way to the Supreme Court.

"Professor (Wallace) Rudolph and I will keep right on fighting for Duane," former Gov. Robert Crosby emphasized.

Crosby, who said he was "tremendously shocked by the verdict," told reporters he didn't think Duane expected the outcome. Pope's "folks are very upset and very distressed," he added.

Rudolph echoed Crosby's sentiment: "I just don't believe it."

'American Justice'

Prosecuting attorney Theodore Richling indicated he was "very much surprised" at the verdict, but stressed repeatedly that "this is the American system of justice."

Richling described the verdict as just and praised the "exceptional high caliber" of the jury.

Meanwhile, a block from the U.S. Post Office and Courthouse where minutes earlier they had delivered their verdict, the jury of 10 men and two women moved quietly about the seventh floor of a downtown Lincoln motel.

They were visibly tired and appeared emotionally drained.

K. D. Bowers, foreman of the jury, appeared very tired when he asked reporters to step into his room for a brief conference.

Softly, with Effort

Another juror, Cecil Metzger of Lincoln, was also present. Both Metzger and Bowers spoke softly and with effort.

Contacted later Friday night, Bowers, said that more than 15 ballots were taken while the jury was out.

"The question of the man's sanity was the most crucial point we had to determine," Bowers said, emphasizing that Pope's mental capacity was most carefully scrutinized during discussions on count three of the federal charge, which involved the use of threat and intimidation with a deadly weapon while perpetrating a robbery.

The issue of Pope's sanity was settled after several ballots on count three, according to Bowers.

"The majority of opinion on those ballots was that he was sane," Bowers said, adding that only one ballot was necessary on each of the three capital offense counts.

The foreman said that the mountainous amount of testimony was weighed carefully by each juror—"the discussion was very good and very thorough."

Bowers, a Lincoln resident of five years and marketing manager of Dorsey Laboratories, said that members of the jury panel had agreed to speak publicly about their experience on an individual basis.

Disbelief

Earl J. Pope, Duane's father, said the family's reaction to the verdict was one of disbelief.

"We know he (Duane) has a very sick mind," said the ruddy-faced farmer. "We are hoping to have justice in the future."

Of his son's reaction to the verdict, the elder Pope admitted, "With his state of mind, I don't think he fully understands."

Mrs. Pope was described late Friday night by the Rev. Charles Wretling, family minister, as "taking it real hard, naturally, it really broke her up."

Rudolph commented after the trial that "Duane is sick enough not to feel about life and death like other people. I don't think that either in the courtroom or hearing the verdict he had a full realization both of what society is doing to him or the nature of his illness."

Discussing an appeal, Crosby pointed out that there are a number of good legal points to argue.

30 Days To Appeal

Defense attorneys have ten days in which to enter a motion for a new trial, 30 days in which to make notice of appeal.

The U.S. Court of Appeals in St. Louis, the first appeallate bench that would hear Pope's appeal, has a March session scheduled, the month Pope is scheduled to die.

Kjeldgaard: 'Death Penalty Is Justified'

Big Springs, Neb. (UPI) — The lone survivor of the June 4 Farmers State Bank mrder rampage Friday night termed the death sentence of the youthful bandit "the only verdict that could be returned."

Franklin Kjeldgaard, 26, who was released earlier Friday from St. Lukes Hospital in Denver, Colo., commented on the federal court decision against Duane Earl Pope.

Kjeldgaard, who is paralyzed from the waist down by wounds suffered in the bloody robbery said: "I am satisfied with the verdict. It is the American way of justice. It was the only verdict that could be returned under the circumstances.

"This was a real bad thing that happened. It was the type of crime that justified the death penalty. We have suffered a great loss out here and we are satified that justice has been done."

Kjeldgaard was one of four persons who Pope admittedly shot in the back and neck as they lay face down on the bank floor nearly six months ago. The others died.

Franklin, in his telephone interview with UPI, said he returned home Friday afternoon from the hospital in Denver where he has been since the robbery except for a brief appearance in Lincoln at Pope's trial.

U.S.: Soviet Tirade Outrageous

United Nations, N.Y. (AP) — The Soviet Union chilled peace talk about Viet Nam Friday with a bitter denunciation of U.S. policy that virtually ruled out any role for Moscow in setting up negotiations with Communist North Viet Nam.

The United States labeled the Soviet attack as outrageous, but restated its willingness to enter into unconditional negotiations at any time for a peaceful settlement.

A sharp U.S.-Soviet exchange over Viet Nam flared in the General Assembly's main political committee as British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart returned from an unsuccessful mission to Moscow in an effort to bring the Viet Nam crisis to the conference table.

Soviet delegate Nikolai T. Fedorenko told the committee that his country would continue to give military and political support to North Viet Nam.

He said that the Soviet Union also supported fully the conditions set down by Ho Chi Minh, the North Vietnamese leader, for a peaceful settlement.

U.S. Ambassador Charles W. Yost replied that the United States has no intention of abandoning its efforts to keep South Viet Nam from falling under communist domination.

Ignore Calumnies

"The United States has no intention of shirking its responsibilities and calumnies from any quarter will not deter us," he said. "But we are also prepared for unconditional negotiations at any time—which others, despite repeated appeals from many quarters, apparently are not."

He described Viet Nam as a classic example of the Chinese Communist doctrine of so-called wars of national liberation. He charged that Peking is plotting also to make such wars against Thailand and the independent countries of Africa.

Fedorenko's speech made no mention of the U.S. offer on negotiations, or British proposals for convening a new Geneva conference on Viet Nam.

Fraternal People

"The Soviet Union expresses its solidarity with the struggle of the Vietnamese patriots against American aggression," he said. "It has been rendering and will render full political support and the necessary economic and military assistance to the fraternal Vietnamese people."

Ho's demands include withdrawal of all U.S. troops, materiel and bases from South Viet Nam, recognition of the political independence of Viet Nam, and a political settlement along the lines demanded by the Viet Cong.

"Only the military intervention of the United States and some of their allies in military blocs is the single and the main reason for the tragic events in Viet Nam," Fedorenko said.

January Draft Call 38,280

Washington (AP) — The Defense Department Friday asked a draft quota of 38,280 men in January, including 8,980 for the Marine Corps, in line with the buildup of U.S. military strength in Viet Nam.

This compares with a December quota of 40,200. The December total initially was 45,224 and included a request by the Marines for 5,024, but the Marine Corps request was withdrawn.

The January call of 38,280, of which 29,300 is for the Army, is lower than the revised December quota but still higher than any monthly total since 1953.

The Navy and Air Force, as usual, made no requests for draftees.

Yule Merriment Won't Be Same Without Mac

By HUGH MULLIGAN

Lai Khe, Viet Nam (AP)—It won't be the same—it can't be, without him—but the men in Charlie Company are going ahead with Sgt. Mac's Christmas party.

He'd brought back a helicopter load of toys from Saigon for the local Vietnamese kids, who he said never had anything.

He wanted the entire U.S. 1st Infantry Division band out under the rubber trees playing "I'm Dreaming of a White Christmas." He wanted Santa Claus to enter on a sled—really an artillery shell dolly—pulled by six water buffalo.

When He Was Kid

He wanted electric trains under the Yule tree and a big star over his mess tent and enough dolls and balloons and kites and cowboy guns to send every kid back to the village of Ben Cat with his eyes bulging, the way it was with him when he was a kid at Christmas.

He was on his way back from seeing about some more decorations and fattening up a pig when it happened.

S. Sgt. Arthur N. McMellon of West Hamlin, W.Va., the "greatest scrounger in Viet Nam," as his company commander proudly called him, was killed by the Viet Cong from ambush outside Ben Cat while doing the thing he loved best—scrounging up the makings of the greatest Christmas party ever held in any war zone.

There In Spirit

The men in C Co., 701st Maintenance Battalion, milled around Friday decorating the tree, filling paper bags with toys and trying not to think about Sgt. Mac, but his presence was everywhere.

Capt. Cosmo Barone of Oxford, Pa., the company commander, was on a field phone sewing up the division band, just as Sgt. Mac had planned it.

"Of course they got to bring their weapons with them," he shouted. "What are they going to do if we're overrun? Beat them off with their clarinets?"

Topkick Sets It Up

First Sgt. Clarence Stanley of Decatur, Ala., set up the Christmas tree on a sandbag bunker outside the mess tent, wondering how he could hook up the electric trains. And where would he ever get those water buffalo?

"He'd have found a way," Stanley said. "There'll never be another mess sergeant like him."

On Thanksgiving Day, with only a few hours' notice, McMellon found a way to feed turkey to 71 Vietnamese kids who showed up unexpectedly for holiday dinner with Charlie Company, which normally feeds only 99.

"That's what gave him the idea for the Christmas party," said Pfc. Michael Mulcahy of Providence, R. I. "Those kids in Ben Cat just loved him. They followed him wherever he went. It got so he called himself the mayor of Ben Cat."

Expect Massive U.S. Bombing Of Ho Chi Minh Trail In Laos

By JOHN M. HIGHTOWER

Washington (AP)—With the collapse of another peace effort, the war in Viet Nam is destined to grow bigger and more dangerous in the immediate future.

The United States is expected to undertake large-scale air strikes against the Ho Chi Minh Trail in southern Laos in an effort to frustrate attempts by North Viet Nam to reinforce communist forces in South Viet Nam.

A further heavy buildup of U.S. troops in South Viet Nam also is regarded as necessary to the strategy of dealing crippling blows to the Viet Cong and North Vietnamese fighting in the south.

Decisions Due

New decisions on U.S. actions are expected to be made in a meeting of President Johnson with Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, Secretary of State Dean Rusk and other advisers, probably next week.

McNamara returned several days ago from a flying visit to South Viet Nam and laid heavy emphasis on the prospect that North Viet Nam would shortly triple its infiltration of troops into the south from 1,500 a month to 4,500.

Officials say most of them must pass through the jungles covered roads and pathways of southern Laos, the network making up the so-called Ho Chi Minh Trail.

More Openly

Bombing this route on a large scale will more openly involve the territory of a third country, Laos, in the conflict which the United States has always treated as basically a fight between Communist North Viet Nam and anticommunist South Viet Nam.

This more open third-country involvement creates new elements of danger, but officials assert the initiative was taken long ago by the North Vietnamese in using Laos territory themselves.

The latest peace-mission collapse caused no surprise in Washington. British Foreign Minister Michael Stewart had appealed for Russia to join Britain in calling a conference to settle the conflict.

Thursday night, after talking with President Johnson, Rusk said in Texas that the United States would of course go to such a conference.

No Change Found

But Friday Stewart, who returned to London from Moscow, said he has detected no change in Russia's attitude. U.S. officials said they likewise see no change. The Soviet government's position is that it does not have the power to end the war which is a primary responsibility of North Viet Nam.

Russia is giving some help to North Viet Nam, but Red China is giving much more. U.S. experts say Russia undoubtedly would like to end the war but that China is determined to keep it going and so is the dominant faction in North Viet Nam.

Some students of Chinese affairs in the government are beginning to say that as the war expands there is increasing danger of a direct clash between Red China and the United States.

Discounted

So far as can be determined President Johnson's top policy advisers discount this possibility.

The Chinese know, it is said, that the United States could use a war with them to destroy their new atomic installations.

Chinese leaders have indicated they would enter the conflict if the existence of Communist North Viet Nam were at stake.

Hanoi Admits U.S. Bombings Hurt Economy

Tokyo (UPI) — The Communist Hanoi regime Friday admitted U.S. bombing raids have hurt North Viet Nam's economy and forced a cutback in industrial development.

The admission came in a brief report by the official Red New China News Agency on a recent top-level meeting in the North Vietnamese capital of Hanoi.

NCNA quoted North Viet Nam's Vice Premier LeThanh Nghi as saying the American air attacks made it necessary to "carry out an on-the-spot supply policy making full use of local materials and ensuring local production and consumption."

NAZI HQ PADLOCKED

Internal Revenue Service agents Friday seized records and padlocked the American Nazi Party's headquarters in Arlington, Va., for nonpayment of federal taxes. The deficiency, mostly in income taxes, was listed as $5,278. Fuehrer George Lincoln Rockwell said the party "is now in the hands of the government." The IRS said agents also seized a printing press and office supplies. Two Nazi members who lived at headquarters were evicted.

Zambia Eyes Russians; OAU Gives British Notice

Lusaka, Zambia (AP)—Zambia's President Kenneth Kaunda suggested Friday that he may call for Soviet troops if Britian refuses to invade neighboring white-ruled Rhodesia. The British flew war planes into Zambia during the day for defense but Kaunda said that was not enough.

"If the United Kingdom (Britain) refused to send ground troops," he said, "we could ask the United States. "He contended, however, that the United States is likely to follow Britain's lead, and added: "What is there left for us to do but go to the Soviet government?" He said this was "just a line of thought."

If the Soviet Union is drawn into the campaign, he added, "this would not only be a racial war, but on ideological one."

In Addis Ababa, Ethiopia, delegates from 36 African states voted to break diplomatic relations with Britain Dec. 15 unless Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government crushes the Rhodesian white-supremacy rebellion by that date.

The delegates to the Organization of African Unity (OAU) also voted to bar planes to Rhodesia from flying over their territory, cut off all communications with the breakaway British colony and to block all Rhodesian Rhodesian travel documents void.

A dispatch from Salisbury, the Rhodesian capital, said Smith officially ignored the arrival of RAF planes and support units in Zambia.

The British planes landed from Kenya at Lusaka, 85 miles from the Rhodesian border; at Ndola in the copper belt 300 miles north of the border, and at Livingstone, on the border near Victoria Falls, more than 200 miles southwest of the Kariba dam.

Informed sources said the Royal Air Force planes and Zambia's airports would be under British control, but they declined to give the number of airmen and ground crew involved.

Bank Directors Fired To Upset Rhodesia Money

London (AP)—The British government Friday night fired Gov. C.S. Bruce and the entire directorate of Rhodesia's national reserve bank.

In a move designed to reassert British authority over the affairs of the rebellious colony, Prime Minister Harold Wilson's government named Sir Sydney Caine as new governor, along with five other British directors.

Simultaneously the British decree, and its effects, were relayed to governments and central banks of countries dealing with Rhodesia. The clear aim is to undercut international confidence in the legality and stability of Rhodesia's money and in its ability to meet foreign obligations.

Natchez Boycott Ends; NAACP Claims Victory

Natchez, Miss. (AP)—The Negro boycott of nearly all downtown stores ended Friday with civil rights leaders hailing the outcome as a historic victory.

Charles Evers, Mississippi field director for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said agreements with merchants and with the city government were "the greatest concessions granted any civil rights organization."

"We have worked to make it better for all of us—not just the Negro," he added. "We bear no malice or hatred against whites and hope they have none against us."

The agreements were made public at a crowded news conference in Mayor John Nosser's office. The white-haired mayor winced at the term "concessions." He said he preferred agreements. He declined to expand on his brief statement.

Evers, of Jackson, said 23 stores in the downtown area met demands for opening new job opportunities to Negroes as clerks or cashiers. Heretofore, Negroes were limited to menial jobs.

Stores which did not go along with the agreement remained under boycott. NAACP leaders said the greatest majority were included among those accepting the terms.

Six stores folded during the three month economic squeeze.

It was the most effective boycott ever imposed by civil rights forces in the South.

Agreements wrung from the city government included the hiring of six Negro policemen, orders that city employes treat all citizens courteously, city hiring without regard to race and a plan to begin desegregation of city schools next September.

Maywood Collision Kills Four

Maywood (AP)—A near head-on collision on a slight curve on U.S. Highway 83, about 6.5 miles south of Maywood, killed four persons instantly late Thursday night.

Frontier County Sheriff Harold J. Floro said one car was driven by Lawrence J. McNulty, 48, of McCook.

Occupants of the second car were identified as Beverly Meyer, 35; G. Roene Laier, 29, the driver, and Marilyn Wolf, 36, all of Eustis.

It was not known, the sheriff said, how the mishap occurred. "All of the people were dead and there apparently were no witnesses," he said Friday.

He added that both vehicles were "fairly new."

The man apparently was enroute home from North Platte when the mishap occurred and sales slips in the car indicated the women had been shopping in McCook.

The deaths raised the Nebraska highway fatality toll for the year to 350, compared with 400 on this date a year ago.

AAUP Will Probe Firing Of Hoffmans

The firing of a Kearney State College English instructor will be taken up by the Nebraska chapter of the American Association of University Professors (AAUP) here Saturday.

Dr. Louis Crompton, state AAUP conference secretary, said the AAUP was notified of Ed Hoffmans release from the Kearney faculty soon after the order was issued Tuesday.

Crompton is a University of Nebraska professor.

The 28-year-old Hoffmans, who describes himself as a Pacifist, contends he was fired because of his opposition to American policy in Viet Nam.

He was dismissed the day after he returned from participating in the Viet Nam protest march in Washington.

[illegible] Milton Hassel, Kearney State president, said Hoffmans was discharged for "ineffective teaching and complete disregard for college policy and regulation."

He said Hoffmans' stand on Viet Nam had nothing to do with his firing.

Dr. Hassel said he notified the State Normal Board of his intentions to dismiss Hoffmans before actually doing so. The board, technically, does all hiring and firing of state college employes.

Dr. Hassel also said he welcomes an orderly inquiry into the case by the AAUP.

Dr. Wayne Marshall, president of the Kearney chapter of the AAUP, said the local AAUP supports Dr. Hassel's action.

Ghostly Play Delightful To Playhouse Audience

By GERRY SWITZER

A frighteningly delightful cast played to a full house Friday night as "The Innocents" opened on the Lincoln Community Playhouse stage.

The play, adapted from Henry James' "A Turn of the Screw," kept the audience spellbound with its suggestions that strange phenomena exist in this world beyond the scope of one's reasoning.

Capturing the limelight was 10-year-old Terri Novak, who played the part of Flora—one of the precocious children who aid in giving the new governess, Miss Giddens, played by Louise Cooper, ghostly experiences.

Mrs. Cooper, making her first appearance on the Playhouse stage, displayed talent in her difficult role of a governess in a strange house somewhere between the realm of "ghosts" and the psychological explanation of illusion and reality.

The role of the other precocious child. Miles, was ably assumed by 12-year-old Gary Cisney, who was also making his stage debut.

Portraying the aged housekeeper, Mrs. Grose, Betty Ryan did an outstanding job of keeping the phantom world a mystery in the late 19th century country house in England.

Also making periodic silent visits were the Ghost of Quint played by Bruce Nims and the Ghost of Miss Jessel portrayed by Hjordis Bruce.

Sound effects and lighting added significantly to the ghostly scene and the costuming tastefully depicted the period.

Under the direction of Roland L. Reed, the play will run Saturday and Tuesday through Sunday, Dec. 7-12, next week.

Cars driven by George E. Pearce, of 1030 No. 79th, and Elizabeth M. Stuchlik, 26, 431 Terrace Road, collided at Steinway Road and Skyway Road, police said. Pearce was taken to Bryan Memorial Hospital and the other driver went to St. Elizabeth. Neither was believed to be in serious condition.

Income Taxes, Total Revenue Figures Down

. . . Corporate Collections Up

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Individual income and employment taxes in Nebraska for the last fiscal year were down along with total internal revenue collections, the Internal Revenue Service has reported.

But corporate income taxes took a jump for the fiscal year ended June 30, 1965.

Total internal revenue collections for 1965 amounted to $618,657,000, the IRS report showed. This was $46,229,000 below the 1964 total of $664,886,000.

Individual income and employment taxes amounted to $444,120,000, a decline of $43,337,000 from the 1964 total of $487,457,000.

Corporate income taxes jumped $10,282,000, however, from $98,205,000 to $108,487,000.

Withholding taxes—the thing the average worker eyes most carefully—dropped $36,865,000 from the $314,173,000 of 1964 to $277,308,000 in 1965.

A sidelight was an increase from 39 to 44 in the number of $50 wagering stamps issued in Nebraska.

Heart Is Many Things

By WILLIAM O. DOBLER

As any parent knows, one of the toughest jobs in raising children is to strike a proper balance in discipline. Because we love our children, it is a temptation to give them everything they want that is within our means. But also because we love them, our good sense tells us that we should not give them too much. They must have a certain freedom as they grow up and yet not more freedom than they know how to handle.

To use discipline when called for is hard for the parents and often seems to the children to be heartless. But what seems to be heartless is really the greatest display of heart. The recent dispute between the Oelwein, Iowa, Board of Education and the Amish people of their area over the education of Amish children provoked a lot of sentiment throughout the United States. The group of Amish involved operate their own school through the lower elementary grades with teachers that do not meet state certification requirements. Public school officials attempted to force attendance of the Amish children at regularly accredited schools.

Their Own Schools

But many American people felt that the Amish should be left alone. Their feeling was one of respect for an Amish way of life that disdains the luxuries and conveniences of the modern world. People felt that while they would not like such a way of life themselves, the Amish out to be permitted to live as they saw fit, so long as it bothered no one else.

Because of widespread public reaction against use of force in sending Amish children to public schools, the Iowa governor called for a moratorium in the situation to permit further study and consultation with other states that have had and solved similar problems.

The issue seemed to be one of a heartless public school government tearing apart a people's way of life and terrifying the children involved. But another slant on the thing is provided by The Oelwein Daily Register. It states editorially: "Many wire stores and by-line features in the national press have failed to carry the facts contained in a story in this newspaper last Saturday, that Amish parents had admitted they had told their children if they went to Hazleton in the school bus, they would never return to their homes, and obviously further poisoned the children's minds by casting enforcement officers in the role of villains and 'very bad men.' Authorities said the children were terrified at the approach of officials and had been instructed to hide.

"Fred Beier, Buchancan County sheriff, declared that 'many people across the nation previously in sympathy with the Amish people and cause will be reluctant to champion the cause of those who instill fear and terror in the minds of a six-year-old child. These people must realize the seriousness of their actions in damaging the mind of a child unable to comprehend the situation in the first place.' Unfortunately few if any Sunday papers contained this information. Amish parents have repeatedly admitted that religion is not an issue in the school controversy. They have been quoted several times as saying that religion is not taught in their schools, but is taught in the home."

The Register continued: "We have often said that there are few Americans as fair-minded toward those of other race, color and creed as our youngsters. This was manifested again near and in Hazleton when the Amish youngsters did ride to school in the bus. Owen Snievly, principal, said 'the kids loved it and quickly developed close relationships with the other children. They played games during recess and were treated to a milk lunch during the afternoon.'

"En route home the Amish pupils vied with each other to see who could ride on the bus the longest. It was a lark. This is a fine tribute to the other school children and revealed there was no bitterness, no prejudice. The prejudice was all in the hearts of the Old Order Amish parents. Too few people across the nation who have read only part of the Amish story are aware of these facts.

Only Small Minority

"Most Amish in this community have been perfectly satisfied to send their children to accredited schools, and have been doing so since Buchanan County school reorganization in 1947-48. Today 237 pupils (72 percent) attend Buchanan Co. Center, King, Prairie Grove, Triumph and Perry Schools with state-required certified teachers. It's the 18 percent, children in just 16 families, who have been violating state law. These 16 families are controlled by one Old Order Amishman who has no children in school, but who refuses to listen to reason or compromise. Other Amishmen from his neighborhood as well as Kalona have been unsuccessful in their efforts to change his stand."

That puts quite a different light on the problem. Where is the real example of humanity—in protecting the rights and future of the Amish children or in letting a small group of people continue a way of life in total discord with all the rest of society?

The War Of Words

The French government is out to protect the French language from being corrupted by American words. It sees this corruption as destroying the beauty of the language.

That, of course, is not the real reason. Rather it is an effort toward super patriotism. It will not work in the field of words. The new ones are the result of new actions and new forces and are usually given the name attributed to them by the initiating people.

Sputnik got into our language because that is what the Russians named the first satellite. In the same manner le jazz, le supermarket, le weekend and le swing got into the French language because they began here as we named them. In those and similar fields we have been the creative people. It is just as military Rome with its Caesars set the pace for such words as Tsar and Kaiser. We are now creating a new phrase which will one day go into many languages having the same problem. It is civil rights. As a phrase it is a generalization, but in the special field we are using it it refers specifically to relations between a minority race of one color and its relations with a majority race of another color.

The United States society is a dynamic one and is forming a new language that will have universal application. But there is also a reflection in it. Our prevalent new words are not of the highest order. We have given nothing to the world in the form of new theological concepts, very little in art and nothing in the field of deep thought or morals, except in the wrong direction. Our words come out of factories and laboratories, restaurants and fields of popular entertainment.

A Treaty For The Moon

It has been suggested that the White House Conference on International Relations take up the matter of a world treaty setting up a legal code for human activity on the moon.

At present only Russia and the United States are close to getting men on the moon, but in due time any number of nations will have fellows up there prowling around.

As yet there is no evidence that there is anything on the moon of worldly value and the freight rates would be high enough to make anything of value too expensive to ship home. Still and all a legal code to which all subscribe would be a good thing. The way human nature is, the moon, without some restraining law, would be just another thing to fight over. And the trouble with that is the decisions would have to be had on the earth. We need more causes for peace than reasons for war.

We already have one area where rival nations get along. That is Anarctica. The Russians and the Americans down there trade chillblains and scientific information without let or hindrance. The moon appears to be about as unlikely a place. And if we can't stop war on earth, we can at least keep the idea from spreading. Two places where we can successfully curb our belligerent spirits constitutes a good start toward cooperation. Perhaps with such encouragement we can get it going down in the grassy places of the temperate zone.

We are for turning the moon over to the United Nations and let everyone do the treasure hunting up there, if any can be found.

Whoopers And Owls

From The Christian Science Monitor

Let's give a whoop for the whooping cranes!

It now appears they won't become extinct after all, although for years they have been on the very verge of disappearance.

The good news, given out by the United States Department of the Interior, is that this year's beak count of these rare birds has risen to 44. Not many, it is true, but something to whoop about when you consider that in 1953 there were only 22 left in the whole world, outside of zoos. We are greatly encouraged by this doubling of population. If whooping cranes can be saved from extinction by concerned persons, why not other wild life?

Also cheering is news that the rare trumpeter swan is making a comeback. A new count shows a jump in their numbers from 100 in the 1930's to 1,000 today. At the same time we learn that 55 tiny saw-whet owls have been sighted over Long Island, more than have been seen for many years.

We hope to hear more whoops, trumpetings, and hoots in the future. But much effort is required to bring back wild life that faces annihilation.

Two nations are taking a hand in the drive to save the whooping cranes. Canada guards their nesting place at Wood Buffalo Park on the Sass River, 400 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The United States protects their winter home in the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Corpus Christi, Texas.

The big problem is assuring them safe conduct in their annual journeys each way along this 2,500-mile route. The United States Department of the Interior works on this. In press announcements it asks hunters not to shoot any big white red-capped birds or their dun-colored young. The increase in their number indicates the sportsmen are cooperating.

All this is fine. But it would be much simpler to save wildlife before it reaches this perilous point.

Nehru Suggested Cooperation Year

WASHINGTON — There's been speculation as to how the idea of the "International Cooperation Year" got started.

The inside story goes back to Nov. 7, 1961, when I arranged a meeting between three Americans and Prime Minister Nehru of India, then in Washington on a visit to President Kennedy.

The three of us had tea with Nehru at Blair House, just across from the White House. I remember he looked very tired. He had been on a hectic schedule and had just got up from an afternoon nap.

Those attending the conference were Clarence Pickett, Quaker elder statesman and former head of the American Friends Service Committee, professor Roger Fisher of Harvard Law School, and this writer.

We suggested to Nehru that since the scientists of the world had organized the International Geophysical Year in which each country had tried to achieve a new milestone in science, the statesmen of the world organize an International Cooperation Year in which each would try to achieve new milestones for peace.

Nehru listened carefully, sympathetically, but made no promise to promote the idea. When we left, I was not at all sure that we had made any impact. He seemed dreadfully tired. Three days later, however, in a full dress speech before the U.N. Assembly, he officially launched the idea of an International Cooperation Year.

"A proposal has been made by various people to the effect that more attention should be directed to cooperative ventures in the interest of peace so that more positive thinking may take place on this subject," Nehru said.

"Some years ago it was resolved to have an International Geophysical Year. That was a specific subject. Now it has been suggested that perhaps this Assembly might resolve to call upon all countries of the world to devote this year not to speeches about peace, but to furtherance of cooperative activities in any field."

Nehru went on to suggest that the Assembly appoint a committee to consider an international cooperation year. He spoke at some length and most eloquently. He said:

"We have to undertake this vast task of encouraging this new thinking, this new approach, the approach of cooperation, and not on a mere ideological basis but on the practical basis of sheer survival in this world. I would beg the Assembly to consider this, and not from the point of view of profit or loss to this nation or that nation: because the choice before us is not profit or loss but of survival or loss to everybody."

The assembly acted. It pronounced 1965 as International Cooperation Year.

Lindsay Sticks With His Friends

NEW YORK — Mayor-elect John Lindsay's pre-inauguration workrooms still have that college date bureau aspect so noticeable in his campaign. There is not a single cigar in sight.

"Sure I'm going to keep the kids around me," Lindsay said cheerfully. "They believe something can be done about New York. They help me believe it, too."

He then moved the show to a boathouse in Central Park where he appointed Thomas Hoving, ex-Princeton summa cum laude '53 and ex-Marine, to be commissioner of parks. Hoving is 34. "A little old for our administration," Lindsay remarked parenthetically.

The impact of the Lindsay team on the Democratic bureacracy so long entrenched in the city will be interesting. Lindsay will start with a reorganization attempt. The team is confident, but the bureaucrats are there.

For the present, there is no mention of a potential impact on the struggle of the Republican Party to gain a new national identity. That is being left to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob Javits, both liberals and both willing to carry the flag.

Democrats generally are complacent about their chances of defeating Rockefeller next year. The polls downgrade him and they now seem to have an obvious candidate in Frank O'Connor, which may discourage the nomination flights of the recent Past.

The voters who elected Lindsay gave O'Connor, district attorney of Queens, a smashing plurality for president of the City Council. Democrats also retained their majority in the state assembly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Some problems remain — O'Connor and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy are both Irish Catholics and questions have been raised about whether there is room for both at the top. Kemnnedy's standing as party leader north of the Bronx seems secure. But O'Connor is a native product, not a newcomer, and owes nothing to Kennedy for his dramatic city-wide showing. The city is vital to Democrats in state and national races.

On a lower level, the reformers fight the city leaders and the city leaders feud among themselves. Senator Kennedy is obliged to maneuver cautiously amid these clashes.

A Democrat with long experience believes that his party's complacence about defeating Rockefeller is mistaken. He expects the governor to look good against the turbulence of a divided legislature.

President Johnson seems to do his New York fence-mending chiefly with members of the House, businessmen and party fat cats.

His friend, Edwin Weisl, is national committeeman but he is a lawyer, not a politician, and nothing was seen or heard of him during the recent campaign.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

There has been a marked change in the relationship between the Legislature and public power districts over the past few years.

Walton

Somewhere along the way, the Unicameral regained control over the districts. Now, state senators are obviously in the driver's seat.

Theoretically and statutorily, they always have been. But, from a practical standpoint, they were content to ride along somewhat like a back-seat driver, offering plenty of advice and some harsh warnings, all of which were ignored.

The change began, we suppose, in 1963 when the Legislature created the Nebraska Power Review Board through enactment of LB220.

Two years earlier, lawmakers had formed a body called the Nebraska Public Power Committee which was assigned the task of seeking and implementing voluntary industry-wide agreements, including possible consolidation and merger.

But that group was composed of industry officials, not public representatives.

A legislative decision in 1963 to bring the industry under public control, rather than self-control, represented quite a change in philosophy.

Then, picking up where the 1963 Legislature left off, the last session did something many people thought a Nebraska Legislature would never have the guts to do. It decided to reorganize public power, and the result was enactment of the wholesale electric generation and transmission consolidation bill labeled LB764.

While many of the changes which have occurred in the relationship between the Legislature and public power district in the past few years have been subtle, LB220 and LB764 were not—unless you consider a shotgun subtle.

Enactment of those two measures showed everyone concerned that the Legislature finally had the will to act on public power. To use a cold war military term, it gave legislative control over public power credibility.

For legislative authority meant nothing until it was demonstrated that such power was accompanied by a will to use that power.

Now there can be no question about the possibility that the Unicameral may transform the Power Review Board into a regulatory power commission if senators are not satisfied with the pace toward harmony in the industry.

A power commission may have been one of those back-seat warnings in the past. Now it has credibility, for no one can any longer seriously doubt the Legislature's will to act decisively.

Whereas long-standing legislative complaints over power district expenditures for legal services, lawsuits, advertising, public relations and lobbying could be politely ignored in the past, it would no longer be prudent not to attempt to satisfy those objections today.

All of that serves to indicate the altered relationship.

The Power Review Board clearly has had a lot to do with the change. Board members decided immediately upon their appointment to be activists, rather than passive observers.

☆ ☆ ☆

Under the leadership first of Clair Callan, and now Bill Norton, the board has played a prominent role in hammering home to all involved their responsibilities to the public.

Larry Donegan and Sheldon Bernstein will be reappointed to the board by Gov. Frank Morrison before their terms expire in January, thus assuring that the complexion of the board will remain unchanged for the near future.

The Legislature, through its interim study committee on public power, has now made it quite clear that it is keeping a wary eye on the activities of districts which are opposing LB764 in court.

Senators seem to have said: It is proper for you to test the law, but we will not look with favor on obstructionist tactics if that is what you intend to employ.

Obviously, any district which ignores that warning will do so at its own peril.

For that ain't a paper tiger anymore.

Parker Case

Park Ridge, Ill.

Before the conscience of the community has been thoroughly lulled back to sleep, assured that all is well with "law and order," I would like to point out a serious error in the December 1 Star's report covering the Darrel Parker case, relative to Judge Ronin's denial of motion for a new trial.

For the record, this case of Darrel Parker has been rejected only by the State of Nebraska courts. It has never been reviewed nor rejected in the U.S. Federal Court, the Circuit Court of Appeals, nor the U.S. Supreme Court. The Star used the "various times" description also which applies only to Nebraska state courts—at least 10 appeals (to exhaust all state remedies).

At one time, only one, the U.S. Supreme Court decided not to review the case, but this did not constitute a rejection. The high court did not pass judgment on the case. Because of the tremendous load, the U.S. Supreme Court cannot review all the cases the justices think were wrongly decided.

I believe The Star owes it to its readers to clarify this discrepancy.

FRANCES M. HANSEN

Editor's Note: The Star correctly reported that "Parker's bids for freedom have been rejected" by local, state and federal courts. It is true, as Mrs. Hansen points out, that neither the U.S. District Court nor the U.S. Supreme Court have "reviewed" the case. The U.S. District Court rejected the case on procedural grounds and the U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear the case.

The Entirety

Lincoln, Neb.

Due to the fact that W. T. Davis has cast aside all limitations to Darwin's theory of evolution, I feel compelled to point out the mistake in that sort of thinking.

To begin with, what Mr. Darwin stated was a theory, not a law. Before a natural law may evolve from a theory, irrefutable proof must be provided of its validity for all cases. Darwin couldn't prove it and neither has anyone else since his time.

Quite contrary to Mr. Davis' statement, it is far too much to say that the theory makes the universe more tolerable and logical than any other idea ever proposed by human thought. Even if one were to allow, in an extremely liberal sort of way, the application of the theory of evolution to inanimate things, as well as organic life, there still would remain a question which cannot be answered by the theory of evolution.

If the entire universe is nothing but a series of cyclic evolutions, then what was it which caused the universe to be created at the beginning? Even a best, evolution might come to be proven as a natural, universal law, but never a cause of anything.

Science is an inquiry within the laws of nature. It can only discover but never create, because laws are intangible and man himself is incapable of creating anything which is not tangible. That which man boasts of having created is nothing but a complication of an already perfect order. Man is like a mole in that he must necessarily complicate his environment if he is to survive, but he owes an expression of thanks somewhere in his dark history. If goodness and righteousness had not been included along with his superior intellect, he would have undone himself a long time ago.

For the causal observer, life goes about itself in an interesting pattern, but what puzzles me the most is that people will anxiously await announcements from the realm of science with the hope that somewhere some slightly perplexed scientist might accidentally discover the key which opens the door to infinite knowledge. What ignorance! What complacency! What hypocrisy! Why don't people understand that all answers come from man's own mind, not that which he might be scrutinizing? When will people realize that there must be a creator of all things, and that man is just a necessary part in the scheme? Man's knowledge is bounded only by the borders of the universe. He may always propagate within but never leave it. Only God, the Creator Himself, can view the cosmos in its entire majesty.

The most "tolerable" and "logical" "idea" was "proposed by human thought" long before Darwin came into being. The true religious thinkers have all the imagination or faith that it takes to know that God truly exists. But religion is not money that may "rub off" through close association. It must be sought by each individual in his own way. Only by dispelling all that is evil can one begin to comprehend the beauty of God. Only then will it be understood that such words as "morality" apply only to mankind and not to that which is perfect.

UNICEF Cards

Lincoln, Neb.

For a number of years the United Nations Association in cooperation with many civic groups has sold greeting cards for the holiday season in order to benefit the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). In recent days a number of Lincoln citizens have asked me whether the cards are available in this community.

The answer is yes. They may be purchased at the Young Women's Christian Association, located at 1432 N Street. I want to insure that those who desire the cards might know where to obtain them.

And the trouble with that is the decisions would have to be had on the earth. We need more causes for peace than reasons for war.

We already have one area where rival nations get along. That is Anarctica. The Russians and the Americans down there trade chillblains and scientific information without let or hindrance. The moon appears to be about as unlikely a place. And if we can't stop war on earth, we can at least keep the idea from spreading. Two places where we can successfully curb our belligerent spirits constitutes a good start toward cooperation. Perhaps with such encouragement we can get it going down in the grassy places of the temperate zone.

We are for turning the moon over to the United Nations and let everyone do the treasure hunting up there, if any can be found.

Editorial Of The Day

Whoopers And Owls

From The Christian Science Monitor

Let's give a whoop for the whooping cranes!

It now appears they won't become extinct after all, although for years they have been on the very verge of disappearance.

The good news, given out by the United States Department of the Interior, is that this year's beak count of these rare birds has risen to 44. Not many, it is true, but something to whoop about when you consider that in 1953 there were only 22 left in the whole world, outside of zoos. We are greatly encouraged by this doubling of population. If whooping cranes can be saved from extinction by concerned persons, why not other wild life?

Also cheering is news that the rare trumpeter swan is making a comeback. A new count shows a jump in their numbers from 100 in the 1930's to 1,000 today. At the same time we learn that 55 tiny saw-whet owls have been sighted over Long Island, more than have been seen for many years.

We hope to hear more whoops, trumpetings, and hoots in the future. But much effort is required to bring back wild life that faces annihilation.

Two nations are taking a hand in the drive to save the whooping cranes. Canada guards their nesting place at Wood Buffalo Park on the Sass River, 400 miles south of the Arctic Circle. The United States protects their winter home in the Aransas National Wildlife Refuge near Corpus Christi, Texas.

The big problem is assuring them safe conduct in their annual journeys each way along this 2,500-mile route. The United States Department of the Interior works on this. In press announcements it asks hunters not to shoot any big white red-capped birds or their dun-colored young. The increase in their number indicates the sportsmen are cooperating.

All this is fine. But it would be much simpler to save wildlife before it reaches this perilous point.

Nehru Suggested Cooperation Year

WASHINGTON — There's been speculation as to how the idea of the "International Cooperation Year" got started.

The inside story goes back to Nov. 7, 1961, when I arranged a meeting between three Americans and Prime Minister Nehru of India, then in Washington on a visit to President Kennedy.

The three of us had tea with Nehru at Blair House, just across from the White House. I remember he looked very tired. He had been on a hectic schedule and had just got up from an afternoon nap.

Those attending the conference were Clarence Pickett, Quaker elder statesman and former head of the American Friends Service Committee, professor Roger Fisher of Harvard Law School, and this writer.

We suggested to Nehru that since the scientists of the world had organized the International Geophysical Year in which each country had tried to achieve a new milestone in science, the statesmen of the world organize an International Cooperation Year in which each would try to achieve new milestones for peace.

Nehru listened carefully, sympathetically, but made no promise to promote the idea. When we left, I was not at all sure that we had made any impact. He seemed dreadfully tired. Three days later, however, in a full dress speech before the U.N. Assembly, he officially launched the idea of an International Cooperation Year.

"A proposal has been made by various people to the effect that more attention should be directed to cooperative ventures in the interest of peace so that more positive thinking may take place on this subject," Nehru said.

"Some years ago it was resolved to have an International Geophysical Year. That was a specific subject. Now it has been suggested that perhaps this Assembly might resolve to call upon all countries of the world to devote this year not to speeches about peace, but to furtherance of cooperative activities in any field."

Nehru went on to suggest that the Assembly appoint a committee to consider an international cooperation year. He spoke at some length and most eloquently. He said:

"We have to undertake this vast task of encouraging this new thinking, this new approach, the approach of cooperation, and not on a mere ideological basis but on the practical basis of sheer survival in this world. I would beg the Assembly to consider this, and not from the point of view of profit or loss to this nation or that nation; because the choice before us is not profit or loss but of survival or loss to everybody."

The assembly acted. It pronounced 1965 as International Cooperation Year.

Lindsay Sticks With His Friends

NEW YORK — Mayor-elect John Lindsay's pre-inauguration workrooms still have that college date bureau aspect so noticeable in his campaign. There is not a single cigar in sight.

"Sure I'm going to keep the kids around me," Lindsay said cheerfully. "They believe something can be done about New York. They help me believe it, too."

He then moved the show to a boathouse in Central Park where he appointed Thomas Hoving, ex-Princeton summa cum laude '53 and ex-Marine, to be commissioner of parks. Hoving is 34. "A little old for our administration," Lindsay remarked parenthetically.

☆ ☆ ☆

The impact of the Lindsay team on the Democratic bureacracy so long entrenched in the city will be interesting. Lindsay will start with a reorganization attempt. The team is confident, but the bureaucrats are there.

For the present, there is no mention of a potential impact on the struggle of the Republican Party to gain a new national identity. That is being left to Gov. Nelson Rockefeller and Sen. Jacob Javits, both liberals and both willing to carry the flag.

Democrats generally are complacent about their chances of defeating Rockefeller next year. The polls downgrade him and they now seem to have an obvious candidate in Frank O'Connor, which may discourage the nomination flights of the recent Past.

The voters who elected Lindsay gave O'Connor, district attorney of Queens, a smashing plurality for president of the City Council. Democrats also retained their majority in the state assembly.

☆ ☆ ☆

Some problems remain — O'Connor and Sen. Robert F. Kennedy are both Irish Catholics and questions have been raised about whether there is room for both at the top. Kennnedy's standing as party leader north of the Bronx seems secure. But O'Connor is a native product, not a newcomer, and owes nothing to Kennedy for his dramatic city-wide showing. The city is vital to Democrats in state and national races.

On a lower level, the reformers fight the city leaders and the city leaders feud among themselves. Senator Kennedy is obliged to maneuver cautiously amid these clashes.

A Democrat with long experience believes that his party's complacence about defeating Rockefeller is mistaken. He expects the governor to look good against the turbulence of a divided legislature.

President Johnson seems to do his New York fence-mending chiefly with members of the House, businessmen and party fat cats.

His friend, Edwin Weisl, is national committeeman but he is a lawyer, not a politician, and nothing was seen or heard of him during the recent campaign.

ON TARGET

By DON WALTON

There has been a marked change in the relationship between the Legislature and public power districts over the past few years.

Walton

Somewhere along the way, the Unicameral regained control over the districts. Now, state senators are obviously in the driver's seat.

Theoretically and statutorily, they always have been. But, from a practical standpoint, they were content to ride along somewhat like a back-seat driver, offering plenty of advice and some harsh warnings, all of which were ignored.

The change began, we suppose, in 1963 when the Legislature created the Nebraska Power Review Board through enactment of LB220.

Two years earlier, lawmakers had formed a body called the Nebraska Public Power Committee which was assigned the task of seeking and implementing voluntary industry-wide agreements, including possible consolidation and merger.

But that group was composed of industry officials, not public representatives.

A legislative decision in 1963 to bring the industry under public control, rather than self-control, represented quite a change in philosophy.

Then, picking up where the 1963 Legislature left off, the last session did something many people thought a Nebraska Legislature would never have the guts to do. It decided to reorganize public power, and the result was enactment of the wholesale electric generation and transmission consolidation bill labeled LB764.

☆ ☆ ☆

While many of the changes which have occurred in the relationship between the Legislature and public power district in the past few years have been subtle, LB220 and LB764 were not—unless you consider a shotgun subtle.

Enactment of those two measures showed everyone concerned that the Legislature finally had the will to act on public power. To use a cold war military term, it gave legislative control over public power credibility.

For legislative authority meant nothing until it was demonstrated that such power was accompanied by a will to use that power.

Now there can be no question about the possibility that the Unicameral may transform the Power Review Board into a regulatory power commission if senators are not satisfied with the pace toward harmony in the industry.

A power commission may have been one of those back-seat warnings in the past. Now it has credibility, for no one can any longer seriously doubt the Legislature's will to act decisively.

Whereas long-standing legislative complaints over power district expenditures for legal services, lawsuits, advertising, public relations and lobbying could be politely ignored in the past, it would no longer be prudent not to attempt to satisfy those objections today.

All of that serves to indicate the altered relationship.

The Power Review Board clearly has had a lot to do with the change. Board members decided immediately upon their appointment to be activists, rather than passive observers.

☆ ☆ ☆

Under the leadership first of Clair Callan, and now Bill Norton, the board has played a prominent role in hammering home to all involved their responsibilities to the public.

Larry Donegan and Sheldon Bernstein will be reappointed to the board by Gov. Frank Morrison before their terms expire in January, thus assuring that the complexion of the board will remain unchanged for the near future.

The Legislature, through its interim study committee on public power, has now made it quite clear that it is keeping a wary eye on the activities of districts which are opposing LB764 in court.

Senators seem to have said: It is proper for you to test the law, but we will not look with favor on obstructionist tactics if that is what you intend to employ.

Obviously, any district which ignores that warning will do so at its own peril.

For that ain't a paper tiger anymore.

Park Ridge, Ill.

Before the conscience of the community has been thoroughly lulled back to sleep, assured that all is well with "law and order," I would like to point out a serious error in the December 1 Star's report covering the Darrel Parker case, relative to Judge Ronin's denial of motion for a new trial.

For the record, this case of Darrel Parker has been rejected only by the State of Nebraska courts. It has never been reviewed nor rejected in the U.S. Federal Court, the Circuit Court of Appeals, nor the U.S. Supreme Court. The Star used the "various times" description also which applies only to Nebraska state courts—at least 10 appeals (to exhaust all state remedies).

At one time, only one, the U.S. Supreme Court decided not to review the case, but this did not constitute a rejection. The high court did not pass judgment on the case. Because of the tremendous load, the U.S. Supreme Court cannot review all the cases the justices think were wrongly decided.

I believe The Star owes it to its readers to clarify this discrepancy.

FRANCES M. HANSEN

Editor's Note: The Star correctly reported that "Parker's bids for freedom have been rejected" by local, state and federal courts. It is true, as Mrs. Hansen points out, that neither the U.S. District Court nor the U.S. Supreme Court have "reviewed" the case. The U.S. District Court rejected the case on procedural grounds and the U.S. Supreme Court declined to hear the case.

The Entirety

Lincoln, Neb.

Due to the fact that W. T. Davis has cast aside all limitations to Darwin's theory of evolution, I feel compelled to point out the mistake in that sort of thinking.

To begin with, what Mr. Darwin stated was a theory, not a law. Before a natural law may evolve from a theory, irrefutable proof must be provided of its validity for all cases. Darwin couldn't prove it and neither has anyone else since his time.

Quite contrary to Mr. Davis' statement, it is far too much to say that the theory makes the universe more tolerable and logical than any other idea ever proposed by human thought. Even if one were to allow, in an extremely liberal sort of way, the application of the theory of evolution to inanimate things, as well as organic life, there still would remain a question which cannot be answered by the theory of evolution.

If the entire universe is nothing but a series of cyclic evolutions, then what was it which caused the universe to be created at the beginning? Even a best, evolution might come to be proven as a natural, universal law, but never a cause of anything.

Science is an inquiry within the laws of nature. It can only discover but never create, because laws are intangible and man himself is incapable of creating anything which is not tangible. That which man boasts of having created is nothing but a complication of an already perfect order. Man is like a mole in that he must necessarily complicate his environment if he is to survive, but he owes an expression of thanks somewhere in his dark history. If goodness and righteousness had not been included along with his superior intellect, he would have undone himself a long time ago.

For the causal observer, life goes about itself in an interesting pattern, but what puzzles me the most is that people will anxiously await announcements from the realm of science with the hope that somewhere some slightly perplexed scientist might accidentally discover the key which opens the door to infinite knowledge. What ignorance! What complacency! What hypocrisy! Why don't people understand that all answers come from man's own mind, not that which he might be scrutinizing? When will people realize that there must be a creator of all things, and that man is just a necessary part in the scheme? Man's knowledge is bounded only by the borders of the universe. He may always propagate within but never leave it. Only God, the Creator Himself, can view the cosmos in its entire majesty.

The most "tolerable" and "logical" "idea" was "proposed by human thought" long before Darwin came into being. The true religious thinkers have all the imagination or faith that it takes to know that God truly exists. But religion is not money that may "rub off" through close association. It must be sought by each individual in his own way. Only by dispelling all that is evil can one begin to comprehend the beauty of God. Only then will it be understood that such words as "morality" apply only to mankind and not to that which is perfect.

UNICEF Cards

Lincoln, Neb.

For a number of years the United Nations Association in cooperation with many civic groups has sold greeting cards for the holiday season in order to benefit the United Nations International Children's Emergency Fund (UNICEF). In recent days a number of Lincoln citizens have asked me whether the cards are available in this community.

The answer is yes. They may be purchased at the Young Women's Christian Association, located at 1432 N Street. I want to insure that those who desire the cards might know where to obtain them.

NPPS Advertising Hit

Columbus — The Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative Friday charged that the Nebraska Public Power System's advertising campaign announcing its pending wholesale rate reduction amounts to "propaganda at its worst."

The advertisements "surely have been the most elaborate and costly advertising campaign in the history of public power in Nebraska," G & T General Manager Dil Blatchford of Columbus said.

True purpose of the campaign, he suggested, is "an attack upon the capacity of the rurals to act in common purpose."

If this were not so, Blatchford asked, "why would Loup and Platte assert that the rate reductions were brought about through their policy of taking advantage of all the low-cost power available to them?"

Such "has not been their policy and we all know it," Blatchford said.

NPPS is a wholesale partnership formed by Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigation District.

The NPPS advertisements failed to tell Nebraskans that "we still rank 29th from the bottom (among the states) in what we pay them for the power we purchase," Blatchford said.

"Our own estimate is that Loup and Platte will have collected about $3 million from their customers in excess of our contract provisions as we interpret them during the period of three years ending Dec. 31, 1965," he noted.

"But you will search the announcement in vain for any suggestion of this fact."

Misleading

If the advertisements are designed to influence retail customers to demand a share of this wholesale cost reduction, then Loup and Platte "would have to be guilty of deliberately misleading the small customer," Blatchford said.

Retail rates do not fluctuate with every change in wholesale rates, he pointed out. It is not in the interest of the small ratepayer to change his rates except in progressively downward adjustments justified by long-range considerations, he said.

Rural districts, Blatchford said, must "do a far better job of communicating the facts on rates" and harness public support for the earliest possible implementation of LB764.

LB764 would consolidate Loup, Platte and Consumers Public Power District into a single wholesale electric generation and transmission agency.

Insurance Firm's Liquidation Expected To Take Years

State Insurance Director Frank Barrett Friday estimated it will take several years to liquidate the United Benefit Fire Insurance Co. of Omaha, which has been declared insolvent by the Insurance Department.

He said the firm had nearly 20,000 policies in Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, Nevada and Arizona, and payments to policyholders and creditors of the company at the request of lengthy court proceedings.

Douglas District Court Judge Paul J. Garrotto last month ordered liquidation of the company at the request of the Insurance Department.

Barrett said an audit now is being conducted to determine the assets of the firm.

"I'm not optimistic about finding sufficient assets to pay 100% on liabilities," he said. "Our examinations indicate the company is insolvent, and that means its liabilities are greater than its assets."

The department should know the relationship of assets to liabilities shortly after the first of the year, he said.

Barrett said his department has begun to receive cancelled policies and has requested Nebraska companies to take over the business of the defunct firm, the first company to be liquidated by the department since 1961.

Director Dunlevey Delivers Drunk Driving Decisions

The State Motor Vehicles Director reported Friday he heard 29 cases during November under the implied consent law governing drunken drivers.

James Dunlevey said he revoked 27 licenses and dismissed two.

Four of the 27 have been appealed to the Lancaster District Court, he said.

Nine other cases for the month are pending Dunlevey's decision.

Yapping Dogs Irk Senior Citizen

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "What can one do about yapping dogs? I don't want to be cranky, but I would like some peace and quiet now that I'm 75. There must be a dozen dogs in this block, and some nights they nearly drive me crazy."

A. You should call the police when the barking becomes excessive and let them know the peace of the neighborhood is being disturbed. This is your right as a citizen, but it will probably cause some dog owners to label you a pill. Most pet lovers are considerate, but others feel their pooches can do no wrong and seem to find barking as soothing to their ears as Beethoven and Brahms.

Q. "My mother is past 60, has never worked and gets no Social Security. Would it be possible for her to go to work at this late date and become eligible for Social Security?"

A. Yes, people of any age can go to work and qualify. The older a person is, the fewer numbers of quarters of paid employment are required. Have your mother check directly with her local Social Security office for details.

Q. "We've had the shock of our lives. Mother, 72, has applied for a divorce from Dad, 74, after nearly half a century of marriage. They both say they've gotten on each other's nerves for years. It seems to me absolutely unnatural for folks their age to even think about divorce. What can we do?"

A. Take it in your stride. It's especially regrettable when older couples can't get along and decide to go separate ways. But those past 70 are human beings, subject to the same irritations, foibles, weaknesses and emotions as younger people.

Q. "I'm 65 and would like you to join forces with me in abolishing shuffleboard. Never played it till we retired last winter and went to Florida. Every time we'd check into a motel the manager would take me by the arm and point out the shuffleboard court. We must have gotten roped into 100 games, and if a more stupid game exists I don't know what it is. What do you say?"

A. It may not be much of a game, but it's better than wandering around the streets inhaling the backfire from buses. A couple of decades ago physicians hailed it as the ideal game for elders. But many doctors today feel that elders in good health and accustomed to physical activity can derive greater benefits from more vigorous sports.

Q. "Life is just a struggle. As a youth I worked day and night getting a college degree so I could teach English Lit. Then I got a job as a college instructor and slaved and schemed to elevate myself to the rank of professor — something I didn't achieve till a year before I was pensioned. Now I'm working six hours a day trying to make a name for myself as a short story writer. But everything I write is rejected. Where's the satisfaction?"

A. Stop seeking success so avidly and start sampling the simple pleasures around you. Buy an old car and take off on a trip across the country. Get acquanted with different types of people. See the great sights of the continent. Work at your writing only when the spirit moves you. There's a lot more to life than winning a title or making a name as an author.

Insurance Firm's Liquidation Expected To Take Years

State Insurance Director Frank Barrett Friday estimated it will take several years to liquidate the United Benefit Fire Insurance Co. of Omaha, which has been declared insolvent by the Insurance Department.

He said the firm had nearly 20,000 policies in Nebraska, Iowa, Indiana, Nevada and Arizona, and payments to policyholders and creditors of the company at the request of lengthy court proceedings.

Douglas District Court Judge Paul J. Garrotto last month ordered liquidation of the company at the request of the Insurance Department.

Barrett said an audit now is being conducted to determine the assets of the firm.

"I'm not optimistic about finding sufficient assets to pay 100% on liabilities," he said. "Our examinations indicate the company is insolvent, and that means its liabilities are greater than its assets."

The department should know the relationship of assets to liabilities shortly after the first of the year, he said.

Barrett said his department has begun to receive cancelled policies and has requested Nebraska companies to take over the business of the defunct firm, the first company to be liquidated by the department since 1961.

Director Dunlevey Delivers Drunk Driving Decisions

The State Motor Vehicles Director reported Friday he heard 29 cases during November under the implied consent law governing drunken drivers.

James Dunlevey said he revoked 27 licenses and dismissed two.

Four of the 27 have been appealed to the Lancaster District Court, he said.

Nine other cases for the month are pending Dunlevey's decision.

LIFE BEGINS AT FORTY:

Yapping Dogs Irk Senior Citizen

By ROBERT PETERSON

Q. "What can one do about yapping dogs? I don't want to be cranky, but I would like some peace and quiet now that I'm 75. There must be a dozen dogs in this block, and some nights they nearly drive me crazy."

A. You should call the police when the barking becomes excessive and let them know the peace of the neighborhood is being disturbed. This is your right as a citizen, but it will probably cause some dog owners to label you a pill. Most pet lovers are considerate, but others feel their pooches can do no wrong and seem to find barking as soothing to their ears as Beethoven and Brahms.

Q. "My mother is past 60, has never worked and gets no Social Security. Would it be possible for her to go to work at this late date and become eligible for Social Security?"

A. Yes, people of any age can go to work and qualify. The older a person is, the fewer numbers of quarters of paid employment are required. Have your mother check directly with her local Social Security office for details.

Q. "We've had the shock of our lives. Mother, 72, has applied for a divorce from Dad, 74, after nearly half a century of marriage. They both say they've gotten on each other's nerves for years. It seems to me absolutely unnatural for folks their age to even think about divorce. What can we do?"

A. Take it in your stride. It's especially regrettable when older couples can't get along and decide to go separate ways. But those past 70 are human beings, subject to the same irritations, foibles, weaknesses and emotions as younger people.

Q. "I'm 65 and would like you to join forces with me in abolishing shuffleboard. Never played it till we retired last winter and went to Florida. Every time we'd check into a motel the manager would take me by the arm and point out the shuffleboard court. We must have gotten roped into 100 games, and if a more stupid game exists I don't know what it is. What do you say?"

A. It may not be much of a game, but it's better than wandering around the streets inhaling the backfire from buses. A couple of decades ago physicians hailed it as the ideal game for elders. But many doctors today feel that elders in good health and accustomed to physical activity can derive greater benefits from more vigorous sports.

Q. "Life is just a struggle. As a youth I worked day and night getting a college degree so I could teach English Lit. Then I got a job as a college instructor and slaved and schemed to elevate myself to the rank of professor — something I didn't achieve till a year before I was pensioned. Now I'm working six hours a day trying to make a name for myself as a short story writer. But everything I write is rejected. Where's the satisfaction?"

A. Stop seeking success so avidly and start sampling the simple pleasures around you. Buy an old car and take off on a trip across the country. Get acquanted with different types of people. See the great sights of the continent. Work at your writing only when the spirit moves you. There's a lot more to life than winning a title or making a name as an author.

Twelve Huskerville Buildings Auctioned Off

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Twelve frame buildings in the Huskerville housing were sold at auction Friday by the Lincoln Housing Authority for $100 to $130 each.

The Housing Authority, agreeing that Huskerville has "served its purpose," sold the buildings, amounting to 36 living units, some pipe and a ramp for a total $1,684 12. The structures are required to be removed from the property by March 1, 1966.

The housing authority probably will continue to provide low-cost student housing, chairman Kenneth King reported, noting that the group's "hope" is to "do away with" Huskerville eventually.

However, he emphasized, the small city of married students and Air Force Base personnel "won't be demolished until we have a place for those people."

Expenses of maintenance to keep the $50 per month units "fit to live in" were prohibitive, according to Huskerville manager Joe Clark. Sixty-three other units also are vacant, he noted.

Nearly 50 men and two women were on the Huskerville site Friday to watch and participate in the bidding. Seven individuals purchased the 12 buildings, indicating that their intent was to cut the structues apart to use as shed and storage units or to wreck the building for its lumber.

King said the Housing Authority had expected to get about $125-$200 for each building, realizing that removal costs would cut prices.

Money from the sale would go to the Housing Authority for any of its projects, he said without spelling out specific uses. He noted, however, that City Attorney Ralph Nelson had been directed by the City Council to write an opinion about ownership of the buildings on city land.

"Until we can find out what will happen to the Air Force Base housing, it is practically impossible for us to determine further action," King explained.

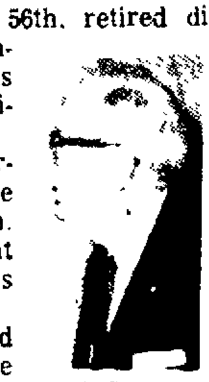
Former Beatrice Foods Director McGreer Dies

John Thomas McGreer Sr., 82, 225 No. 56th, retired director of Beatrice Foods Co., died Friday.



McGreer

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at Roper & Sons Chapel.

He joined the Beatrice Foods as a preparer of egg crates in 1898.

Mr. McGreer served on the board of directors from 1929 until his 1963 retirement.

He also was on the board of directors of the Lincoln Country Club; active in the Red Cross and Community Chest campaigns; a member of First Plymouth Congregational Church; Lancaster Lodge 54, AF & AM; Scottish Rite; and Shrine.

Survivors include his widow; son, Dr. John T. Jr. of Lincoln; and two grandsons.

Local Job Corps Center Idea Review Set

Job Corps officials want to review Lincoln's proposal for an urban center at the Air Force Base with representatives of the two sponsors, the University of Nebraska and Northern Natural Gas, according to Northern's agent in Washington, Max Barnes.

"This is still a positive sign" that things are moving forward, said J. O. Grantham, manager of long-range manpower planning for Northern Natural, adding that he is "modestly optimistic."

Barnes met with Ray Smith, deputy director for Job Corps, and Dr. Ray Keating, in charge of Job Corps evaluation, Friday to discuss the federal officials' opinion of the project.

Grantham indicated that the review in Washington, possibly early next week, would be on an informal basis to discuss the contents of the Job Corps proposal. Barnes, according to Grantham, said he felt some major changes would have to be made.

But Grantham did not see such changes as an "insurmountable barrier," although he would not speculate on what the changes might be.

"We are still getting consideration," he stressed.

The next step in the process, Grantham outlined, is for the government to assess community acceptance of an urban male Job Corps center in the area and the organizations designed to operate it.

"There is no question in our minds about that facet of the problem," he asserted, noting that reactions and resolutions of various city bodies and agencies were certainly favorable to the center.

Grantham indicated that the delegation to Washington next week probably would include NU Professors Max Hansen and Robert Filbeck, Northern Natural Gas Co. attorney Dean Wallace and himself.

Iowa Eyes Sites For Vocational School Districts

Des Moines (UPI) — An advisory body to the state board of public instruction Friday recommended areas near Mason City, Fort Dodge and in southwest central Iowa for establishment of area vocational school districts.

The board is expected to study the recommendations at a meeting next Thursday and Friday.

The 1965 legislature approved a bill calling for establishment of up to 20 vocational schools and community colleges and appropriated $6 million for capital outlay and other funds for operating costs.

Twelve Huskerville Buildings Auctioned Off

By LUCILLE HUTCHINSON
Star Staff Writer

Twelve frame buildings in the Huskerville housing were sold at auction Friday by the Lincoln Housing Authority for $100 to $130 each.

The Housing Authority, agreeing that Huskerville has "served its purpose," sold the buildings, amounting to 36 living units, some pipe and a ramp for a total $1,684.12. The structures are required to be removed from the property by March 1, 1966.

The housing authority probably will continue to provide low-cost student housing, chairman Kenneth King reported, noting that the group's "hope" is to "do away with" Huskerville eventually.

However, he emphasized, the small city of married students and Air Force Base personnel "won't be demolished until we have a place for those people."

Expenses of maintenance to keep the $50 per month units "fit to live in" were prohibitive, according to Huskerville manager Joe Clark. Sixty-three other units also are vacant, he noted.

Nearly 50 men and two women were on the Huskerville site Friday to watch and participate in the bidding. Seven individuals purchased the 12 buildings, indicating that their intent was to cut the structues apart to use as shed and storage units or to wreck the building for its lumber.

King said the Housing Authority had expected to get about $125-$200 for each building, realizing that removal costs would cut prices.

Money from the sale would go to the Housing Authority for any of its projects, he said without spelling out specific uses. He noted, however, that City Attorney Ralph Nelson had been directed by the City Council to write an opinion about ownership of the buildings on city land.

"Until we can find out what will happen to the Air Force Base housing, it is practically impossible for us to determine further action," King explained.

Former Beatrice Foods Director McGreer Dies

John Thomas McGreer Sr., 82, 225 No. 56th, retired director of Beatrice Foods Co., died Friday.

McGreer

Funeral services will be held at 4 p.m. Saturday at Roper & Sons Chapel.

He joined the Beatrice Foods as a preparer of egg crates in 1898.

Mr. McGreer served on the board of directors from 1929 until his 1963 retirement.

He also was on the board of directors of the Lincoln Country Club; active in the Red Cross and Community Chest campaigns; a member of First Plymouth Congregational Church; Lancaster Lodge 54, AF & AM; Scottish Rite; and Shrine.

Survivors include his widow; son, Dr. John T. Jr. of Lincoln; and two grandsons.

Local Job Corps Center Idea Review Set

Job Corps officials want to review Lincoln's proposal for an urban center at the Air Force Base with representatives of the two sponsors, the University of Nebraska and Northern Natural Gas, according to Northern's agent in Washington, Max Barnes.

"This is still a positive sign" that things are moving forward, said J. O. Grantham, manager of long-range manpower planning for Northern Natural, adding that he is "modestly optimistic."

Barnes met with Ray Smith, deputy director for Job Corps, and Dr. Ray Keating, in charge of Job Corps evaluation, Friday to discuss the federal officials' opinion of the project.

Grantham indicated that the review in Washington, possibly early next week, would be on an informal basis to discuss the contents of the Job Corps proposal. Barnes, according to Grantham, said he felt some major changes would have to be made.

But Grantham did not see such changes as an "insurmountable barrier," although he would not speculate on what the changes might be.

"We are still getting consideration," he stressed.

The next step in the process, Grantham outlined, is for the government to assess community acceptance of an urban male Job Corps center in the area and the organizations designed to operate it.

"There is no question in our minds about that facet of the problem," he asserted, noting that reactions and resolutions of various city bodies and agencies were certainly favorable to the center.

Grantham indicated that the delegation to Washington next week probably would include NU Professors Max Hansen and Robert Filbeck, Northern Natural Gas Co. attorney Dean Wallace and himself.

Cat Thief May Get Bite Put On By Cat, Not Cops

Redwood City, Calif. (AP)—A bitten victim issued a friendly warning to a thief who stole a pet mountain lion.

State Boy Scout Council To Meet

The 41st annual meeting of the Cornhusker Council, Boy Scouts of America, will be held at the Lincoln Center Sunday afternoon and evening.

Kenneth L. Lawson, council president, will preside at the afternoon business session at which officers and other personnel of the council will be elected.

Gov. Frank B. Morrison will be awarded a special recognition by Vice President John G. Bauer of Beatrice.

Officers will be installed at a 6 p.m. dinner program.

Iowa Eyes Sites For Vocational School Districts

Des Moines (UPI) — An advisory body to the state board of public instruction Friday recommended areas near Mason City, Fort Dodge and in southwest central Iowa for establishment of area vocational school districts.

The board is expected to study the recommendations at a meeting next Thursday and Friday.

The 1965 legislature approved a bill calling for establishment of up to 20 vocational schools and community colleges and appropriated $6 million for capital outlay and other funds for operating costs.

NASON ON EDUCATION:

Boy, 13, May Need Tutor's Help To Master Math Fundamentals

By DR. LESLIE J. NASON

Dear Dr. Nason:

We have a 13-year-old boy who is slow in school, especially in math. He makes passing grades in the other subjects but fails in math.

Our medical doctor says that he is in good health. A psychiatrist told us that he is normal except for being overly sensitive. Is he just plain lazy?

What do you suggest?

M.R., Port Arthur, Tex.

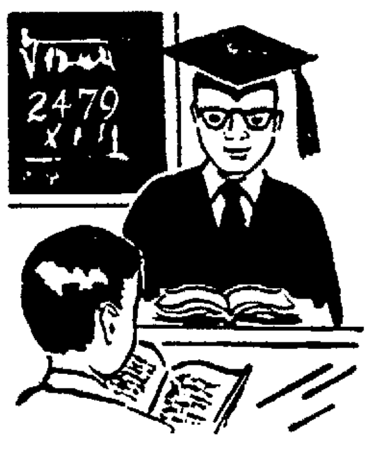
Answer:

Thirteen-year-old boys are seldom lazy when they are in good health. If your son has had difficulty in mathematics over a period of years, it is likely he now pictures himself as a boy who cannot do well in the subject.

The help of a tutor may be required both to help him master the fundamentals he has only partially learned and to give him a preview of the upcoming lessons so that he can eventually stand on his own feet.

Perhaps his teacher or even the boys in the neighborhood could find time to work with him to accomplish these two purposes.

☆ ☆ ☆



Dear Dr. Nason:

I have a very serious problem on which I would wish to consult with you. I play clarinet in the band at my school and am first chair. I have trouble practicing because I utterly despise it. Please help me.

D.B., Tampa, Fla.

Answer:

Congratulations on playing first chair clarinet.

To maintain this position you will need to continue practicing. Perhaps if you try hard for improvement and perfection as you practice, it will keep you so busy thinking about what you are doing that you won't have time to despise it.

All your life you will be required to do things just because they need to be done. It will give you self-discipline—something everyone needs. Remember, your mother does not make your bed, cook your meals, iron your clothes just because she enjoys these activities. She does it because it needs to be done.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Nason:

Throughout elementary school our son did average work. Now, in the ninth grade, he is doing very badly in English, science and French. However, he is an "A" student in music playing first sax in the senior high band. He is also a ham radio operator.

How can I help him develop more self-discipline?

Mrs. I.M.R., Scarsdale, N.Y.

Answer:

An unusually strong interest, such as your son's music, makes it difficult for a student to develop an interest in other studies. Encourage your son in his music but, at the same time, suggest that he give more attention to his school subjects. He can do this by giving them a strong, conscious effort, learning as much about a subject as he can in a short time. The more he learns about a subject the easier it will be for him to keep his mind on it while studying.

Court Upholds Burglary Conviction

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the conviction of Paul E. Brown, 24, of Plattsmouth, on a 1964 burglary charge in connection with a break-in at a Plattsmouth tavern.

Brown had contended the prosecution witnesses, including an accomplice, Robert Piper, did not truthfully testify, but the high court held:

"It is true that the state's case rests primarily on the testimony of an accomplice . . . but it is fundamental that the testimony of an accomplice, if it satisfies the jury beyond a reasonable doubt of the guilt of the defendant, may be sufficient to warrant a conviction, although not corroborated."

The Supreme Court also ruled that Cass County District Court judge's instructions to the jury were correct.

Brown was sentenced to a term of from 18 months to 30 months in the Men's Reformatory as a result of the burglary of Tim's Tavern on Jan. 13 of last year.

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Reversed the State Railway Commission order granting authority to Sidney J. Simmerman, owner of a Sidney service station, to transport house trailers.

National Trailer Convoy, Inc., and other protestants to the application had contended there was not sufficient trailer business in the Sidney area to justify the commission action.

The Supreme Court said Simmerman "failed to establish a public demand or need" for his proposed service as required by law.

—Upheld the validity of a 1963 Scottsbluff city annexation ordinance but refused to pass on the constitutionality of the law under which the ordinance was passed.

Trustees of the estate of the late A. H. Read had contended that the 1963 State Annexation Law applicable to Scottsbluff violates constitutional due process safe guards.

However, the high court, as it had ruled earlier this year in a similar challenge of the state law brought in connection with a Kearney annexation, said a "litigant who invokes the provisions of a statute may not challenge its validity."

—Affirmed a district court dismissal of a Cherry County board's attempt to appeal the appraisers' judgment of the value of lands the county planned to condemn for road purposes.

The high court ruled that the district court was correct in deciding it had no jurisdiction in the dispute concerning property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Grooms and Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Grooms.

—Affirmed a Buffalo County District Court ruling which upheld the County Board of Equalization's valuation of a building and 10 acres of land owned by Josten-Wilbert Vault Co. on the west edge of Kearney.

The board set the valuation at $45,825 for tax purposes, although the property had sold for $27,000 in January of last year.

The high court, in a 4-3 decision, rejected the firm's contention that the sale price established actual value of the property. The court said the sale price was affected by several circumstances.

—Affirmed an Otoe District Court dismissal of a damages suit brought by Lettie Weaver Davis of Imogene, Ia., as a result of injuries suffered in a July 29, 1962, traffic accident.

The woman had contended negligence on the part of the owner of the truck in which she was riding at the time of the accident, Landis Outboard Motor Co. of Nebraska City.

—Affirmed a Hall District Court jury finding in a suit brought by Redman Industries, Inc., against Morgan Drive Away, Inc., in connection with damages to a Redman mobile home while the Morgan firm was transporting it from Grand Island to Butte, Mont.

The jury found that the common carrier was not responsible for the damages, caused by a windstorm near Buffalo, Wyo.

What do you suggest?

M.R., Port Arthur, Tex.

Answer:

Thirteen-year-old boys are seldom lazy when they are in good health. If your son has had difficulty in mathematics over a period of years, it is likely he now pictures himself as a boy who cannot do well in the subject.

The help of a tutor may be required both to help him master the fundamentals he has only partially learned and to give him a preview of the upcoming lessons so that he can eventually stand on his own feet.

Perhaps his teacher or even the boys in the neighborhood could find time to work with him to accomplish these two purposes.

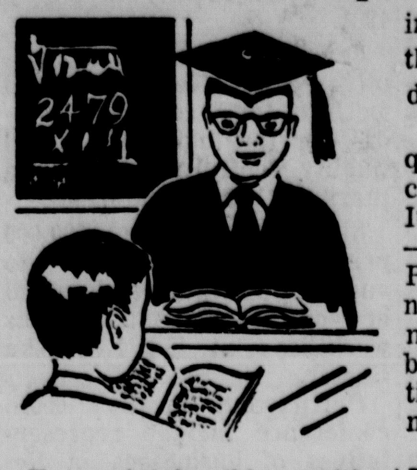
Dear Dr. Nason:

I have a very serious problem on which I would wish to consult with you. I play clarinet in the band at my school and am first chair. I have trouble practicing because I utterly despise it. Please help me.

D.B., Tampa, Fla.

Answer:

Congratulations on playing first chair clarinet.



To maintain this position you will need to continue practicing. Perhaps if you try hard for improvement and perfection as you practice, it will keep you so busy thinking about what you are doing that you won't have time to despise it.

All your life you will be required to do things just because they need to be done. It will give you self-discipline—something everyone needs. Remember, your mother does not make your bed, cook your meals, iron your clothes just because she enjoys these activities. She does it because it needs to be done.

☆ ☆ ☆

Dear Dr. Nason:

Throughout elementary school our son did average work. Now, in the ninth grade, he is doing very badly in English, science and French. However, he is an "A" student in music playing first sax in the senior high band. He is also a ham radio operator.

How can I help him develop more self-discipline?

Mrs. I.M.R., Scarsdale, N.Y.

Answer:

An unusually strong interest, such as your son's music, makes it difficult for a student to develop an interest in other studies. Encourage your son in his music but, at the same time, suggest that he give more attention to his school subjects. He can do this by giving them a strong, conscious effort, learning as much about a subject as he can in a short time. The more he learns about a subject the easier it will be for him to keep his mind on it while studying.

Court Upholds Burglary Conviction

The State Supreme Court Friday upheld the conviction of Paul E. Brown, 24, of Plattsmouth, on a 1964 burglary charge in connection with a break-in at a Plattsmouth tavern.

Brown had contended the prosecution witnesses, including an accomplice, Robert Piper, did not truthfully testify, but the high court held:

"It is true that the state's case rests primarily on the testimony of an accomplice . . . but it is fundamental that the testimony of an accomplice, if it satisfies the jury beyond a reasonable doubt of the guilt of the defendant, may be sufficient to warrant a conviction, although not corroborated."

The Supreme Court also ruled that Cass County District Court judge's instructions to the jury were correct.

Brown was sentenced to a term of from 18 months to 30 months in the Men's Reformatory as a result of the burglary of Tim's Tavern on Jan. 13 of last year.

In other rulings Friday the court:

—Reversed the State Railway Commission order granting authority to Sidney J. Simmerman, owner of a Sidney service station, to transport house trailers.

National Trailer Convoy, Inc., and other protestants to the application had contended there was not sufficient trailer business in the Sidney area to justify the commission action.

The Supreme Court said Simmerman "failed to establish a public demand or need" for his proposed service as required by law.

—Upheld the validity of a 1963 Scottsbluff city annexation ordinance but refused to pass on the constitutionality of the law under which the ordinance was passed.

Trustees of the estate of the late A. H. Read had contended that the 1963 State Annexation Law applicable to Scottsbluff violates constitutional due process safe guards.

However, the high court, as it had ruled earlier this year in a similar challenge of the state law brought in connection with a Kearney annexation, said a "litigant who invokes the provisions of a statute may not challenge its validity."

—Affirmed a district court dismissal of a Cherry County board's attempt to appeal the appraisers' judgment of the value of lands the county planned to condemn for road purposes.

The high court ruled that the district court was correct in deciding it had no jurisdiction in the dispute concerning property owned by Mr. and Mrs. Edgar J. Grooms and Mr. and Mrs. Martin G. Grooms.

—Affirmed a Buffalo County District Court ruling which upheld the County Board of Equalization's valuation of a building and 10 acres of land owned by Josten-Wilbert Vault Co. on the west edge of Kearney.

The board set the valuation at $45,825 for tax purposes, although the property had sold for $27,000 in January of last year.

The high court, in a 4-3 decision, rejected the firm's contention that the sale price established actual value of the property. The court said the sale price was affected by several circumstances.

—Affirmed an Otoe District Court dismissal of a damages suit brought by Lettie Weaver Davis of Imogene, Ia., as a result of injuries suffered in a July 29, 1962, traffic accident.

The woman had contended negligence on the part of the owner of the truck in which she was riding at the time of the accident, Landis Outboard Motor Co. of Nebraska City.

—Affirmed a Hall District Court jury finding in a suit brought by Redman Industries, Inc., against Morgan Drive Away, Inc., in connection with damages to a Redman mobile home while the Morgan firm was transporting it from Grand Island to Butte, Mont.

The jury found that the common carrier was not responsible for the damages, caused by a windstorm near Buffalo, Wyo.

Shriner Blasts Feeder Opposition To Beef Promotion

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Uninformed opposition in the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association promises to defeat the Centennial Commission's plan to match funds put up by the beef interests to promote Nebraska beef.

This conclusion was drawn Friday by Don H. Shriner, director of the Nebraska Centennial Commission. He pointed out that a resolution passed this week at the annual convention of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association "not in favor of an additional check-off on sales of livestock to produce funds for the Centennial celebration" illustrates that the feeders association has missed the boat in recognizing the purpose of the Centennial to focus attention on Nebraska beef.

"Whoever asked the feeders to produce funds for the Centennial celebration, my contention all along for two years has been that certain officials of the Feeders Assn. did not fully realize what the additional checkoff was going to be used for," said Shriner.

"All we have asked the feeders is to join other beef interest groups to promote Nebraska beef — is this wrong?" asked Shriner.

Shriner says we call ourselves the Beef State but yet Nebraska has no unified group to promote Nebraska Beef.

Shriner says the main reason we haven't got unified promotion is because of uninformed-opposition of the Nebraska Livestock Feeders Association officials.

"I say officials, because I have yet to meet a feeder who isn't interested in the promotion program we've offered for Nebraska beef," said Shriner.

Shriner says that the Centennial people have never advocated nor implied any kind of reduction of support of the National Livestock and Meat Board, but Nebraska beef could command the same national attention as the Nebraska Cornhuskers if we could ever get all of the beef interests together going in the same direction, at the same time.

Shriner charged Friday that the latest action by the feeders association is further proof to him that "someone in the feeders association is more interested in their national position than they are in the State of Nebraska, and this doesn't seem fair to the fine members of the Nebraska Feeders organization who are as good as Nebraskans as any other group."

Nebraska Center Hosts 1,000th Conference

The 1,000th conference at the Nebraska Center began Friday, just four and a half years after the official opening of the facility in July 1961.

Seventy-five business executives from Nebraska and western Iowa registered Friday for the fourth annual Quality Control Conference to mark the 1,000th conference.

Since its opening, 100,000 persons in all walks of life and all ages have participated in conferences and various workshops at the Nebraska Center.

Participants in the 1,000th conference include representatives of businesses in Nebraska and western Iowa who are concerned with quality control, according to Robert Florell, Nebraska Center coordinator.

The content of the Quality Control Conference has changed considerably during the past four years.

"There was considerable emphasis on statistics and the technical aspect at the first conference," Florell said. "Last year the emphasis was changed to management and the problems of management. This year the emphasis is on all aspects of management and the importance of quality in all departments."

John Pappas, member of the Western Electric Co. at Omaha, and active on the conference planning committee, said "the program this year is excellent and the facilities here increase the effectiveness of the conference."

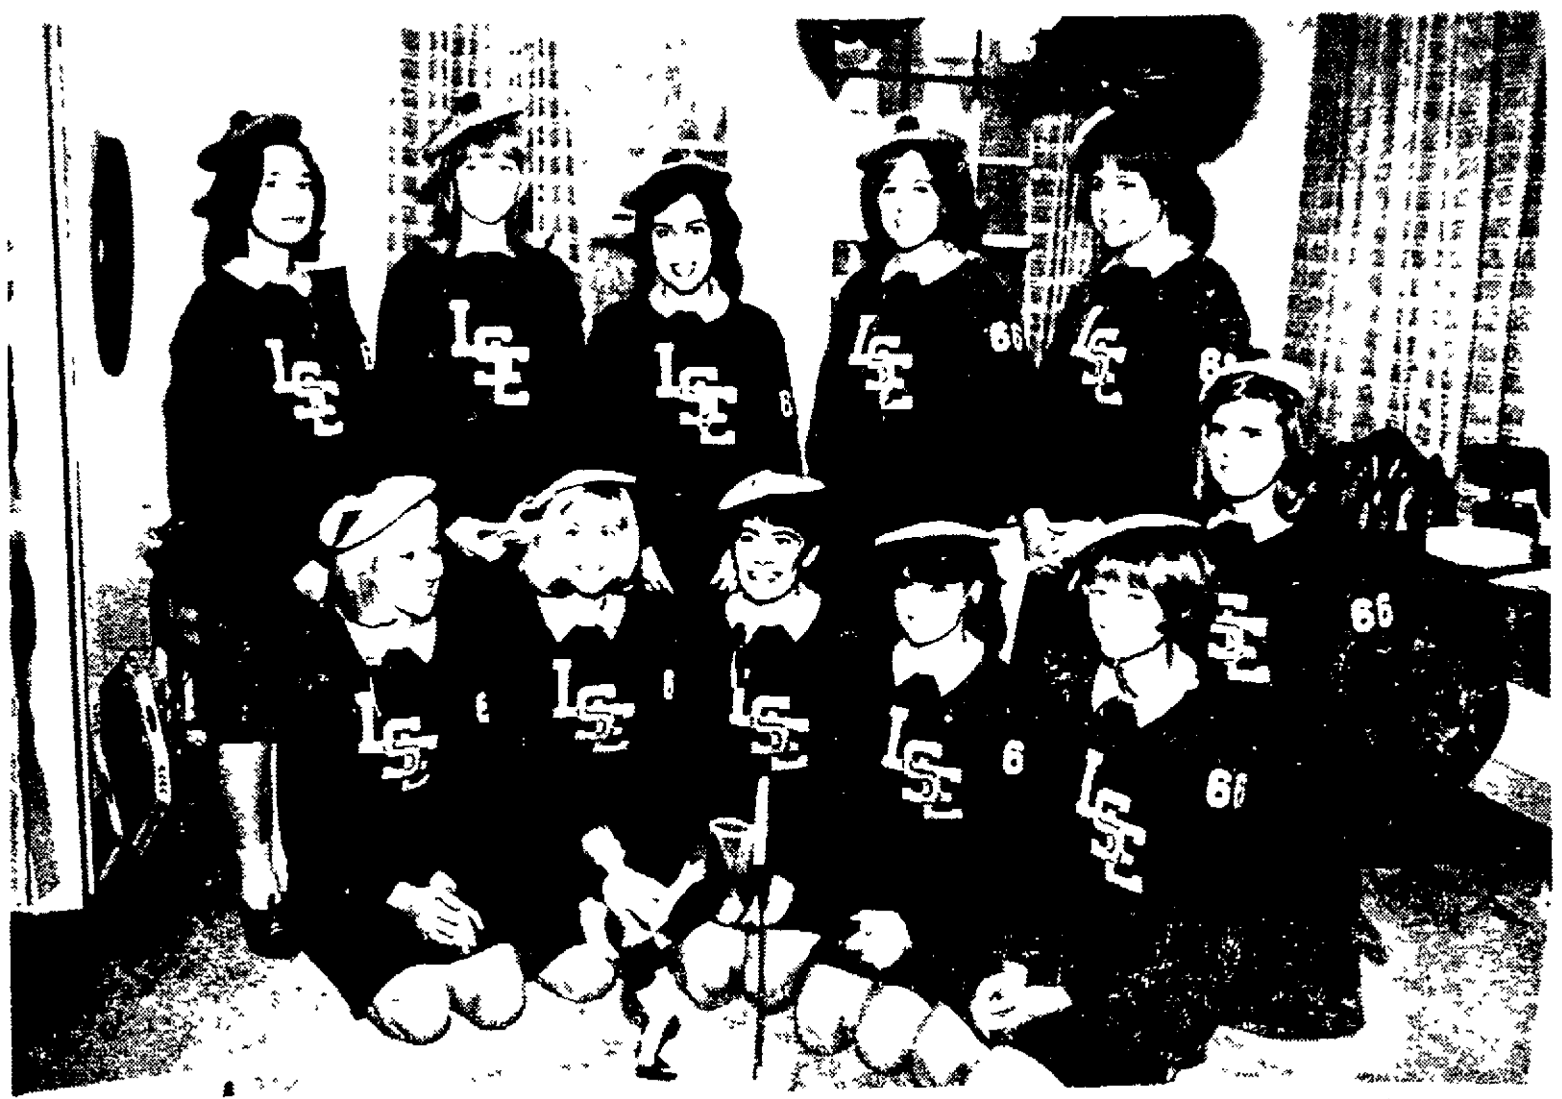
TIME
out for fun at pre-game supper



We suspect that one of the fun parties last evening served a dual purpose—It was, of course, a pre-game (basketball) party, but we have the idea that the 12 hostesses also were telling their guests, 125 Southeast High School senior girls, that it was nice to have them as classmates.

The party hostesses included Carolyn Chapin, Avery Wood, Molly O'Brien, Cindy Wagner, Nancy Thorne, Sally Olsson, Judy Wright, Mary Beth Boosalis, Vicki Heggen, Melinda Robinson, Christie Reed and Connie Gibbons.

The supper was held at the home of Carolyn Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin.

Opening lead — king of hearts.

Here is an extraordinary hand, the likes of which you seldom see. South gets to five diamonds and West leads the K-A and another heart, East having played high-low in hearts.

Declarer ruffs with the nine. East underruffing with the deuce after excruciating thought. The underruff is unusual, of course, but note that South makes the contract easily if East discards a spade or a club.

In either of these cases, South would cash the A-K of diamonds, catching the queen. If East has discarded a spade at trick three, South would cash the A-K of spades and ruff a spade, thus establishing an extra trick in spades to make the contract. If East's discard at trick three were a club, South would establish dummy's clubs to make the contract.

The underruff, while it complicates matters for South, does not prevent him from winning the rest of the tricks He has to assume that West's queen of diamonds will fall, and he also has to assume from East's strange play that East has four spades and four clubs and is trying to guard each of those suits

In line with this he plays the ace of diamonds at trick four (to see whether the diamond queen is a singleton), then cashes the A-K of spades and ruffs a spade.

Now South plays a diamond to the king, felling the queen, at which point the situation is:

South cashes the 8-3 of diamonds, whereupon East starts to wonder to himself whether he wouldn't have been better off if he had gone to the movies.

DEAR ABBY
Abigail Van Buren

DEAR ABBY: I don't have much of a problem, but I would like your opinion on this. When I paid my doctor bill, I enclosed a little note to my doctor telling him how much I appreciated his services.

A friend of mine said I was foolish for doing such a thing — that all a doctor was interested in from his patients, was the fee. I can't believe that. I thought he was such a wonderful doctor because of what he did for me I wanted him to know how I felt. Did I do wrong?

MRS. R.

DEAR MRS. R.: Not in MY book. Doctors are people, and they do more than "sell" their services. A good doctor gives comfort, compassion, encouragement, hope and peace of mind. You can pay for shots, pills, treatment and surgery. But the only way to express appreciation for that which isn't on the bill is a simple "thank you." (P. S. But don't forget to enclose your check.)

☆ ☆ ☆

DEAR ABBY: After a lot of discussion, we finally made a deal with our son and are letting him wear his hair the way he wants to. When I tell you that his hair is longer than his mother's, I am not putting you on. He is all boy, but he does help his mother in the kitchen, peeling vegetables, drying dishes, carrying out garbage, etc. This morning I found a hair about nine inches long in my breakfast food. It was his! (His mother has red hair, he has brown hair.) Don't you think this is reason enough to make him cut his hair?

GREENVILLE DAD

DEAR DAD: If the hair was NINE inches long, there's a better reason. But since you made a deal with him, don't welch. Just make him wear a hairnet when he helps his mother in the kitchen.

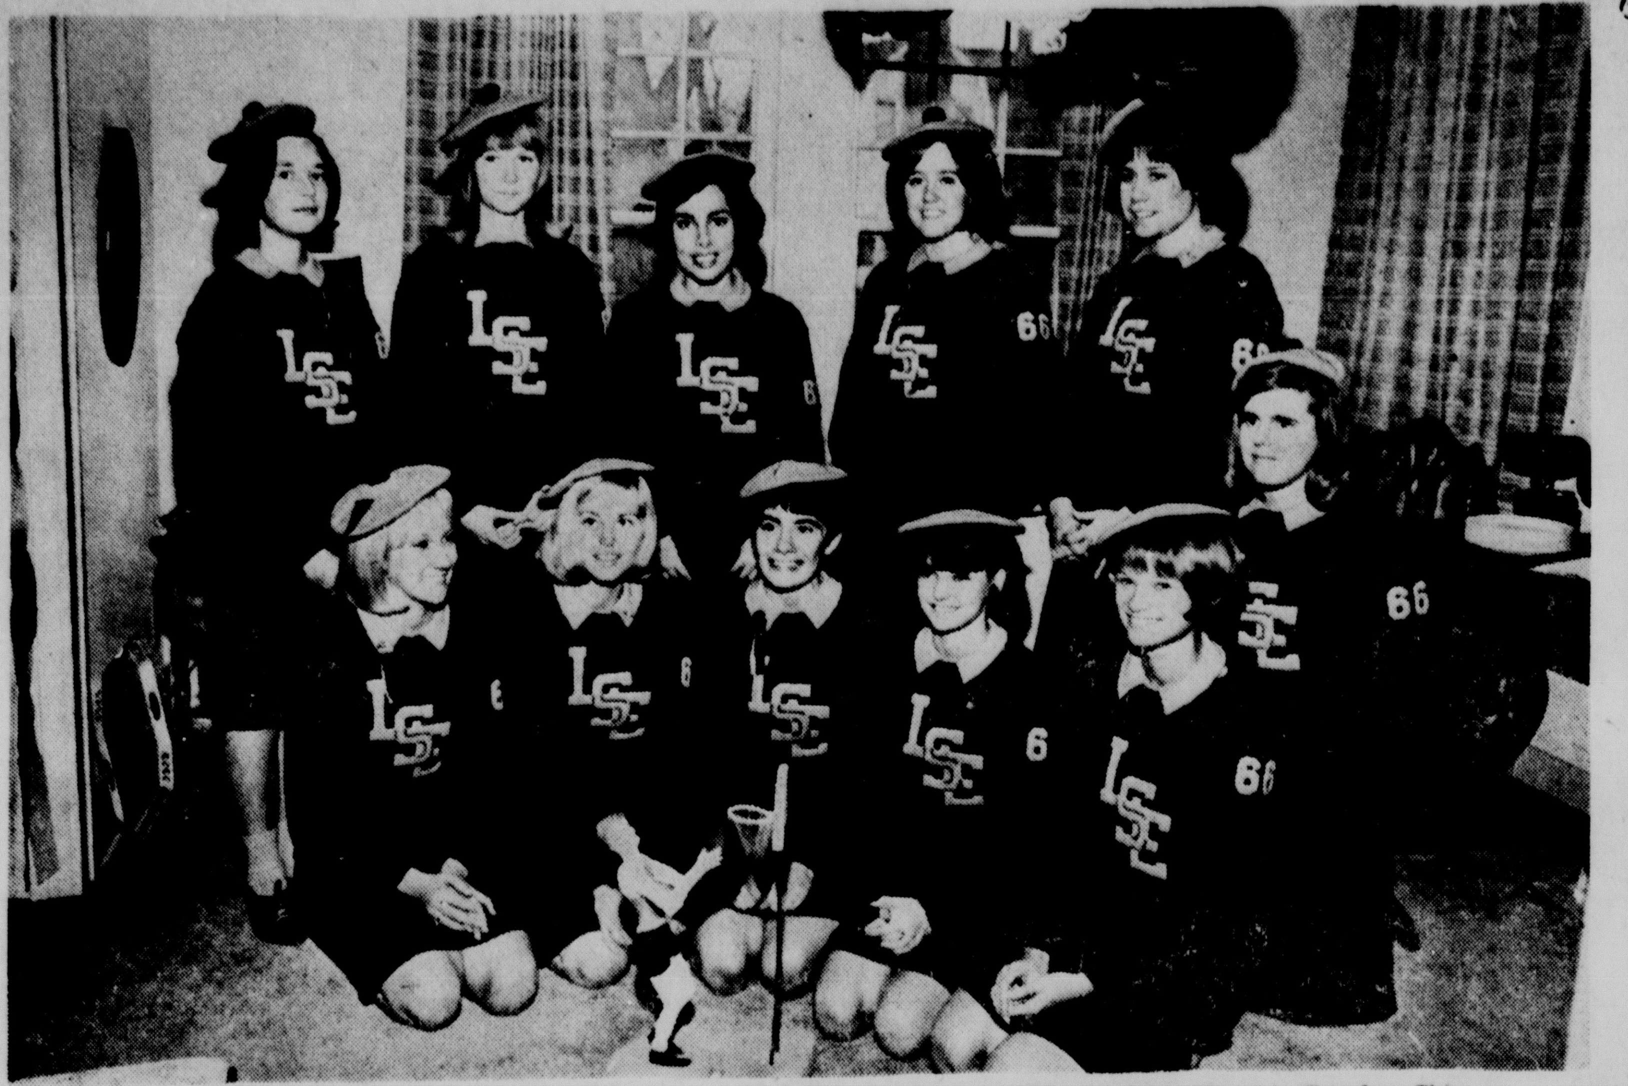
TIME
out for fun at pre-game supper



We suspect that one of the fun parties last evening served a dual purpose—It was, of course, a pre-game (basketball) party, but we have the idea that the 12 hostesses also were telling their guests, 125 Southeast High School senior girls, that it was nice to have them as classmates.

The party hostesses included Carolyn Chapin, Avery Wood, Molly O'Brien, Cindy Wagner, Nancy Thorne, Sally Olsson, Judy Wright, Mary Beth Boosalis, Vicki Heggen, Melinda Robinson, Christie Reed and Connie Gibbons.

The supper was held at the home of Carolyn Chapin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Chapin.

THERE'S news of fun in the suburban areas

Before Lincoln residents start the annual rush of activity — parties, guests and gifts—we had better catch up on the myriads of guests and traveling that went on between November 21 and December 1.

Already we are hearing of parties in the planning stage, of guests who will soon be traveling to Lincoln, or of a long awaited combination vacation-Christmas trip to visit friends or family.

But on to those Thanksgiving celebrations.

EASTRIDGE

Traveling to Lincoln last week was twice as much fun for Mr. and Mrs. George Kirk Jr. and their family of Liberal, Kan. as it might have been some other time. Mr. and Mrs. Kirk and their daughters, Susan, Sharon and Diane, celebrated the Thanksgiving holiday with Mr. Kirk's parent, Mr. and Mrs. Goerge Kirk, and Mrs. Kirk's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Larry Rider. But for Mr. Kirk Jr. it was a double celebration. Thanksgiving was his birthday.

Now to jump from November news to Christmas planning news—Mrs. John Hicks hostessed a coffee at her home Thursday. The guest of honor was Mrs. Dale Flowerday who displayed and explained the Christmas decoration she had made.

Eastridge ladies picking up a few holiday tips were Mrs. Ken Orton. Mrs. Dale Bruggeman. Mrs. Richard Freeman. Mrs. Gay Cole, Mrs. John Klein. Mrs. John Haessler, Mrs. Clayton Yeutter and Mrs. Marvin Goodding.

And another jump — back to Thanksgiving—Mr. and Mrs. Harlan Kendle and their children, Marti and Tim, motored to Littleton, Colo. to spend the holiday week. They were the houseguests of Mrs. Kendle's brother and sister-in-law, Mr. and Mrs. C. Wright, and their son Glenn.

On Wednesday another Lincoln resident, Mrs. C. V. Wright, flew to Colorado to join the two families.

SKYLINE TERRACE

Returning after a two weeks stay in New Salem, N.D. is Mrs. Edgar F. Steele and her two sons, Bruce and Joseph. The Lincoln three were the guests of Mrs. Steele's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Casper Berger.

SUNNYSIDE ACRES

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Williams will be host and hostess at a pizza party at their home Saturday night. The party-goers will be saying farewell to their neighbors Mr. and Mrs. Fredrick Lally who will be moving to Philadelphia, Penn. later this month.

Mr. and Mrs. Williams' guests are Mr. and Mrs. Jim Mertlik. Mr. and Mrs. Steve Brown. Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Behrends, Mr. and Mrs. George Tomlinson and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Spreier.

SOUTHBROOK SUMMIT

Mr. and Mrs. Curtis Sederburg went a'traveling last week. Thursday and Friday the Sederburgs and their young companions, Linda and Sue Ann, were the houseguests of Mr. Sederburg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Sederburg, at Essex, Iowa. The remainder of the weekend was spent with Mrs. Sederburg's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Campbell, in Nebraska City.

EASTBOROUGH

Wednesday evening Mr. and Mrs. Keith Erlewine will have old University of Nebraska class mates as their overnight guests. Dr. and Mrs. Dale Mitzel of Iowa City. Iowa. and their two sons will stop on their way to some visiting in Auburn.

ORMER coed is bride-elect

Announcement is being made this morning by Mr. and Mrs. F. L. Lehr of the betrothal of their daughter, Diane Maurine, to Miles W. Johnston, Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Miles W. Johnston.

The wedding will be an event of late Spring.

A former coed at Nebraska Wesleyan University, Miss Lehr is a member of Phi Mu sorority. Her fiance is a graduate of the University of Nebraska and of the university's College of Law. He is a member of Alpha Tau Omega fraternity and of Phi Delta Phi law fraternity.

Town TALK

It is a busy weekend here and there—and around and about—The spotlight, of course, is on the Lincoln Symphony Guild Headdress Ball which will be held at Hotel Lincoln this evening.

But we learned of some post-Ball fun—It seems that Mr. and Mrs. Irwin Chesen and Mr. and Mrs. Richard Duxbury are doing a bit of entertaining 'after the ball is over' (shades of a past century). Anyway, Mr. and Mrs. Chesen and Mr. and Mrs. Duxbury are to be breakfast hosts and hostesses at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chesen—Hotel Cornhusker—immediately following the Headdress affair. Sixteen guests have been invited.

* * *

And speaking of weekends and parties—On Saturday, Dec. 11, Mr. and Mrs. Richard O. Joyce and Mr. and Mrs. C. Robert Mowbray will begin the Christmas season with a party—a dinner at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Joyce.

By the way, if you know anyone who received an invitation—please ask to see it. You'll find it exceedingly original, and attractive. We'll offer a bit of information—The invitations were hung on the doors of the guests—not mailed.

Versatile Jet-Powered "Magnum 500" On Display In Lincoln Auto Show

By JOHN LEE

Rock hurler, bulldozer, flame thrower—that's the Magnum 500 jet car.

It'll also get up to 232 miles per hour in a quarter of a mile.

But that's secondary, according to builder-owner-driver Cecil Darnell.

"The people come to see the show," he says, and the hottest (literally) part of the show is the exhaust that will generate a dust storm, bend big trees and light a cigaret at 75 yards.

The car won't be pulling these stunts in Lincoln, where it's appearing as one of the feature cars of the National Custom Auto Show Saturday and Sunday at Pershing Auditorium.

Darnell, from Lansing, Mich., makes his living from building and racing exotic cars.

The Magnum and its twin, exhibited at shows and drag strips across the country, are both powered by J-46 Westinghouse jet engines, which develop 8,000 pounds of thrust and are normally found flying 7-F4 Cutlas navy fighter planes. Darnell also is experimenting with rocket power for his next creation.

He hopes to try for the land speed record at the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah next year with the car he brought to the Lincoln show.

"Our theory is light weight," explained the designer who taught himself jet and rocket propulsion at the public library.

The 22-foot racer weighs 3,600 pounds, compared with the approximately 9,000 pounds of those with which Art Arfons and Craig Breedlove have been battling for the land speed record this fall.

What's it feel like to drive? "The noise and flames are sensational," says Cecil. But on a drag strip, "the run's over so fast you don't have time to think about it. You just get started and you have to shut it off."

Conventional brakes and two huge parachutes stop the vehicle at the end of its runs—almost all the time.

At a Virginia strip, they didn't last summer.

"I went off the end and 500 feet into a pine woods, cutting off trees like a bulldozer," recalled the driver.

Darnell came out with "not a scratch, but scared to death."

His car may be the fastest, but not as radically styled as some others in the show, which will run 12 to midnight Saturday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Lincolnite Bob Campbell has his new ultra-modern Chevy-powered Model T Ford sedan on display for the first time.

Show promoter Ray Fahrner's X-Ray hand-built roadster is having an encore, and the famous Beatnik Bandit bubble-topped sportster by Ed Roth is appearing for the first time in this area.

Rounding out the lineup is a national sweepstakes winning roadster (a radical 1949 Ford), the "Crimson Critter" '32 Ford coupe and over 30 of the best cars from the midwest.

The "Run, Run, Run" Gestures combo will play for entertainment and dance contests.

NWU, MIDLAND LOSE

. . . Winning Dana, Chubbyville Meet Today

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

It will be Doane and Friends, Kansas battling for the Nebraska Wesleyan Midwest Basketball Tournament championship tonight at 9:15 p.m. at Ira J. Taylor Gymnasium.

The Tigers gained the finals with a 69-67 overtime victory over Concordia, while Friends topped Hastings, 68-59, in second round action Friday night.

In other second round play, Chubbyville ripped Midland, 94-74, and Dana whipped Nebraska Wesleyan, 80-76. Tonight has Midland facing Nebraska Wesleyan at 4 p.m., Chubbyville meeting Dana at 5:45, and Hastings taking on Concordia at 7:30 before the championship contest.

The Doane Tigers needed some extra time to dispose of Concordia, 69-67, after the regulation period ended deadlocked at 55-all.

Doane had stalled throughout the last minute-and-a-half of the game, setting up a final try. But Bill Buza's jumpshot failed, sending the game into the five minute overtime.

Sturdy senior Dennis Nelson paced the Tigers to the victory scoring four points in the overtime while rebounding and setting up needed Doane plays. With two seconds remaining in the overtime, Rob Andrew was fouled by Bulldog Ted Henning but missed his free throw chance. Concordia snared the rebound only to have the clock run out while trying to call time.

Nebraska Wesleyan hamming drought late in its contest with Dana, after a long jump-shot by NWU sophomore Jerry Motz tied the count at 70 apiece.

It was nearly three minutes later before Bill Nasi of Wesleyan hit a fielder to make it 78-72 in Dana's favor.

Dwight Tietjen then helped the Plainsmen with a field-goal and two free throws, bringing Wesleyan to within two points, 78-76, with 1:14 left in the contest.

But Dana went into a stall at that point and the Plainsmen couldn't break it until only 18 seconds remained.

A short hook by Nasi with six seconds left missed and two free throws by Dana's Gene Kruse with two seconds remaining, iced it for the visitors.

Former University of Nebraska star Al Maxey paced Chubbyville to its 94-74 victory over Midland. Maxey provided 16 points for the winners while Mike Draemel and Dick Mendenhall got 15 apiece for Midland.

Chubbyville rolled up a 43-19 halftime lead and eased on to the victory.

Hastings, last year's runner-up to Midland, held an early lead, but Friends came on strong in the closing minutes of the contest to widen the gap by as much as 16 points.

Friends was led by scrappy little guard Keith Rucas, who finished with 32 points for the evening. The effort brought his tournament point total to 59, with 27 points in the first round win over Nebraska Wesleyan.

Beatrice Whips Knights, 68-57, For Happy Debut

Outshot from the floor but good at the free throw line, Beatrice gave its basketball coach, Jake Hawley, a happy debut Friday night, taking care of mistake-prone Southeast, 68-57, before about 1,000 at Johnson Gym.

Southeast won the field goal derby, 22-21, but couldn't cope with the 26 free throws the Orangemen hit on 42 attempts. Early it looked like it wouldn't be a disadvantage to Southeast.

But the Knights, who led most of the first half, had a costly lapse on defense in the third quarter and gave Jeff Schafer room to break the Orangemen free in the opening game for both teams.

Schafer, only 6-1 but a post man, was left clear for six fielders, all within 10 feet of the basket, during the third period in which Beatrice forged to a 57-44 lead after being ahead by four, 35-31, at the halftime break. Schafer ended with 18 points for the evening.

The rest of the way it was six-footer Alan Klaus. The floor leader swished in 13 of 18 free throws (seven in the final period) to keep Beatrice in front. Adding to six field goals, Klaus had 25 points—best of the game.

Southeast held four six-point leads at the outset until Klaus began getting free-throw opportunities and John Williams downed three fielders to move the Orange to a 35-28 lead in the second quarter. Klaus' short jumper broke a 26-26 tie with 3:06 to go before the half. That was the last tie.

Schafer's three straight tallies made it 45-38 after the Knights had crept to within one, 39-38 in the third period. Two minutes later Beatrice whacked off ifve straight fielders to gain command for good, 55-41, with 1:30 to go in the tragic-for-Southeast third period.

Jim Deitemeyer ripped in 19 points for the Knights, with his shots around the basket most efefctive. This tallest Knight also worked the boards well.

Terry Culwell had 14 but from there the scorebook reads seven for Tiff Tyrell and four each for Steve Deurmyer, Bill Jennings and Gale Breed.

It was the season opener for both schools.

Omaha (UPI) — Creighton turned back St. Francis of Loretto, Pa., 84-69 Friday night for the Bluejays second victory in two games.

Tim Powers sparked the Creighton attack with 18 points in the opening half as the Bluejays took a 33-27 halftime lead.

Sam Harris got 5 quick points early in the second half to pull his team to within one point at 33-32 before Creighton found the range again and took command of the game.

Harris wound up with 28 points, 22 of them in the second half, to share scoring honors with Creighton's Powers.

It was the second defeat in as many games for St. Francis.

Creighton hit on 23 of 29 free throws, compared with 9 of 21 for St. Francis.

Clemson Slapped For Violating ACC Regulations

Greensboro, N. C. (AP)—Clemson University has been fined $2,500 by the Atlantic Coast Conference for violating the conference rule limiting football and basketball scholarships to a total of 140.

Commissioner Jim Weaver of the ACC also notified Clemson Friday that 18 members of this year's freshman football squad, who are currently receiving aid, must be withheld from competition during the 1966-67 academic year.

Weaver also ruled that should any of the 18 compete in subsequent years, Clemson must limit its aid that year to 35 incoming football prospects, less the number from the original list of 18.

Geneva Beats Uni High, 52-41

. . . TUTORS SUFFER FROM INCONSISTENCY

Geneva—Two of last season's finest basketball teams met here Friday night in the opening encounter for both quintets.

And just as a year ago, the outcome was the same. Defending Class B State Champion Geneva handed defending Class C State Champion University High a 52-41 defeat.

All-stater Bob Gratopp was once again the big point maker as he has been so often in a brilliant high school basketball career.

Gratopp got 29 points, of which 19 came in the first half.

He was more than the difference as University High suffered from inconsistency. The Tutors got only three points in a miserable first quarter and managed only six in the third period. This erased any chance for a victory by the Lincoln quintet.

First-year coach Roger Trumper was well pleased with his team despite the fact they didn't score quite as well as expected.

"I guess we were rushing our shots, but on defense we did pretty well. University High has a good ball club and any time you can hold them to 41 points you have to be playing fine defense," Trumper said.

On Gratopp's performance, the new mentor noted that his star would be playing all over the floor this season. Gratopp spent a lot of time Friday night almost as a guard in back court.

Last year Gratopp tossed in 39 points as Geneva beat University High 71-65. The Wildcats went on to post a 19-3 record en route to their state crown.

The Tutors also came back from that setback and went 21-4 on the way to their state championship.

Losing Coach Dale Snook was not too disappointed with the loss. "We got off to a bad start and started our press a little too late.

"This is typical of what an inexperienced team will do. We weren't passing good and missed too many good shots, however, our defense wasn't too bad," Snook said.

Two Geneva starters failed to get on the scoreboard. And University High got 19 points in that final fourth period off the press, but the poor production in the first and third period could never be overcome.

—BOTH TEAMS BOWL-BOUND—

UCLA, Vols Collide Today

Memphis, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee and UCLA, both unsung in September but bowl bound in December, meet here Saturday in a football game matching a leather-tough defense against an explosive offense.

The Uclans' devasting scoring punch revolves around their double-threat sophomore quarterback, Garry Beban, and the running of a fleet junior tailback, Mel Farr.

Tough, tenacious Tennessee will try to blunt this weapon with one of the nation's most rugged defenses.

Anchored by two great linebackers, Tom Fisher and All-America Frank Emanuel, the Vols have yielded an average of only 6.4 points per game.

UCLA, fifth-ranked in the nation, put together a 7-1-1 record, including a stunning last minute victory over Southern California that gave them a berth in the Rose Bowl.

The seventh-ranked Vols, 6-1-2 and headed for the Bluebonnet Bowl, lost only to Mississippi, a 14-13 cliffhanger. The ties included a 7-7 deadlock with Alabama, Nebraska's Orange Bowl foe.

The Southern California victory was a classic example of Beban's ability to score from far out. Southern California led, 16-6, with four minutes to play and a Rose Bowl bid apparently locked up. Then Beban fired two quick touchdown passes and that was the game.

Beban has passed for nine touchdowns this season. Farr, the other half of the scoring punch, has had TD runs of 58, 45, 49, and 37 yards.

Tennessee stressed pass defense this week in hopes of stopping Beban's air game.

"The boys are eager to meet UCLA, and I think they'll do a good job," said Vol Coach Doug Dickey.

UCLA will be in top physical shape for the game. Tennessee will be without the services of Bobby Frazier, All-Southeastern Conference end hobbled by a leg injury.

Sophomore quarterback Charlie Fulton, who started the first seven games, may be able to play but will not start. His replacement will be Dewey Warren, also a sophomore, who has done a creditable job as Fulton's backup man.

O. Central Rolls Over Links, 74-55

Omaha — Omaha Central took command in the third quarter and coasted to an easy 74-55 win over Lincoln High Friday night in the opener for both teams.

Jim Hunter was the big man in the Omaha Central machine as he pumped in 25 points on 10 fielders and a 5 for 7 showing at the charity stripe.

Lincoln High trailed by only 33-28 at halftime, but a 23-14 third quarter bulge for Central put them out of range.

The Links showed a balanced scoring attack in the loss. Senior guard Charles Garrett led the way with 14 counters, closely followed by Jack Highstreet and Mike Casmer with 12 and 11 respectively.

Lincoln High hosts Omaha Westside this Friday in their next encounter.

By JOHN LEE

Rock hurler, bulldozer, flame thrower—that's the Magnum 500 jet car.

It'll also get up to 232 miles per hour in a quarter of a mile.

But that's secondary, according to builder-owner-driver Cecil Darnell.

"The people come to see the show," he says, and the hottest (literally) part of the show is the exhaust that will generate a dust storm, bend big trees and light a cigaret at 75 yards.

The car won't be pulling these stunts in Lincoln, where it's appearing as one of the feature cars of the National Custom Auto Show Saturday and Sunday at Pershing Auditorium.

Darnell, from Lansing, Mich., makes his living from building and racing exotic cars.

The Magnum and its twin, exhibited at shows and drag strips across the country, are both powered by J-46 Westinghouse jet engines, which develop 8,000 pounds of thrust and are normally found flying 7-F4 Cutlas navy fighter planes. Darnell also is experimenting with rocket power for his next creation.

He hopes to try for the land speed record at the Bonneville Salt Flats in Utah next year with the car he brought to the Lincoln show.

"Our theory is light weight," explained the designer who taught himself jet and rocket propulsion at the public library.

The 22-foot racer weighs 3,600 pounds, compared with the approximately 9,000 pounds of those with which Art Arfons and Craig Breedlove have been battling for the land speed record this fall.

What's it feel like to drive? "The noise and flames are sensational," says Cecil. But on a drag strip, "the run's over so fast you don't have time to think about it. You just get started and you have to shut it off."

Conventional brakes and two huge parachutes stop the vehicle at the end of its runs—almost all the time.

At a Virginia strip, they didn't last summer.

"I went off the end and 500 feet into a pine woods, cutting off trees like a bulldozer," recalled the driver.

Darnell came out with "not a scratch, but scared to death."

His car may be the fastest, but not as radically styled as some others in the show, which will run 12 to midnight Saturday and 11 a.m. to 11 p.m. Sunday.

Lincolnite Bob Campbell has his new ultra-modern Chevy-powered Model T Ford sedan on display for the first time.

Show promoter Ray Fahrner's X-Ray hand-built roadster is having an encore, and the famous Beatnik Bandit bubble-topped sportster by Ed Roth is appearing for the first time in this area.

Rounding out the lineup is a national sweepstakes winning roadster (a radical 1949 Ford), the "Crimson Critter" '32 Ford coupe and over 30 of the best cars from the midwest.

The "Run, Run, Run" Gestures combo will play for entertainment and dance contests.

. . . Winning Dana, Chubbyville Meet Today

By TOM HENDERSON
Star Sports Writer

It will be Doane and Friends, Kansas battling for the Nebraska Wesleyan Midwest Basketball Tournament championship tonight at 9:15 p.m. at Ira J. Taylor Gymnasium.

The Tigers gained the finals with a 69-67 overtime victory over Concordia, while Friends topped Hastings, 68-59, in second round action Friday night.

In other second round play, Chubbyville ripped Midland, 94-74, and Dana whipped Nebraska Wesleyan, 80-76. Tonight has Midland facing Nebraska Wesleyan at 4 p.m., Chubbyville meeting Dana at 5:45, and Hastings taking on Concordia at 7:30 before the championship contest.

The Doane Tigers needed some extra time to dispose of Concordia, 69-67, after the regulation period ended deadlocked at 55-all.

Doane had stalled throughout the last minute-and-a-half of the game, setting up a final try. But Bill Buza's jumpshot failed, sending the game into the five minute overtime.

Sturdy senior Dennis Nelson paced the Tigers to the victory scoring four points in the overtime while rebounding and setting up needed Doane plays. With two seconds remaining in the overtime, Rob Andrew was fouled by Bulldog Ted Henning but missed his free throw chance. Concordia snared the rebound only to have the clock run out while trying to call time.

Nebraska Wesleyan haming drought late in its contest with Dana, after a long jump-shot by NWU sophomore Jerry Motz tied the count at 70 apiece.

It was nearly three minutes later before Bill Nasi of Wesleyan hit a fielder to make it 78-72 in Dana's favor.

Dwight Tietjen then helped the Plainsmen with a field-goal and two free throws, bringing Wesleyan to within two points, 78-76, with 1:14 left in the contest.

But Dana went into a stall at that point and the Plainsmen couldn't break it until only 18 seconds remained.

A short hook by Nasi with six seconds left missed and two free throws by Dana's Gene Kruse with two seconds remaining, iced it for the visitors.

Former University of Nebraska star Al Maxey paced Chubbyville to its 94-74 victory over Midland. Maxey provided 16 points for the winners while Mike Draemel and Dick Mendenhall got 15 apiece for Midland.

Chubbyville rolled up a 43-19 halftime lead and eased on to the victory.

Hastings, last year's runner-up to Midland, held an early lead, but Friends came on strong in the closing minutes of the contest to widen the gap by as much as 16 points.

Friends was led by scrappy little guard Keith Rucas, who finished with 32 points for the evening. The effort brought his tournament point total to 59, with 27 points in the first round win over Nebraska Wesleyan.

Beatrice Whips Knights, 68-57, For Happy Debut

Outshot from the floor but good at the free throw line, Beatrice gave its basketball coach, Jake Hawley, a happy debut Friday night, taking care of mistake-prone Southeast, 68-57, before about 1,000 at Johnson Gym.

Southeast won the field goal derby, 22-21, but couldn't cope with the 26 free throws the Orangemen hit on 42 attempts. Early it looked like it wouldn't be a disadvantage to Southeast.

But the Knights, who led most of the first half, had a costly lapse on defense in the third quarter and gave Jeff Schafer room to break the Orangemen free in the opening game for both teams.

Schafer, only 6-1 but a post man, was left clear for six fielders, all within 10 feet of the basket, during the third period in which Beatrice forged to a 57-44 lead after being ahead by four, 35-31, at the halftime break. Schafer ended with 18 points for the evening.

The rest of the way it was six-footer Alan Klaus. The floor leader swished in 13 of 18 free throws (seven in the final period) to keep Beatrice in front. Adding to six field goals, Klaus had 25 points—best of the game.

Southeast held four six-point leads at the outset until Klaus began getting free-throw opportunities and John Williams downed three fielders to move the Orange to a 35-28 lead in the second quarter. Klaus' short jumper broke a 26-26 tie with 3:06 to go before the half. That was the last tie.

Schafer's three straight tallies made it 45-38 after the Knights had crept to within one, 39-38 in the third period. Two minutes later Beatrice whacked off ifve straight fielders to gain command for good, 55-41, with 1:30 to go in the tragic-for-Southeast third period.

Jim Deitemeyer ripped in 19 points for the Knights, with his shots around the basket most efefctive. This tallest Knight also worked the boards well.

Terry Culwell had 14 but from there the scorebook reads seven for Tiff Tyrell and four each for Steve Deurmyer, Bill Jennings and Gale Breed.

It was the season opener for both schools.

Clemson Slapped For Violating ACC Regulations

Greensboro, N. C. (AP)—Clemson University has been fined $2,500 by the Atlantic Coast Conference for violating the conference rule limiting football and basketball scholarships to a total of 140.

Commissioner Jim Weaver of the ACC also notified Clemson Friday that 18 members of this year's freshman football squad, who are currently receiving aid, must be withheld from competition during the 1966-67 academic year.

Weaver also ruled that should any of the 18 compete in subsequent years, Clemson must limit its aid that year to 35 incoming football prospects, less the number from the original list of 18.

Geneva Beats Uni High, 52-41

. . . TUTORS SUFFER FROM INCONSISTENCY

Geneva—Two of last season's finest basketball teams met here Friday night in the opening encounter for both quintets.

And just as a year ago, the outcome was the same. Defending Class B State Champion Geneva handed defending Class C State Champion University High a 52-41 defeat.

All-stater Bob Gratopp was once again the big point maker as he has been so often in a brilliant high school basketball career.

Gratopp got 29 points, of which 19 came in the first half.

He was more than the difference as University High suffered from inconsistency. The Tutors got only three points in a miserable first quarter and managed only six in the third period. This erased any chance for a victory by the Lincoln quintet.

First-year coach Roger Trumper was well pleased with his team despite the fact they didn't score quite as well as expected.

"I guess we were rushing our shots, but on defense we did pretty well. University High has a good ball club and any time you can hold them to 41 points you have to be playing fine defense," Trumper said.

On Gratopp's performance, the new mentor noted that his star would be playing all over the floor this season. Gratopp spent a lot of time Friday night almost as a guard in back court.

Last year Gratopp tossed in 39 points as Geneva beat University High 71-65. The Wildcats went on to post a 19-3 record en route to their state crown.

The Tutors also came back from that setback and went 21-4 on the way to their state championship.

Losing Coach Dale Snook was not too disappointed with the loss. "We got off to a bad start and started our press a little too late.

"This is typical of what an inexperienced team will do. We weren't passing good and missed too many good shots, however, our defense wasn't too bad," Snook said.

Two Geneva starters failed to get on the scoreboard. And University High got 19 points in that final fourth period off the press, but the poor production in the first and third period could never be overcome.

O. Central Rolls Over Links, 74-55

Omaha — Omaha Central took command in the third quarter and coasted to an easy 74-55 win over Lincoln High Friday night in the opener for both teams.

Jim Hunter was the big man in the Omaha Central machine as he pumped in 25 points on 10 fielders and a 5 for 7 showing at the charity stripe.

Lincoln High trailed by only 33-28 at halftime, but a 23-14 third quarter bulge for Central put them out of range.

The Links showed a balanced scoring attack in the loss. Senior guard Charles Garrett led the way with 14 counters, closely followed by Jack Highstreet and Mike Casmer with 12 and 11 respectively.

Lincoln High hosts Omaha Westside this Friday in their next encounter.

—BOTH TEAMS BOWL-BOUND—

UCLA, Vols Collide Today

Memphis, Tenn. (AP)—Tennessee and UCLA, both unsung in September but bowl bound in December, meet here Saturday in a football game matching a leather-tough defense against an explosive offense.

The Uclans' devasting scoring punch revolves around their double-threat sophomore quarterback, Garry Beban, and the running of a fleet junior tailback, Mel Farr.

Tough, tenacious Tennessee will try to blunt this weapon with one of the nation's most rugged defenses.

Anchored by two great linebackers, Tom Fisher and All-America Frank Emanuel, the Vols have yielded an average of only 6.4 points per game.

UCLA, fifth-ranked in the nation, put together a 7-1-1 record, including a stunning last minute victory over Southern California that gave them a berth in the Rose Bowl.

The seventh-ranked Vols, 6-1-2 and headed for the Bluebonnet Bowl, lost only to Mississippi, a 14-13 cliffhanger. The ties included a 7-7 deadlock with Alabama, Nebraska's Orange Bowl foe.

The Southern California victory was a classic example of Beban's ability to score from far out. Southern California led, 16-6, with four minutes to play and a Rose Bowl bid apparently locked up. Then Beban fired two quick touchdown passes and that was the game.

Beban has passed for nine touchdowns this season. Farr, the other half of the scoring punch, has had TD runs of 58, 45, 49, and 37 yards.

Tennessee stressed pass defense this week in hopes of stopping Beban's air game.

"The boys are eager to meet UCLA, and I think they'll do a good job," said Vol Coach Doug Dickey.

UCLA will be in top physical shape for the game. Tennessee will be without the services of Bobby Frazier, All-Southeastern Conference end hobbled by a leg injury.

Sophomore quarterback Charlie Fulton, who started the first seven games, may be able to play but will not start. His replacement will be Dewey Warren, also a sophomore, who has done a creditable job as Fulton's backup man.

Seward Concordia Hits Cross-Town Foe, 62-58

. . . 1ST WIN OVER RIVAL IN SIX YEARS

By JHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward—Concordia High School led all the way to edge Seward High 62-58 here Friday night in the opener for both.

Raider Coach Bob Baden hopes it's an omen.

The last time Concordia beat its cross-town rival was six years ago.

That team went on to great heights—a State Tournament victory in Class C.

"We can always hope, anyhow." the young mentor laughed after his wards had held off a late Seward challenge.

"We'll play better," he predicted, but gave plenty of credit to the spunky foe. "They played beautifully tonight—like a bunch of hornets."

Four starters are back at Concordia from last year's 16-7 state tourney team.

Baden was comfortable in the third period as the Raiders opened up to 41-28, with 3:52 left

Duane Free sparked the surge, getting 11 of his 15 points in that period and hitting a three-tally play to build the brief 13-point margin.

But Seward, led by Dave Skolnik who ended up with 19 for the game high, repeatedly got within five points in the final frame and made the spread four at the end on Wes Walden's jumper.

But it was too late. Free had made good on two attempts from the free throw line with 17 seconds to play to ice the contest.

"Free was a big surprise," admitted Baden. "He wasn't supposed to be a starter."

The coach indicated regular, John Haak, ineligible this week, will "have his work cut out for him" when he returns next week to battle Free for the post.

Concordia jumped to an 8-1 lead in the first quarter and held out all the way, following the Bluejays to get no closer than two points.

But Rod Felix, in his first season as head coach for Seward, wasn't disappointed.

"We had three more field goals than they did," he pointed out, and noticed that his team's speed and defense was "stronger than I thought."

Dartmouth Coach Considering Grid Position At Iowa

Hanover, N.H. (AP)—Bob Blackman, coach of Dartmouth's undefeated Ivy League football champions, said Friday he is seriously considering an offer to become head football coach at the University of Iowa

"The offer is extremely favorable," Blackman told the Associated Press.

Blackman visited the Iowa campus Wednesday and Thursday and said he was "extremely impressed."

"I think I'd be happier out there," he said.

"I've had offers before but this is the first time I actually went to another school."

Fairbury JC Dumps Kemper

Fairbury (AP)—Fairbury Junior College whipped Kemper Military Academy of Missouri, 77-58, Friday night in the basketball opener for both schools, an Interstate Conference contest.

The Bombers went ahead to stay with five minutes remaining in the first half. Fairbury made it a rout late in the game.

Bob Swadon scored 20 points and Mike Backer 18 for the winners. Pete Loehr of Kemper was high for the game with 21.

Peru Nudges Foe In 66-65 Thriller

Peru (AP)—Peru State College clung to a slender one point lead through the last three minutes to edge Northwest Missouri State 66-65 Friday night.

A jump shot by Rod Snodgrass with 3:27 left put the Bobcats into a 58-57 lead but the game wasn't decided until the last 11 seconds when Wayne Heine scored a lay-up to cinch the victory.

Snodgrass tallied 21 to lead Peru. Dave Remund wound up with 16 for the Bearcats.

The loss snapped the Celtics' five-game winning streak and was their first home defeat of the season after nine victories.

Team Owner Dies During 76-er Tilt

Boston (AP) — Co-owner Isaac Ike Richman, 52, of the Philadelphia 76ers collapsed and died Friday night during the early minutes of a National Basketball Association game against the Boston Celtics.

Richman was taken to Massachusetts General Hospital where he was pronounced dead on arrival, presumably after suffering a heart attack.

Richman was sitting on the 76ers bench, next to coach Dolph Schayes, when he collapsed. He was attended by Boston's team physician, Dr. John Dougherty.

McLaren Near Record In Road Race Warmup

Nasaau, Bahamas (AP)—Bruce McLaren of New Zealand was clocked just under the course record Thursday as some of the top cars on the world road racing circuit warmed up for Sunday's 252-mile International Trophy race.

McLaren, who races out of Sulbiton, England, was timed at 106.160 miles per hour for one lap over the 4½-mile Oakes Field course in an Oldsmobile-powered Elva. The official single lap record is 106.578 m.p.h., set last year by Roger Penske of Gladwyn, Pa., in a Chaparrel.

Matson Receives '65 Track Award

Washington (AP)—Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the first man to throw the shot more than 70 feet, was awarded the L. DiBenedetto Award Friday for the most outstanding male track and field performance of 1965.

Matson set a world's record when he tossed the shot 70 feet, 7 inches last May 8 at College Station, Tex. He had 274 points in the selection committee.

Runner-up was distance runner Billy Mills, with 170 points, for setting a world's record in the six-mile run last June 27. Ralph Boston, who set a world's broad jump record, was third with 119 points.

The award is named for a late AAU president from New Orleans.

Pratt Junior College Thumps McCook, 95-68

Pratt, Kan. (AP) — An inexperienced McCook Junior College basketball team bowed to Pratt Junior College Friday night, 95-68.

The Beavers sped to an early 20 point lead during the first half and McCook maintained that margin but mental errors kept the Indians from catching up.

Florida City Applies For NAFL Franchise

Washington (AP)—The application of St. Petersburg, Fla., for a 1966 franchise in the North American Football League has been tentatively approved by league officials.

League Commissioner James Hamer said Friday that if the franchise is granted by a unanimous vote of the NAFL executive committee Jan. 8, the Florida club would become the seventh in the league. NAFL officials voted earlier to expand to at least eight teams by Feb. 1, 1966.

Fremont Surprises McCook Club, 61-39

. . . DRAEMEL GUNS DEFENSE

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Fremont—A pressure defense, led by Jeff Draemel, Tom Causey and Jon Boettner, paved the way for Fremont to surprise rangy McCook, 61-39, Friday night.

The Tigers, with no starters as tall as McCook's shortest regular (6-2 Lenny Stelmach), made effective use of a tight man-to-man defense as they never let the Bison take advantage of their height.

The host club made what proved to be its winning spurt late in the first quarter with Boettner, Draemel and Causey triggering a 12-point burst that broke an 8-8 deadlock and sent the Tigers ahead 20-8.

McCook, laboring on offense, never got closer than seven points after that.

The whole load for McCook was carried by Ray Harr, only returning regular from last year's second-ranked Class A club. He finished with 21 points.

Dennis Weinhold, a 6-7 transfer, was next in line with eight, unable to shake loose against the Fremont defense.

Draemel, a smooth 5-11 senior, led the Fremont attack with 19 points. He got only two fielders, but dropped in 15 of 16 foul shots.

Causey, a 5-11 junior, hit for 15 points, getting nine as the Tigers spurted ahead in the first quarter.

Seward Concordia Hits Cross-Town Foe, 62-58

. . . 1ST WIN OVER RIVAL IN SIX YEARS

By JHN LEE
Outstate Nebraska Bureau

Seward—Concordia High School led all the way to edge Seward High 62-58 here Friday night in the opener for both.

Raider Coach Bob Baden hopes it's an omen.

The last time Concordia beat its cross-town rival was six years ago.

That team went on to great heights—a State Tournament victory in Class C.

"We can always hope, anyhow," the young mentor laughed after his wards had held off a late Seward challenge.

"We'll play better," he predicted, but gave plenty of credit to the spunky foe. "They played beautifully tonight—like a bunch of hornets."

Four starters are back at Concordia from last year's 16-7 state tourney team.

Baden was comfortable in the third period as the Raiders opened up to 41-28, with 3:52 left.

Duane Free sparked the surge, getting 11 of his 15 points in that period and hitting a three-tally play to build the brief 13-point margin.

But Seward, led by Dave Skolnik who ended up with 19 for the game high, repeatedly got within five points in the final frame and made the spread four at the end on Wes Walden's jumper.

But it was too late. Free had made good on two attempts from the free throw line with 17 seconds to play to ice the contest.

"Free was a big surprise," admitted Baden. "He wasn't supposed to be a starter."

The coach indicated regular, John Haak, ineligible this week, will "have his work cut out for him" when he returns next week to battle Free for the post.

Concordia jumped to an 8-1 lead in the first quarter and held out all the way, following the Bluejays to get no closer than two points.

But Rod Felix, in his first season as head coach for Seward, wasn't disappointed.

"We had three more field goals than they did," he pointed out, and noticed that his team's speed and defense was "stronger than I thought."

Matson Receives '65 Track Award

Washington (AP)—Randy Matson of Texas A&M, the first man to throw the shot more than 70 feet, was awarded the L. DiBenedetto Award Friday for the most outstanding male track and field performance of 1965.

Matson set a world's record when he tossed the shot 70 feet, 7 inches last May 8 at College Station, Tex. He had 274 points in the selection committee.

Runner-up was distance runner Billy Mills, with 170 points, for setting a world's record in the six-mile run last June 27. Ralph Boston, who set a world's broad jump record, was third with 119 points.

The award is named for a late AAU president from New Orleans.

Pratt Junior College Thumps McCook, 95-68

Pratt, Kan. (AP) — An inexperienced McCook Junior College basketball team bowed to Pratt Junior College Friday night, 95-68.

The Beavers sped to an early 20 point lead during the first half and McCook maintained that margin but mental errors kept the Indians from catching up.

Florida City Applies For NAFL Franchise

Washington (AP)—The application of St. Petersburg, Fla., for a 1966 franchise in the North American Football League has been tentatively approved by league officials.

League Commissioner James Hamer said Friday that if the franchise is granted by a unanimous vote of the NAFL executive committee Jan. 8, the Florida club would become the seventh in the league. NAFL officials voted earlier to expand to at least eight teams by Feb. 1, 1966.

Fremont Surprises McCook Club, 61-39

. . . DRAEMEL GUNS DEFENSE

By DON FORSYTHE
Prep Sports Writer

Fremont—A pressure defense, led by Jeff Draemel, Tom Causey and Jon Boettner, paved the way for Fremont to surprise rangy McCook, 61-39, Friday night.

The Tigers, with no starters as tall as McCook's shortest regular (6-2 Lenny Stelmach), made effective use of a tight man-to-man defense as they never let the Bison take advantage of their height.

The host club made what proved to be its winning spurt late in the first quarter with Boettner, Draemel and Causey triggering a 12-point burst that broke an 8-8 deadlock and sent the Tigers ahead 20-8.

McCook, laboring on offense, never got closer than seven points after that.

The whole load for McCook was carried by Ray Harr, only returning regular from last year's second-ranked Class A club. He finished with 21 points.

Dennis Weinhold, a 6-7 transfer, was next in line with eight, unable to shake loose against the Fremont defense.

Draemel, a smooth 5-11 senior, led the Fremont attack with 19 points. He got only two fielders, but dropped in 15 of 16 foul shots.

Causey, a 5-11 junior, hit for 15 points, getting nine as the Tigers spurted ahead in the first quarter.

Colts 4-Point Pick Over Bears

. . . AFL, NFL WESTERN TITLES MAY BE DECIDED

By MIKE RATHET

New York (AP)—The two remaining titles in pro football can be clinched this weekend with Baltimore and San Diego within striking distance of the undecided Western Division crowns.

The Colts can wrap up the NFL's Western championship by downing Chicago, if Green Bay loses to Minnesota. The Chargers can finish off the AFL's Western race by beating New York, provided Oakland loses to Denver.

That's if you can believe the peerless picker who pooped out last week with a 4-4 record, leaving the season mark 71-43-6 for a .623. Here we go again all games Sunday unless noted:

National League

Baltimore 35, Chicago 31 — The loss of defensive end Ordell Braase could hurt the Colts, who shut off the Bears' running game in a previous 26-21 victory—Chicago's only loss in the last eight games.

The Colts have had 10 days to get ready for this one—and Johnny Unitas is due for a big day.

Green Bay 21, Minnesota 17 — The Packers, now 1½ games behind Baltimore, will be looking to stay in the race for a head-on shot at Colts Dec. 12. Green Bay leads NFL in pass defense and Vikings had to try another quarterback last week, bringing in Ron VanderKelen for Fran Tarkenton.

Cleveland 28, Washington 14 14—The Browns have their second straight Eastern crown tucked away but will undoubtedly try to give the home folks a final show. Jim Brown is one touchdown away for the NFL record of 20.

New York 35, Pittsburgh 21 —The Giants, tied with St. Louis and Washington for the runnerup spot in the East, are pinning their hopes on a shot at the Playoff Bowl for second-place teams. The Steelers shouldn't be able to stand in their way, even with Bill Nelsen back at quarterback.

San Francisco 28, Detroit 24—John Brodie, who passed for five touchdowns against Minnesota last week, should give the 49ers the edge. Milt Plum is passing well for Lions again but there isn't enough offense to match San Francisco.

St. Louis 24, Los Angeles 20 —Charley Johnson, who returned at quarterback for the Cardinals last week, should be ready to hit his stride again. The Rams beat Green Bay last week with Roman Gabriel at quarterback instead of Bill Munson.

Philadelphia 35, Dallas 28— Norm Snead, fully recovered from a knee injury, has been passing the opposition silly for the Eagles. The Cowboys were unable to hold a 24-6 lead against Washington last week.

American League

San Diego 35, New York 24 —Keith Lincoln goes back in at fullback for the Chargers, who will test how far the Jets have progressed since Joe Namath took over as their No. 1 quarterback. Chargers have too much talent.

Oakland 31, Denver 20— Rookies Larry Todd and Fred Biletnikoff are becoming key figures in Raiders' late drive. The defense however, will have to contend with Cookie Gilchrist, trying to overtake San Diego's Paul Lowe in rushing race.

Buffalo 28, Houston 17—The Bills have clinched their second straight Eastern title but they will be trying out a new running back combination with Bobby Smith at halfback, Wray Carlton at fullback and Billy Joe resting.

Bobby Williams Signs With St. Louis Cards

St. Louis, Mo. (AP) — Former Lincoln High grid star Bobby Williams, 6-1, 185-pound offensive and defensive back at Central State College, Edmond, Okla., signed a football contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Friday.

Charles Bryant, 6-1, 270-pound fullback from Allen University, Columbia, S.C., was also signed by the Cards.

Lincoln Named As Site Of '67 AAU Mat Meet

Washington, D.C.—The 1967 national Amateur Athletic Association wrestling meet was awarded to Lincoln Friday, marking the first time in history the meet has been scheduled for the same city two years in a row.

The 1966 meet already is slated for Pershing Auditorium in Lincoln in April.

Lincoln wrestling promoter Newt Copple, chariman of the sponsoring Midwest Association of the AAU, secured the meet again against bidding from Toledo, O., Detroit, Mich., and the New York City Athletic Club at the national AAU convention in Washington.

Colts 4-Point Pick Over Bears

. . . AFL, NFL WESTERN TITLES MAY BE DECIDED

By MIKE RATHET

New York (AP)—The two remaining titles in pro football can be clinched this weekend with Baltimore and San Diego within striking distance of the undecided Western Division crowns.

The Colts can wrap up the NFL's Western championship by downing Chicago, if Green Bay loses to Minnesota. The Chargers can finish off the AFL's Western race by beating New York, provided Oakland loses to Denver.

That's if you can believe the peerless picker who pooped out last week with a 4-4 record, leaving the season mark 71-43-6 for a .623. Here we go again all games Sunday unless noted:

National League

Baltimore 35, Chicago 31 — The loss of defensive end Ordell Braase could hurt the Colts, who shut off the Bears' running game in a previous 26-21 victory—Chicago's only loss in the last eight games.

The Colts have had 10 days to get ready for this one—and Johnny Unitas is due for a big day.

Green Bay 21, Minnesota 17 — The Packers, now 1½ games behind Baltimore, will be looking to stay in the race for a head-on shot at Colts Dec. 12. Green Bay leads NFL in pass defense and Vikings had to try another quarterback last week, bringing in Ron VanderKelen for Fran Tarkenton.

Cleveland 28, Washington 14—The Browns have their second straight Eastern crown tucked away but will undoubtedly try to give the home folks a final show. Jim Brown is one touchdown away for the NFL record of 20.

New York 35, Pittsburgh 21—The Giants, tied with St. Louis and Washington for the runnerup spot in the East, are pinning their hopes on a shot at the Playoff Bowl for second-place teams. The Steelers shouldn't be able to stand in their way, even with Bill Nelsen back at quarterback.

San Francisco 28, Detroit 24—John Brodie, who passed for five touchdowns against Minnesota last week, should give the 49ers the edge. Milt Plum is passing well for Lions again but there isn't enough offense to match San Francisco.

St. Louis 24, Los Angeles 20—Charley Johnson, who returned at quarterback for the Cardinals last week, should be ready to hit his stride again. The Rams beat Green Bay last week with Roman Gabriel at quarterback instead of Bill Munson.

Philadelphia 35, Dallas 28—Norm Snead, fully recovered from a knee injury, has been passing the opposition silly for the Eagles. The Cowboys were unable to hold a 24-6 lead against Washington last week.

American League

San Diego 35, New York 24—Keith Lincoln goes back in at fullback for the Chargers, who will test how far the Jets have progressed since Joe Namath took over as their No. 1 quarterback. Chargers have too much talent.

Oakland 31, Denver 20—Rookies Larry Todd and Fred Biletnikoff are becoming key figures in Raiders' late drive. The defense however, will have to contend with Cookie Gilchrist, trying to overtake San Diego's Paul Lowe in rushing race.

Buffalo 28, Houston 17—The Bills have clinched their second straight Eastern title but they will be trying out a new running back combination with Bobby Smith at halfback, Wray Carlton at fullback and Billy Joe resting.

Bobby Williams Signs With St. Louis Cards

St. Louis, Mo. (AP) — Former Lincoln High grid star Bobby Williams, 6-1, 185-pound offensive and defensive back at Central State College, Edmond, Okla., signed a football contract with the St. Louis Cardinals Friday.

Charles Bryant, 6-1, 270-pound fullback from Allen University, Columbia, S.C., was also signed by the Cards.

Norton Tells Committee Power Needs Regulation

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska Power Review Board Chairman William Norton of Osceola told a legislative study committee Friday that the Unicameral will have to "face up" to the need for a regulatory power rate commission in the near future.

Public power in Nebraska, he said, is "a fiction....It is private power operating under the guise of public power."

Very few power agencies in the state are "operating for the good of the public,' Norton told the lawmakers.

Instead, he said, they are concerned with "the furtherance of their own districts. They are interested in protecting themselves."

Problem 'Administrative'

Norton said there is nothing wrong with Nebraska's public power system. The problem, he said, is administrative.

Enactment of a wholesale electric consolidation bill by the 1965 Legislature was "in the best interests of the State of Nebraska," Norton declared.

The measure, LB764, would consolidate the generation and transmission operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigtion District.

Norton appeared before the committee along with Power Board member Ed Crowley of Kearney.

Earlier, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative informed the senators that its 23 rural district members can obtain all their power supply growth requirements through May 1971 in the form of low-cost energy from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Can't Transmit

But, G & T General Manager Dil Blatchford of Columbus said, the rural districts cannot transmit the energy to their customers because the Nebraska Public Power System refuses to wheel the purchased power over its grid system.

NPPS, he said, is "trying to force us to extend our contracts" with it to buy all future load growth from NPPS, rather than from outside sources.

Rurals have now reached the equity level of their present contracts with NPPS, meaning their demand has equaled total contractual commitments.

NPPS is assessing rural districts penalties for power which they receive above the equity level, Blatchford said, but rurals are refusing to pay them.

Three Efforts

G I T, he said, made three separate efforts to obtain additional power commitments before the equity level was reached, but NPPS ignored its requests.

The penalties against rural districts amounted to $49,000 in September alone, he noted.

Assessment of penalties, refusal to wheel outside purchases and "other harassments" are all intended to tie the rural districts to NPPS as "captive customers," Blatchford alleged.

The committee will continue its conferences with power districts in January, Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City said.

Morrison To Approve Land For Recreation

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday he will authorize the condemnation of 120 acres in Buffalo County for the Kearney State Recreation Area subject to his consulting with the attorney general on any legal problems.

In a hearing continued from last month, the State Game Commission requested the governor's permission to proceed with eminent domain as authorized under LB554 of the 1965 Legislature.

Owners of the property opposed the action, contending the acres to be taken are excessive to public need and urging that the commission could not legally attempt bona fide negotiations for purchase prior to a court-ordered partition sale set for Dec. 21.

Morrison discarded the "exclusive taking" charge, pointing out that the Legislature set public policy on what and how much land was needed for recreation by its enactment of LB554.

Delay Suggested

However, the governor suggested the Game Commission delay any eminent domain proceedings until after the partition sale.

"If the sale is used by the owners to drive up the land's price," he said, "the commission in its eminent domain action will have opportunity to present any evidence of collusion."

Duane Wolf, an attorney for one of the owners, suggested that bidding by the state at public auction would only determine the land's real worth.

Bidding Questioned

But Frank Foote, Game Commission employe, questioned whether the department could bid at public auction.

Commission spokesmen told Morrison the Kearney recreation area is under 80 acres and is insufficient for current recreation and camping needs and will become more acute when Interstate 80 is completed.

Dr. Frazer Is Elected Society's Secretary Again

Chicago (AP)—Dr. John Walker of Kansas City was installed Friday as president of the Radiological Society of North America to succeed Dr. Robert Morton of Fort Worth, Tex.

Dr. Walker was elected to the post at last year's convention.

The president-elect who will take office next year is Dr. Harold Jacobsen of New York City.

Other new officers are Dr. Seymour Oschner of New Orleans, first vice president; Dr. David Kirsh, Miami, second vice president; Dr. Vernon Bolton, Colorado Springs, Colo., third vice president; Dr. Reynold Brown, San Francisco, director. Dr. Maurice Frazer, Lincoln, was reelected secretary-treasurer.

PLAMBECK . . . presents award to Bill Mann and Epp.

Lincoln Kiwanis Given Ag Award

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Permanent possession of the Nebraska-Iowa District 12 Kiwanis Club agricultural and conservation sweepstake award was presented to the Lincoln Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday.

In a special farm-city program, district Governor Herb Plambeck of Des Moines, Iowa, termed the award "The top award presented to the 135 clubs in the Nebraska-Iowa division."

Plambeck noted that Lincoln is recognized as the "fountainhood of Kiwanis" and that Kiwanis emphasis on agriculture has been constant in Lincoln since the first club was formed here in September 1919.

Among the many citations mentioned by Plambeck that included programs which helped win the sweepstake award, he noted the following projects,

—Established livestock breeding projects.

—Published the annual Agricultural Conservation Handbook for Lancaster County.

—Carried out a golden anniversary tree planting project.

—Held a 45th annual 4-H club picnic for over 500 4-H youth.

—Distributed 550 copies of "You and the Law" to the state Future Farmers of American convention.

—Furnished five science lab sets to the Lancaster 4-H council.

—Provided a scholarship to a student to attend the Farm Short Course at the University of Nebraska.

Plambeck asked for a closer observation of future land use, noting that more than 4,000 acres a day of agirculture land is being taken for other uses.

Bill Mann and President A. W. Epp of the Lincoln Kiwanis Club accepted the trophy for the sweepstakes honor from Plambeck.

Local Business In Viet Aid Drive

Lincoln businessmen have joined a national drive to return to the people of Viet Nam some of the basic items they have lost as a result of the war, according to the Lincoln Promotion Council.

The council is made up of local businessmen. It is the second group in recent days to announce a drive aimed at alleviating those affected by the war.

The first group headed by Mrs. Maxine Peterson of Lincoln, under the auspices of the War Mother's organization, is collecting items which will be sent to Viet Nam for use by American soldiers.

Distribution By Soldiers

The Lincoln Promotion Council is backing a drive to collect tools, personal hygiene items, cleaning materials, school supplies, sewing items, fabric, child-sized clothing, food and medical supplies for distribution by soliders to war-ravaged Viet Nam civilians.

The first shipment of pens, razor blades, stationery and soap to be sent to U.S. soldiers by Mrs. Peterson will leave Lincoln Saturday morning and will be transported to the battle zone by the Air Force. A second collection is planned for January.

Items collected will be picked up by Lincoln Jaycees at individual stores Dec. 11 and 12. They will be stored and sent out on a special train due in Lincoln Dec. 14.

The special train will leave Philadelphia Dec. 7.

Lincoln merchants participating in the drive are asked to include information in their respective advertisements about where items for the "Gifts for Viet Nam Train" may be delivered.

UPI Services Radio

New York, N.Y. (UPI) — An agreement was reached here whereby United Press International will make available its full audio news services to the broadcast station clients of Radio Press International (RPI) effective Jan. 1.

School Fund Priority Given To Lincoln, Omaha, Alliance

State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller Friday reported he has given top priority to Omaha, Lincoln and Alliance public school applications for federal funds to establish supplementary educational services.

The Lincoln application, made on behalf of nearly 50 Nebraska school districts, asks for $328,450 to plan and develop extraordinary programs of educational value for telecast over the Statewide Educational Television Network.

The Omaha applications ask for a total of $340,220 to establish an instructional materials center and a remedial reading clinic for public and private schools in the metropolitan area.

Seeks $36,310 Grant

The Alliance application seeks a $36,310 grant to plan programs for the educational service unit created in the Panhandle by the last Legislature.'

Federal funds to develop supplementary educational centers and services are available under a section of the sweeping Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Six Nebraska districts—Lincoln, Omaha, Alliance, Grand Island, Ogallala and the Webster County schools — submitted requests totaling $948,851 in federal funds, although Nebraska was allocated only $698,615 for the current fiscal year.

Dr. Miller said his recommendations, based on a state committee's priority recommendations, were forwarded to federal officials, who will make the specific allocations.

Dr. Miller said he gave medium priority to Lincoln's $140,131 application to establish an inner and outer space instructional materials center for Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney, Hastings, Grand Island and Chadron schools.

Lower Prioritie

He said lower priorities were given to Grand Island's $33,647 application to expand its newly constructed planatarium and the request of Webster County schools for $38,534 to establish an instructional materials center at Red Cloud.

Applications from Omaha for $31,310 to permit Omaha's parochial schools to receive the benefits of ETV through membership in the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Television Council and from the Ogallala School District for $1,350 to plan for establishment of a resident training school for the mentally retarded were submitted without recommendations, Dr. Miller said.

He said the recommendations are expected to "key factors" in the allocating of funds.

Request For Bus Service To Get Hearing Jan. 10

The State Railway Commission Friday set public hearing for Jan. 10 on a request for bus service to a square-mile area from O to A, 70th to 84th.

The application for bus service was filed by Peterson Construction Co., developer of Wedgewood Manor, on behalf of itself and other residents.

The Lincoln City Lines Inc. has filed a protest against the application for extension of bus service.

Newsmen Invited To See Departure Of Last B47s

Col. James Moore, commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base, invited Nebraska newsmen to attend the departure of the last four B47 bombers from the base Tuesday.

He said a briefing session will be held at 11 a.m. in the Officers Club. A luncheon is set for 11:30 a.m. and the bombers will take off at 1:45 p.m.

The departure is scheduled almost 11 years to the day the Air Force reopened the Lincoln Air Base. The base is scheduled to be shut down next June.

Norton Tells Committee Power Needs Regulation

By DON WALTON
Star Staff Writer

Nebraska Power Review Board Chairman William Norton of Osceola told a legislative study committee Friday that the Unicameral will have to "face up" to the need for a regulatory power rate commission in the near future.

Public power in Nebraska, he said, is "a fiction....It is private power operating under the guise of public power."

Very few power agencies in the state are "operating for the good of the public,' Norton told the lawmakers.

Instead, he said, they are concerned with "the furtherance of their own districts. They are interested in protecting themselves."

Problem 'Administrative'

Norton said there is nothing wrong with Nebraska's public power system. The problem, he said, is administrative.

Enactment of a wholesale electric consolidation bill by the 1965 Legislature was "in the best interests of the State of Nebraska," Norton declared.

The measure, LB764, would consolidate the generation and transmission operations of Consumers Public Power District, Loup River Public Power District and Platte Valley Public Power and Irrigtion District.

Norton appeared before the committee along with Power Board member Ed Crowley of Kearney.

Earlier, the Nebraska Electric Generation and Transmission Cooperative informed the senators that its 23 rural district members can obtain all their power supply growth requirements through May 1971 in the form of low-cost energy from the U.S. Bureau of Reclamation.

Can't Transmit

But, G & T General Manager Dil Blatchford of Columbus said, the rural districts cannot transmit the energy to their customers because the Nebraska Public Power System refuses to wheel the purchased power over its grid system.

NPPS, he said, is "trying to force us to extend our contracts" with it to buy all future load growth from NPPS, rather than from outside sources.

Rurals have now reached the equity level of their present contracts with NPPS, meaning their demand has equaled total contractual commitments.

NPPS is assessing rural districts penalties for power which they receive above the equity level, Blatchford said, but rurals are refusing to pay them.

Three Efforts

G I T, he said, made three separate efforts to obtain additional power commitments before the equity level was reached, but NPPS ignored its requests.

The penalties against rural districts amounted to $49,000 in September alone, he noted.

Assessment of penalties, refusal to wheel outside purchases and "other harassments" are all intended to tie the rural districts to NPPS as "captive customers," Blatchford alleged.

The committee will continue its conferences with power districts in January, Sen. Harold Stryker of Rising City said.

Morrison To Approve Land For Recreation

By VIRGIL FALLOON
Star Staff Writer

Gov. Frank Morrison said Friday he will authorize the condemnation of 120 acres in Buffalo County for the Kearney State Recreation Area subject to his consulting with the attorney general on any legal problems.

In a hearing continued from last month, the State Game Commission requested the governor's permission to proceed with eminent domain as authorized under LB554 of the 1965 Legislature.

Owners of the property opposed the action, contending the acres to be taken are excessive to public need and urging that the commission could not legally attempt bona fide negotiations for purchase prior to a court-ordered partition sale set for Dec. 21.

Morrison discarded the "exclusive taking" charge, pointing out that the Legislature set public policy on what and how much land was needed for recreation by its enactment of LB554.

Delay Suggested

However, the governor suggested the Game Commission delay any eminent domain proceedings until after the partition sale.

"If the sale is used by the owners to drive up the land's price," he said, "the commission in its eminent domain action will have opportunity to present any evidence of collusion."

Duane Wolf, an attorney for one of the owners, suggested that bidding by the state at public auction would only determine the land's real worth.

Bidding Questioned

But Frank Foote, Game Commission employe, questioned whether the department could bid at public auction.

Commission spokesmen told Morrison the Kearney recreation area is under 80 acres and is insufficient for current recreation and camping needs and will become more acute when Interstate 80 is completed.

Lincoln Kiwanis Given Ag Award

By GLENN KREUSCHER
Farm Editor

Permanent possession of the Nebraska-Iowa District 12 Kiwanis Club agricultural and conservation sweepstake award was presented to the Lincoln Downtown Kiwanis Club Friday.

In a special farm-city program, district Governor Herb Plambeck of Des Moines, Iowa, termed the award "The top award presented to the 135 clubs in the Nebraska-Iowa division."

Plambeck noted that Lincoln is recognized as the "fountainhood of Kiwanis" and that Kiwanis emphasis on agriculture has been constant in Lincoln since the first club was formed here in September 1919.

Among the many citations mentioned by Plambeck that included programs which helped win the sweepstake award, he noted the following projects,

—Established livestock breeding projects.

—Published the annual Agricultural Conservation Handbook for Lancaster County.

—Carried out a golden anniversary tree planting project.

—Held a 45th annual 4-H club picnic for over 500 4-H youth.

—Distributed 550 copies of "You and the Law" to the state Future Farmers of American convention.

—Furnished five science lab sets to the Lancaster 4-H council.

—Provided a scholarship to a student to attend the Farm Short Course at the University of Nebraska.

Plambeck asked for a closer observation of future land use, noting that more than 4,000 acres a day of agircultural land is being taken for other uses.

Bill Mann and President A. W. Epp of the Lincoln Kiwanis Club accepted the trophy for the sweepstakes honor from Plambeck.

Local Business In Viet Aid Drive

Lincoln businessmen have joined a national drive to return to the people of Viet Nam some of the basic items they have lost as a result of the war, according to the Lincoln Promotion Council.

The council is made up of local businessmen. It is the second group in recent days to announce a drive aimed at alleviating those affected by the war.

The first group headed by Mrs. Maxine Peterson of Lincoln, under the auspices of the War Mother's organization, is collecting items which will be sent to Viet Nam for use by American soldiers.

Distribution By Soldiers

The Lincoln Promotion Council is backing a drive to collect tools, personal hygiene items, cleaning materials, school supplies, sewing items, fabric, child-sized clothing, food and medical supplies for distribution by soliders to war-ravaged Viet Nam civilians.

The first shipment of pens, razor blades, stationery and soap to be sent to U.S. soldiers by Mrs. Peterson will leave Lincoln Saturday morning and will be transported to the battle zone by the Air Force. A second collection is planned for January.

Items collected will be picked up by Lincoln Jaycees at individual stores Dec. 11 and 12. They will be stored and sent out on a special train due in Lincoln Dec. 14.

The special train will leave Philadelphia Dec. 7.

Lincoln merchants participating in the drive are asked to include information in their respective advertisements about where items for the "Gifts for Viet Nam Train" may be delivered.

New York, N.Y. (UPI) — An agreement was reached here whereby United Press International will make available its full audio news services to the broadcast station clients of Radio Press International (RPI) effective Jan. 1.

School Fund Priority Given To Lincoln, Omaha, Alliance

State Education Commissioner Floyd Miller Friday reported he has given top priority to Omaha, Lincoln and Alliance public school applications for federal funds to establish supplementary educational services.

The Lincoln application, made on behalf of nearly 50 Nebraska school districts, asks for $328,450 to plan and develop extraordinary programs of educational value for telecast over the Statewide Educational Television Network.

The Omaha applications ask for a total of $340,220 to establish an instructional materials center and a remedial reading clinic for public and private schools in the metropolitan area.

Seeks $36,310 Grant

The Alliance application seeks a $36,310 grant to plan programs for the educational service unit created in the Panhandle by the last Legislature.'

Federal funds to develop supplementary educational centers and services are available under a section of the sweeping Elementary and Secondary Education Act.

Six Nebraska districts—Lincoln, Omaha, Alliance, Grand Island, Ogallala and the Webster County schools — submitted requests totaling $948,851 in federal funds, although Nebraska was allocated only $698,615 for the current fiscal year.

Dr. Miller said his recommendations, based on a state committee's priority recommendations, were forwarded to federal officials, who will make the specific allocations.

Dr. Miller said he gave medium priority to Lincoln's $140,131 application to establish an inner and outer space instructional materials center for Lincoln, Omaha, Kearney, Hastings, Grand Island and Chadron schools.

Lower Prioritie

He said lower priorities were given to Grand Island's $33,647 application to expand its newly constructed planatarium and the request of Webster County schools for $38,534 to establish an instructional materials center at Red Cloud.

Applications from Omaha for $31,310 to permit Omaha's parochial schools to receive the benefits of ETV through membership in the Metropolitan Omaha Educational Television Council and from the Ogallala School District for $1,350 to plan for establishment of a resident training school for the mentally retarded were submitted without recommendations, Dr. Miller said.

He said the recommendations are expected to "key factors" in the allocating of funds.

Newsmen Invited To See Departure Of Last B47s

Col. James Moore, commander of the Lincoln Air Force Base, invited Nebraska newsmen to attend the departure of the last four B47 bombers from the base Tuesday.

He said a briefing session will be held at 11 a.m. in the Officers Club. A luncheon is set for 11:30 a.m. and the bombers will take off at 1:45 p.m.

The departure is scheduled almost 11 years to the day the Air Force reopened the Lincoln Air Base. The base is scheduled to be shut down next June.

Request For Bus Service To Get Hearing Jan. 10

The State Railway Commission Friday set public hearing for Jan. 10 on a request for bus service to a square-mile area from O to A, 70th to 84th.

The application for bus service was filed by Peterson Construction Co., developer of Wedgewood Manor, on behalf of itself and other residents.

The Lincoln City Lines Inc. has filed a protest against the application for extension of bus service.

Lull May Foretell Christmas Attack

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — A lengthening lull in the ground war raised speculation Friday night that communist troops are marking time, as they did last year, for a yuletide offensive.

"I expect there will be plenty of activity by Christmas," said one American officer, after 72 hours of relative quiet.

It was Christmas Eve 1964 that Viet Cong terrorists bombed the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers' billet in Saigon. They killed two Americans and wounded 107 persons.

On Signal

As if on signal, bloody fighting erupted in the Mekong Delta. Then came the battle of Binh Ghia, 40 miles east of Saigon. Guerrillas who fought like regulars killed, wounded or captured 400 or more Vietnamese troops and 11 Americans in the most savage encounter of the war up to that time.

On the other hand, the lull may be of no particular significance.

A U.S. Army spokesman remarked, "I think they're just taking a break — refitting, training new troops, resting —and getting large doses of propaganda from the commissars."

U.S. aircraft carried on both north and south of the border as American and South Vietnamese troops probed for the Viet Cong and their infiltrated North Vietnamese allies.

Marine Chopper

Communist snipers shot down a U.S. Marine helicopter carrying a crew of four Americans and nine Vietnamese troops 27 miles south of Da Nang, a strategic air center 380 miles northeast of Saigon. It burned and exploded after hitting the ground and all aboard were presumed killed.

The helicopter was one in a flight of nine on a Vietnamese army operation. The others escaped damage. There was no report of any contact with the enemy on the ground.

U.S. Marine patrols, spoiling for a fight, ran into sniper fire on eight occasions, but were unable to pin down the foe.

Briefing officers at the same time disclosed the loss of a Navy Skyraider in strikes against North Viet Nam Thursday. The propeller-driven fighter-bomber, from the carrier Bon Homme Richard, was hit by ground fire and crashed on a peak about 90 miles north of the border. The pilot was listed as missing.

15 Strikes

U.S. Navy and Air Force attack planes made 14 strikes in North Viet Nam, concentrating mainly on targets in the mountains southwest of Hanoi.

The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise launched 118 planes on her second day of combat. They dropped 102 tons of high explosives on suspected Viet Cong staging and supply areas. A spokesman said 60 structures were destroyed and 65 damaged.

B52 jet bombers from Guam hit three suspected Viet Cong targets in the night. Two were in Binh Dinh province northwest of Saigon, where human waves of Viet Cong destroyed the Vietnamese Army's 7th Infantry Regiment as an effective fighting force last Saturday. Concussion rattled windows in Saigon.

The third strike by the high-flying, eight-engine craft was against Chu Pong mountain in the Ia Drang valley. The mountain was a communist stronghold in a November battle between North Vietnamese regulars and detachments of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division.

Chinese Get Gold Dollars From Soviets

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —Communist China is forcing the Soviet Union to pay in American dollars and gold for transit duties and customs on Russian supplies sent to North Viet Nam, diplomatic sources said Friday night.

The non-Western diplomats said the Soviet Union has submitted to the charges even on medical supplies sent across mainland China to Ho Chi Minh's regime in Hanoi.

The Chinese Communists, the sources said, flatly refuse to accept Russian rubles in payment for the duties on supplies to their allies. With little demurring, the diplomats said, the Soviet Union has paid up.

Food Stamps Appear

Des Moines (UPI) — The federal food stamp program —which experts say someday could include more than 100,000 needy Iowans — has been officially launched in the state.

MARLENE HONORED BY ISRAEL

Actress Marlene Dietrich becomes the first woman to receive the Medallion of Valor of Israel as Israel Consul-General Avshalom Caspi places it around her neck in Los Angeles. She was honored for her refusal to return to Nazi Germany before World War II and her subsequent entertainment of American troops in Europe. She has made appearances in Israel.

Horse Kills 11-Year-Old Loup City Girl

Loup City (AP)—An 11-year-old Loup City farm girl, Jill Charlton, was fatally injured Thursday night when the horse she was riding became entangled in barbed wire and fell on her.

She never regained consciousness and died about 1½ hours after the accident while being transported to Lincoln.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Charlton, who live about eight miles northwest of Loup City.

Riding Bareback

Her grandfather, Dr. C. G. Amick of Loup City, said Jill was riding bareback and as she turned into the lane which leads to the farm home, the horse made a sudden turn, lunged against a barbed wire gate which normally is open and flipped the girl over its head. The horse also tumbled over the gate and fell on the girl.

Funeral services will be in the Loup City Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Monday. Jill is survived by her parents, three sisters and a brother.

Jury Gets Peek At Nudist Books During Trial

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — The jury in the obscenity trial of Milton Luros, Los Angeles publisher, will spend next week reading magazines and books which the government charges were illegally shipped into Iowa.

Federal Judge William C. Hanson instructed the 10 women and two men jurors on the legal definition of obscenity and then turned over to them 15 copies of nudist publications, 11 "girlie" magazines and six paperback books.

Nine of the women on the jury are housewives and the two men are farmers.

They were told that each must examine every one of the 26 exhibits introduced by the government. Trial lawyers estimated that this will take all of next week and perhaps longer.

21 Million Tourists

Rome (AP)—The government reports a record 21 million tourists came to Italy in the first nine months this year, or six per cent more than in the whole of 1964. This year's left $1.024 billion.

21 Sign Asian Bank Charter

Manila (AP) — Representatives of 21 nations Friday signed the charter for a billion-dollar Asian Development Bank.

In high spirits, a galaxy of bankers, economists and diplomats from Asia, the United States and Europe put their signatures to a 66-point charter aimed at giving Asians a major weapon in fighting economic sluggishness.

The signing took place in Juan Luna Hall of the Philippine foreign office—a room that in prewar days was the library of the University of the Philippines.

Black For U.S.

The signatories included such dignitaries as Eugene Black, former head of the World Bank and now President Johnson's advisor on Asian economic affairs. Black led a delegation of two senators and 14 congressmen to emphasize United States interest in the bank.

The United States and Japan, each of which has pledged $200 million, are the largest contributors to the fund behind the Asian bank.

"This will result in more changes in the face of Asia than anything we have done since the war," exulted one Malaysian aide at the signing ceremony.

15 Must Ratify

The bank will come into being when 15 nations—at least 10 of which must be Asian—have ratified the charter. This goal is expected to be reached by mid-1966.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant has been designated as the trustee to hold the bank's money until it can organize itself after the ratification formalities are far enough along.

As a sign of confidence the Philippine government moved speedily to begin construction of the $5 million building that it promised when it was awarded the headquarters of the bank.

The cornerstone of the building was laid Friday afternoon.

Los Angeles (AP) — Mrs. Rena Frye, who figured in an incident believed to have triggered last August's Negro riots, was fined $250, placed on two years' probation and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence.

Mrs. Frye, 49, was convicted last month of interfering with California Highway Patrol officers who were arresting one of her two sons for alleged drunken driving.

Municipal Judge George M. Dell ordered her to pay the fine through the probation office at $10 a month.

45 Paintings Sell For $635,489

London (AP) — Forty-five impressionist paintings brought the equivalent of $635,489 in an auction at Christies which lasted only an hour. The sellers were Mr. and Mrs. John Boulton of Caracas, Venezuela.

Boulton's father, the original purchaser of the paintings between 1922 and 1930 in Paris, kept records on what he paid for 32 of them — $10,609. Those 32 brought $381,200 at the auction.

Army Rules Draftees Won't Leave Over Christmas

Washington (AP)—The Army ruled Friday that draftees will not be shipped from induction stations to Army reception centers between Dec. 22 and Dec. 27.

The Army said action was taken to buttress a policy which will spare young men from induction in the two days before Christmas. It came in the wake of an angry protest from a Denver mother whose son was scheduled for induction Dec. 23 but there was no Pentagon acknowledgment of any connection.

However, in announcing the action at the headquarters of the Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., an Army spokesman conceded that the order was "more or less" in response to the complaints of Mrs. Norma Riedel of Denver.

CONARC, which has charge of acquiring men and training them, sent out an all-points message saying:

"In keeping with the Department of the Army policy concerning travel of inductees during the Christmas period . . . inductees will not be shipped from armed forces examining and entrance stations to Army reception centers after Dec. 22."

The shipment of inductees to the reception centers will be resumed on Dec. 27, the Army said.

Last year, when the draft was taking only about 7,800 men in December compared to this month's 40,000, the Army put into effect a two-week suspension of inductions and shipment of new trainees over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Such a long break was not considered feasible this year when the inductions are running so much heavier because of the buildup of forces in South Viet Nam.

Patrol Buying Both Fords, Plymouths

The State Motor Vehicles Specifications Committee Friday decided to split the contract for the Safety Patrol's cars between Ford and Plymouth.

State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells said both cars performed equally well during a month of testing and the purchase of about 170 cars will be split.

Wells said two apparent low bids opened last month on a requirements contract were Howard Gotfredson Motor Co. of Lincoln at $1,847 per Plymouth and Charles Gabus Ford of Holdrege at $1,884 per Ford.

Reliability and service availability were considered in the testing, Wells said. Cost of operation was not a test factor.

He said the purchase of 1966 cars for the Safety Patrol would begin immediately.

Lull May Foretell Christmas Attack

Saigon, Viet Nam (AP) — A lengthening lull in the ground war raised speculation Friday night that communist troops are marking time, as they did last year, for a yuletide offensive.

"I expect there will be plenty of activity by Christmas," said one American officer, after 72 hours of relative quiet.

It was Christmas Eve 1964 that Viet Cong terrorists bombed the Brink Hotel, a U.S. officers' billet in Saigon. They killed two Americans and wounded 107 persons.

On Signal

As if on signal, bloody fighting erupted in the Mekong Delta. Then came the battle of Binh Ghia, 40 miles east of Saigon. Guerrillas who fought like regulars killed, wounded or captured 400 or more Vietnamese troops and 11 Americans in the most savage encounter of the war up to that time.

On the other hand, the lull may be of no particular significance.

A U.S. Army spokesman remarked, "I think they're just taking a break — refitting, training new troops, resting —and getting large doses of propaganda from the commissars."

U.S. aircraft carried on both north and south of the border as American and South Vietnamese troops probed for the Viet Cong and their infiltrated North Vietnamese allies.

Marine Chopper

Communist snipers shot down a U.S. Marine helicopter carrying a crew of four Americans and nine Vietnamese troops 27 miles south of Da Nang, a strategic air center 380 miles northeast of Saigon. It burned and exploded after hitting the ground and all aboard were presumed killed.

The helicopter was one in a flight of nine on a Vietnamese army operation. The others escaped damage. There was no report of any contact with the enemy on the ground.

U.S. Marine patrols, spoiling for a fight, ran into sniper fire on eight occasions, but were unable to pin down the foe.

Briefing officers at the same time disclosed the loss of a Navy Skyraider in strikes against North Viet Nam Thursday. The propeller-driven fighter-bomber, from the carrier Bon Homme Richard, was hit by ground fire and crashed on a peak about 90 miles north of the border. The pilot was listed as missing.

15 Strikes

U.S. Navy and Air Force attack planes made 14 strikes in North Viet Nam, concentrating mainly on targets in the mountains southwest of Hanoi.

The nuclear-powered aircraft carrier Enterprise launched 118 planes on her second day of combat. They dropped 102 tons of high explosives on suspected Viet Cong staging and supply areas. A spokesman said 60 structures were destroyed and 65 damaged.

B52 jet bombers from Guam hit three suspected Viet Cong targets in the night. Two were in Binh Dinh province northwest of Saigon, where human waves of Viet Cong destroyed the Vietnamese Army's 7th Infantry Regiment as an effective fighting force last Saturday. Concussion rattled windows in Saigon.

The third strike by the high-flying, eight-engine craft was against Chu Pong mountain in the Ia Drang valley. The mountain was a communist stronghold in a November battle between North Vietnamese regulars and detachments of the U.S. 1st Air Cavalry Division.

Chinese Get Gold Dollars From Soviets

United Nations, N.Y. (UPI) —Communist China is forcing the Soviet Union to pay in American dollars and gold for transit duties and customs on Russian supplies sent to North Viet Nam, diplomatic sources said Friday night.

The non-Western diplomats said the Soviet Union has submitted to the charges even on medical supplies sent across mainland China to Ho Chi Minh's regime in Hanoi.

The Chinese Communists, the sources said, flatly refuse to accept Russian rubles in payment for the duties on supplies to their allies. With little demurring, the diplomats said, the Soviet Union has paid up.

Food Stamps Appear

Des Moines (UPI) — The federal food stamp program —which experts say someday could include more than 100,000 needy Iowans — has been officially launched in the state.

She was honored for her refusal to return to Nazi Germany before World War II and her subsequent entertainment of American troops in Europe. She has made appearances in Israel.

Horse Kills 11-Year-Old Loup City Girl

Loup City (AP)—An 11-year-old Loup City farm girl, Jill Charlton, was fatally injured Thursday night when the horse she was riding became entangled in barbed wire and fell on her.

She never regained consciousness and died about 1½ hours after the accident while being transported to Lincoln.

The girl was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jack Charlton, who live about eight miles northwest of Loup City.

Riding Bareback

Her grandfather, Dr. C. G. Amick of Loup City, said Jill was riding bareback and as she turned into the lane which leads to the farm home, the horse made a sudden turn, lunged against a barbed wire gate which normally is open and flipped the girl over its head. The horse also tumbled over the gate and fell on the girl.

Funeral services will be in the Loup City Presbyterian Church at 2 p.m. Monday. Jill is survived by her parents, three sisters and a brother.

Jury Gets Peek At Nudist Books During Trial

Sioux City, Iowa (AP) — The jury in the obscenity trial of Milton Luros, Los Angeles publisher, will spend next week reading magazines and books which the government charges were illegally shipped into Iowa.

Federal Judge William C. Hanson instructed the 10 women and two men jurors on the legal definition of obscenity and then turned over to them 15 copies of nudist publications, 11 "girlie" magazines and six paperback books.

Nine of the women on the jury are housewives and the two men are farmers.

They were told that each must examine every one of the 26 exhibits introduced by the government. Trial lawyers estimated that this will take all of next week and perhaps longer.

21 Million Tourists

Rome (AP)—The government reports a record 21 million tourists came to Italy in the first nine months this year, or six per cent more than in the whole of 1964. This year's left $1.024 billion.

21 Sign Asian Bank Charter

Manila (AP) — Representatives of 21 nations Friday signed the charter for a billion-dollar Asian Development Bank.

In high spirits, a galaxy of bankers, economists and diplomats from Asia, the United States and Europe put their signatures to a 66-point charter aimed at giving Asians a major weapon in fighting economic sluggishness.

The signing took place in Juan Luna Hall of the Philippine foreign office—a room that in prewar days was the library of the University of the Philippines.

Black For U.S.

The signatories included such dignitaries as Eugene Black, former head of the World Bank and now President Johnson's advisor on Asian economic affairs. Black led a delegation of two senators and 14 congressmen to emphasize United States interest in the bank.

The United States and Japan, each of which has pledged $200 million, are the largest contributors to the fund behind the Asian bank.

"This will result in more changes in the face of Asia than anything we have done since the war," exulted one Malaysian aide at the signing ceremony.

15 Must Ratify

The bank will come into being when 15 nations—at least 10 of which must be Asian—have ratified the charter. This goal is expected to be reached by mid-1966.

U.N. Secretary General U Thant has been designated as the trustee to hold the bank's money until it can organize itself after the ratification formalities are far enough along.

As a sign of confidence the Philippine government moved speedily to begin construction of the $5 million building that it promised when it was awarded the headquarters of the bank.

The cornerstone of the building was laid Friday afternoon.

Los Angeles (AP) — Mrs. Rena Frye, who figured in an incident believed to have triggered last August's Negro riots, was fined $250, placed on two years' probation and given a suspended 30-day jail sentence.

Mrs. Frye, 49, was convicted last month of interfering with California Highway Patrol officers who were arresting one of her two sons for alleged drunken driving.

Municipal Judge George M. Dell ordered her to pay the fine through the probation office at $10 a month.

45 Paintings Sell For $635,489

London (AP) — Forty-five impressionist paintings brought the equivalent of $635,489 in an auction at Christies which lasted only an hour. The sellers were Mr. and Mrs. John Boulton of Caracas, Venezuela.

Boulton's father, the original purchaser of the paintings between 1922 and 1930 in Paris, kept records on what he paid for 32 of them — $10,609. Those 32 brought $381,200 at the auction.

Army Rules Draftees Won't Leave Over Christmas

Washington (AP)—The Army ruled Friday that draftees will not be shipped from induction stations to Army reception centers between Dec. 22 and Dec. 27.

The Army said action was taken to buttress a policy which will spare young men from induction in the two days before Christmas. It came in the wake of an angry protest from a Denver mother whose son was scheduled for induction Dec. 23 but there was no Pentagon acknowledgment of any connection.

However, in announcing the action at the headquarters of the Continental Army Command at Ft. Monroe, Va., an Army spokesman conceded that the order was "more or less" in response to the complaints of Mrs. Norma Riedel of Denver.

CONARC, which has charge of acquiring men and training them, sent out an all-points message saying:

"In keeping with the Department of the Army policy concerning travel of inductees during the Christmas period . . . inductees will not be shipped from armed forces examining and entrance stations to Army reception centers after Dec. 22."

The shipment of inductees to the reception centers will be resumed on Dec. 27, the Army said.

Last year, when the draft was taking only about 7,800 men in December compared to this month's 40,000, the Army put into effect a two-week suspension of inductions and shipment of new trainees over the Christmas and New Year holidays.

Such a long break was not considered feasible this year when the inductions are running so much heavier because of the buildup of forces in South Viet Nam.

Patrol Buying Both Fords, Plymouths

The State Motor Vehicles Specifications Committee Friday decided to split the contract for the Safety Patrol's cars between Ford and Plymouth.

State Purchasing Agent Willard Wells said both cars performed equally well during a month of testing and the purchase of about 170 cars will be split.

Wells said two apparent low bids opened last month on a requirements contract were Howard Gotfredson Motor Co. of Lincoln at $1,847 per Plymouth and Charles Gabus Ford of Holdrege at $1,884 per Ford.

Reliability and service availability were considered in the testing, Wells said. Cost of operation was not a test factor.

He said the purchase of 1966 cars for the Safety Patrol would begin immediately.

Art Thief Nabbed

Milan, Italy (AP)—A 19th century painting by Gerolamo Induno of an episode in the Italian wars of independence was recovered, thanks to a sharp-eyed bookseller, the day after it was stolen from the modern art gallery in downtown Milan. "You're the thief!" shouted the bookman as the man who tried to sell it fled. The canvas is valued at $1,600-3,200.

Grain Market Closes Mixed

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market closed with a mixture of small gains and losses Friday after having been generally weak most of the time in rather dull trading.

Setbacks had been in the range of a cent or more in the major grains until a spurt of buying hit the pits during the final 10 minutes or so of transactions.

Brokers said the flurry appeared to have been speculative short covering, perhaps partly toward buying back sales made during the period of earlier weakness.

At the close, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.63; corn ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, December $1.21⅛-21; oats ⅛-⅝ higher, December 71¼ cents; rye ¼-⅞ lower, December $1.20⅝; soybeans ¼-1 cent lower, January $2.62¾-63

Motors Up In Mixed Stock Mart

New York (AP)—Strength in autos and in a scattering of key stocks enabled the stock market to post a gain on average Friday, but more stocks declined than advanced in the over-all market.

The general pattern was the same that has prevailed all week—a confused one permeated by earlier-than-usual year-end transactions such as tax-loss selling, switching, profit ʻing and reinvestment.

News that November new-car sales were far above previous records for the month gave ample justification for the advance of auto stocks, but they responded to the news without any great excitement.

Volume was 8.16 million shares compared with 9.07 milion Thursday and 10.15 million Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.51 to 946.10, a moderate gain. The rail component of the Dow averages nudged to another record high.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock rose .6 to 353.3 with industrials up .5, rails up .5 to a high for the year and utilities up .7.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .06 to 91.27.

Of 1,415 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 599 to 554. New highs for the year totaled 81 and new lows 38.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks rose and five fell, with American Motors unchanged.

Electric & Musical Industries was the most active stock for the second straight day, easing ⅛ to 5 on 259,900 shares.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.86 million shares compared with 4.52 million Thursday.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were irregularly lower.

Meat Import Law Labels Contested; Finigan Watches

State Agriculture Director Pearle F. Finigan said Friday he's watching closely challenges of foreign meat import labeling laws in Iowa and Oregon.

He said any court rulings might have ramifications in Nebraska since the Cornhusker State has a similar statute.

The 1965 Legislature enacted a law requiring foreign-origin meats sold in the state to carry a label giving the date of packaging and where it was shippped from.

The Nebraska law took effect Nov. 18. It applies to restaurants as well as grocery stores.

De Gaulle, 5 Rivals Make Final Pitches

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and his five rivals in Sunday's presidential election Friday night officially closed their campaigns with radio-television appeals for support.

De Gaulle, running for a popularly-elected office for the first time in his 75 years, unbent enough to ask for a "demonstration of confidence."

"Frenchwomen! Frenchmen! Once more, before each of you, I have assumed my responsibility," he told the voters. "Sunday, you will take yours."

Rare Note

The president prefaced this with what for him was a rare note of request:

"Frenchwomen, Frenchmen, in asking each of you for a demonstration of your confidence, I offer you the decisive means to confirm the new (Fifth) Republic."

He said that with such a confirmation, the "team of action and success" and the masses of the people will continue "the magnificent effort which we have begun. I am certain that, after me, the new republic will endure, alive and fertile, because the sovereign people will have marked it as its own, and that men worthy of it, throughout the years to come, will be chosen to fulfill its destinies."

Much of this was a reply to political points being made by De Gaulle's youngest competitors, Francois Mitterrand and Jean Lecanuet.

Mitterrand, 49, member of a small semisocialist splinter party, is running with the endorsement of the Socialist and Communist Parties as the candidate of the "united left" or popular front.

'French Kennedy'

Lecanuet, 45, whose followers have sought to give him a "French Kennedy" image, is a member of the leftist Catholic Popular Republican Movement, and had been running as a center-left candidate.

By chance—the places were drawn by lot—De Gaulle's turn on the radio-television program came just before Lecanuet closed the series as the final speaker.

Lecanuet called upon Frenchmen to join him in forging ahead to "new horizons." He again stressed his plea for France to take the lead in forming a united Europe. As before, he touched on the problem of what happens after De Gaulle.

Mitterrand also emphasized European union and called for France to remain faithful to its alliances—a reference to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"What," he asked, "are we to do with France, a small nation choked between the two great powers, with casual friends whom we change according to the humor of the day while there is so much we could do with the genius of our people in the new (European) communities?"

The other candidates, Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, Marcel Barbu and Pierre Marcilhacy, also spoke on the radio-television program.

Actor Henry Fonda, 60, and ex-airline hostess Shirlee Adams, 33, were married in Mineola, N. Y., Friday. Fonda is currently starring in the Broadway comedy "Generation." A performance was scheduled Friday night, two Saturday. Fonda's previous wives were actress Margaret Sullavan, the late Frances Seymour Brokaw, Susan Blanchard and Afdera Franchetti.

Reds Launch Fourth Try At Soft Landing

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union launched Friday its fourth attempt this year to land an instrument package softly on the moon and take a major stride ahead of the United States in the race to put a man there.

If all goes well, the first soft lunar landing in history should take place around midnight Moscow time (3 p.m. CST) Monday, when American astronauts are scheduled to be orbiting the earth in the Gemini 7 capsule.

The unmanned Soviet space station, Luna 8, loaded with scientific equipment, weighed slightly more than earlier Soviet moon probes this year, 3,421.5 pounds.

The difference in weight could be due to refinements in the soft landing system following three unsuccessful tests earlier this year. Luna 5 and Luna 7 crashed on the moon. Luna 6 missed the moon by 100,000 miles.

A soft landing is considered a key stepping stone to a manned landing on the moon. In addition to testing the safety of equipment for a manned moon probe, a satellite which lands undamaged could radio back to earth closeup photographs of the moon's surface. Such pictures could provide important data for a manned flight.

It has been estimated that a soft landing on the moon would put the Russians six months ahead of the United States in the race to land a man on the moon.

Missouri Man Pleads Guilty In Firth Case

Donald Richard Leeman, 31, Kansas City, Mo., pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here Friday to burglary charges in connection with an April 30 break-in at the Firth Post Office.

Judge Robert E. Van Pelt deferred sentencing pending an investigation.

Originally Leeman had pleaded innocent to the charges.

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — The Oakland Naval Hospital has two new nurses who don't draw the usual wisecracks and wolf whistles from patients.

Grain Market Closes Mixed

Chicago (AP)—The grain futures market closed with a mixture of small gains and losses Friday after having been generally weak most of the time in rather dull trading.

Setbacks had been in the range of a cent or more in the major grains until a spurt of buying hit the pits during the final 10 minutes or so of transactions.

Brokers said the flurry appeared to have been speculative short covering, perhaps partly toward buying back sales made during the period of earlier weakness.

At the close, wheat was ¼ cent a bushel lower to ⅜ higher, December $1.63; corn ⅛ lower to ¾ higher, December $1.21⅛-21; oats ⅛-⅝ higher, December 71¼ cents; rye ¼-⅜ lower, December $1.20⅝; soybeans ¼-1 cent lower, January $2.62¾-63.

Motors Up In Mixed Stock Mart

New York (AP)—Strength in autos and in a scattering of key stocks enabled the stock market to post a gain on average Friday, but more stocks declined than advanced in the over-all market.

The general pattern was the same that has prevailed all week—a confused one permeated by earlier-than-usual year-end transactions such as tax-loss selling, switching, profit [illegible]ing and reinvestment.

News that November new-car sales were far above previous records for the month gave ample justification for the advance of auto stocks, but they responded to the news without any great excitement.

Volume was 8.16 million shares compared with 9.07 milion Thursday and 10.15 million Wednesday.

The Dow Jones industrial average rose 1.51 to 946.10, a moderate gain. The rail component of the Dow averages nudged to another record high.

The Associated Press average of 60 stock rose .6 to 353.3 with industrials up .5, rails up .5 to a high for the year and utilities up .7.

Standard & Poor's 500-stock index rose .06 to 91.27.

Of 1,415 issues traded, losers outnumbered gainers by 599 to 554. New highs for the year totaled 81 and new lows 38.

Nine of the 15 most active stocks rose and five fell, with American Motors unchanged.

Electric & Musical Industries was the most active stock for the second straight day, easing ⅛ to 5 on 259,900 shares.

Prices were irregularly higher on the American Stock Exchange. Volume was 3.86 million shares compared with 4.52 million Thursday.

Corporate and U.S. Treasury bonds were irregularly lower.

Meat Import Law Labels Contested; Finigan Watches

State Agriculture Director Pearle F. Finigan said Friday he's watching closely challenges of foreign meat import labeling laws in Iowa and Oregon.

He said any court rulings might have ramifications in Nebraska since the Cornhusker State has a similar statute.

The 1965 Legislature enacted a law requiring foreign-origin meats sold in the state to carry a label giving the date of packaging and where it was shippped from.

The Nebraska law took effect Nov. 18. It applies to restaurants as well as grocery stores.

De Gaulle, 5 Rivals Make Final Pitches

Paris (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle and his five rivals in Sunday's presidential election Friday night officially closed their campaigns with radio-television appeals for support.

De Gaulle, running for a popularly-elected office for the first time in his 75 years, unbent enough to ask for a "demonstration of confidence."

"Frenchwomen! Frenchmen! Once more, before each of you, I have assumed my responsibility," he told the voters. "Sunday, you will take yours."

Rare Note

The president prefaced this with what for him was a rare note of request:

"Frenchwomen, Frenchmen, in asking each of you for a demonstration of your confidence, I offer you the decisive means to confirm the new (Fifth) Republic."

He said that with such a confirmation, the "team of action and success" and the masses of the people will continue "the magnificent effort which we have begun. I am certain that, after me, the new republic will endure, alive and fertile, because the sovereign people will have marked it as its own, and that men worthy of it, throughout the years to come, will be chosen to fulfill its destinies."

Much of this was a reply to political points being made by De Gaulle's youngest competitors, Francois Mitterrand and Jean Lecanuet.

Mitterrand, 49, member of a small semisocialist splinter party, is running with the endorsement of the Socialist and Communist Parties as the candidate of the "united left" or popular front.

'French Kennedy'

Lecanuet, 45, whose followers have sought to give him a "French Kennedy" image, is a member of the leftist Catholic Popular Republican Movement, and had been running as a center-left candidate.

By chance—the places were drawn by lot—De Gaulle's turn on the radio-television program came just before Lecanuet closed the series as the final speaker.

Lecanuet called upon Frenchmen to join him in forging ahead to "new horizons." He again stressed his plea for France to take the lead in forming a united Europe. As before, he touched on the problem of what happens after De Gaulle.

Mitterrand also emphasized European union and called for France to remain faithful to its alliances—a reference to the North Atlantic Treaty Organization.

"What," he asked, "are we to do with France, a small nation choked between the two great powers, with casual friends whom we change according to the humor of the day while there is so much we could do with the genius of our people in the new (European) communities?"

The other candidates, Jean-Louis Tixier-Vignancour, Marcel Barbu and Pierre Marcilhacy, also spoke on the radio-television program.

FONDA'S FIFTH WIFE

Reds Launch Fourth Try At Soft Landing

Moscow (AP)—The Soviet Union launched Friday its fourth attempt this year to land an instrument package softly on the moon and take a major stride ahead of the United States in the race to put a man there.

If all goes well, the first soft lunar landing in history should take place around midnight Moscow time (3 p.m. CST) Monday, when American astronauts are scheduled to be orbiting the earth in the Gemini 7 capsule.

The unmanned Soviet space station, Luna 8, loaded with scientific equipment, weighed slightly more than earlier Soviet moon probes this year, 3,421.5 pounds.

The difference in weight could be due to refinements in the soft landing system following three unsuccessful tests earlier this year. Luna 5 and Luna 7 crashed on the moon. Luna 6 missed the moon by 100,000 miles.

A soft landing is considered a key stepping stone to a manned landing on the moon. In addition to testing the safety of equipment for a manned moon probe, a satellite which lands undamaged could radio back to earth closeup photographs of the moon's surface. Such pictures could provide important data for a manned flight.

It has been estimated that a soft landing on the moon would put the Russians six months ahead of the United States in the race to land a man on the moon.

Missouri Man Pleads Guilty In Firth Case

Donald Richard Leeman, 31, Kansas City, Mo., pleaded guilty in Federal District Court here Friday to burglary charges in connection with an April 30 break-in at the Firth Post Office.

Judge Robert E. Van Pelt deferred sentencing pending an investigation.

Originally Leeman had pleaded innocent to the charges.

New Nurses Not Pleasing Sailors In Navy Hospital

Oakland, Calif. (AP) — The Oakland Naval Hospital has two new nurses who don't draw the usual wisecracks and wolf whistles from patients.

One is an ex-fullback who says, "I've got a good left hook." The other is a 200-pound former basketball center.

Experts Seeking Blackout Answer

El Paso, Tex., (AP)—Power technicians worked Friday to learn what went wrong with natural gas regulator that triggered an electrical blackout in the El Paso and southern New Mexico area.

At the same time area power officials worked harder on a study designed to eliminate such blackouts, started after the Nov. 9 Northeast United States blackout.

Nearly one million persons were affected by Thursday night's power failure. While military bases and others with auxiliary power were affected only briefly, some areas were without electricity for about two hours.

El Paso Electric Co. spokesmen said the blackout was the result of a malfunction in equipment which regulates the flow of natural gas to burners under their Newman, Tex., plant boilers. The boilers heat water for steam to turn the plant turbines.

The loss of heat resulted in a shutdown at the Newman Plant which was producing about 186,000 kilowatts of power at the time, a statement from the company said. The company's other plant was producing 139,000 kilowatts of power.

When the larger plant failed, the smaller system was unable to pick up the power up to meet the estimated area demand of about 175,000 kilowatts.

The resulting surge through interconnecting lines knocked out or affected systems of other producers.

New Mexico Public Service Commission Chairman Joe Bursey said the commission still was receiving data from the Northeast power failure, for its own preventive study, when the El Paso system failed.

"It was only a couple of years ago that we were told something like the Northeast power failure couldn't happen—even if an atomic bomb fell in the area." Bursey said

TWO SNUB LEGION

Experts Seeking Blackout Answer

El Paso, Tex., (AP)—Power technicians worked Friday to learn what went wrong with natural gas regulator that triggered an electrical blackout in the El Paso and southern New Mexico area.

At the same time area power officials worked harder on a study designed to eliminate such blackouts, started after the Nov. 9 Northeast United States blackout.

Nearly one million persons were affected by Thursday night's power failure. While military bases and others with auxiliary power were affected only briefly, some areas were without electricity for about two hours.

El Paso Electric Co. spokesmen said the blackout was the result of a malfunction in equipment which regulates the flow of natural gas to burners under their Newman, Tex., plant boilers. The boilers heat water for steam to turn the plant turbines.

The loss of heat resulted in a shutdown at the Newman Plant which was producing about 186,000 kilowatts of power at the time, a statement from the company said. The company's other plant was producing 139,000 kilowatts of power.

When the larger plant failed, the smalier system was unable to pick up the power up to meet the estimated area demand of about 175,000 kilowatts.

The resulting surge through interconnecting lines knocked out or affected systems of other producers.

New Mexico Public Service Commission Chairman Joe Bursey said the commission still was receiving data from the Northeast power failure, for its own preventive study, when the El Paso system failed.

"It was only a couple of years ago that we were told something like the Northeast power failure couldn't happen—even if an atomic bomb fell in the area," Bursey said

TWO SNUB LEGION

Rabbi Rolland B. Gittlesohn, former national chaplain of the Jewish War Veterans, left, said Friday the action of Boston's Crosscup-Pishon Post of the American Legion in denying him a good government award—because he took part in a Washington demonstration against the Viet Nam war—is a "rejection of true Americanism" by the Legion. The award was also scheduled to go Jan. 26 to the Rt. Rev. Anson Phelps Stokes Jr., Episcopal bishop of Massachusetts, and Richard Cardinal Cushing, Roman Catholic archbishop of Boston. Bishop Stokes, right, declined the award after the post's action became known, but Cardinal Cushing said he will accept the honor.
